JUST GOSSIP ABOUT PEOPLE

Snow and High Boots Take Some of Us Back a Tenth of a Century—Nancy Wynne Tells a Tale of Two Pups

DID any one suggest that any one did any kind of entertaining yesterday? Did any one do anything but hug fires and gaze out at a perfectly disguised city in the throes of what promised to be a regular blizzard, such as that of 1888, of which one hears every time a blizzard is referred to? Well, they did go out in spite of it all, for I saw them, and lo and behold you! I happened to be passing down a numbered street and as I crossed one of the wider side streets, whereon there are no cars, I spied the sight of my life. A man and a maid dressed just as they used to about ten years ago, but not as one would expect to see them, with ten years added to their stature and a few more yards of cloth in their apparel. Well, but the dressing of ten years ago was not all that caught this child's eye. Oh, no! for the delicious part of it all was that little brother, poor lamb, was home in bed with a grippy cough, and so sister and her fiance, who, though not in military attire, is working for the Government and was here in Philadelphia for awhile, had borrowed little brother's very best sled and were gayly pulling each other up and down ——— street, to the edification of the stray passersby.

QUITE a few went to the theatres in the afternoon, as there were several special matinees. And it was a day when the men couldn't even get shaved, you know, poor things, but had to go round quite bristly as to face and feelings, unless they had a valet or a bit of sandpaper. Oh! it's a great life, if you don't weaken!

YOU see they are two lovely pups. In fact, their mistress declares that they are brothers, but not twins, though they saw the light the same day. One looks at present muchly as if he were going to be a fox terrier and t'other looks like a nice little chow. Time alone will tell. However, they are very polite pups and shake hands with you on all occasions. Well, their owner speaks only a certain language to these lambs. "Did him come to she" and such like. Well, said owner had what in old-fashioned terms might be called a future owner herself, in the way of a fiance, and fiance was very sarcastic on the subject of the way in which these small pups were addressed by their fond mistress, and he openly scoffed at her. Alas, had he only looked ahead. But how was he to know that in the very next week he, while visiting at the house, would be attacked with tonsillitis and be obliged to remain there until pronounced able to return to business by his physician?

As time went on he grew better and felt that diversion in the way of a conversation with the pups would be of interest to him. So he, hearing the wee pets' paws patting along the hall, raised his sore-throated manly voice and called loudly to them. They stopped, but did not enter, though he entreated loud and long. Then, suddenly clearing his voice to a high pitch, the scoffer murmured "Come to she," and with that Mr. Chow pushed the door open with his nose, and he and brother bounded into the room. How are the mighty fallen!

EVERY day one hears more of Red Cross work. Don't forget Mrs. Wellington Shannon's talk this afternoon at the Independence Square Auxiliary, 608 Chestnut street. And, speaking of Red Cross, the auxiliary which is attached to Holy Trinity Memorial Chapel, and of which Mrs. Clarence Wynne is chairman, is planning a large conference on Red Cross matters to be held on February 8 at the Sunday school building of the chapel. Doctor Tomkins will preside and introduce the speakers, who will be Dr. Elise Rose and Dr. Charles Hart.

Doctor Rose will tell of her actual experiences in Germany at the beginning of the war and of her narrow escape from there almost at the loss of her life. She will also tell of the horrible instances and suffering of the French, to which she was witness—things which, even though hardened as a physician, were revolting to her.

Doctor Hart, who now is working under the Government and is so very busy, has kindly consented to sacrifice the evening from his duties to explain the work the auxiliary is doing.

The conference will be open to all and every one is urged to attend, as the object is to promote more enthusiasm and patriotism among the women of Philadelphia.

Another interesting feature of the auxiliary is its work on Thursday from 1 p. m. to 10 p. m. A supper is served right there, which enables business girls to attend, and in this way a great deal of work is accomplished.

ANOTHER BRANCH OF AUXILIARY NO. 7

Girls' Friendly Society of St. Luke's Church, Germantown, Makes All Kinds of Dressings

The St. Luke's branch of Girls' Friendly, of which Miss Elizabeth Brown is head, composes a very earnest and hard-working group of Red Cross workers belonging to auxiliary No. 7. They meet every Monday evening in St. Luke's parish house, under the direction of Miss Harriet Gay, who instructs them in the making of all kinds of surgical dressings. They average twenty to twenty-five workers each meeting and have turned out 2411 dressings since last summer.

When there is a special drive for hospital garments, etc., they help out by sewing these articles, but as a general thing confine their endeavors to the making of surgical dressings. The girls are also instructed in the knitting of sweaters, socks and other articles, and while there is no organized knitting class, a great deal of Red Cross knitting is done. It shows a patriotic spirit for these girls who are busy all day to give up an evening every week to serve their country in this way, and ought to be a lesson to some of us who have more time to give, yet do not take advantage of our opportunities.

Miss Katharine W. Levick, of the Delmar-Morris, is visiting in Washington for a few days, after which she will go to Old Point Comfort, where she will remain for about two weeks.

JUNIOR PROM CUT FROM 4 DAYS TO ONE

Yale University Announces Change in Usual Plans for Entertainment on Account of War

The junior "proms" of the various colleges are always largely attended by Philadelphians, and as the time approaches for the invitations to be issued there are sure to be questions as to whether the undergraduates will follow their usual custom in these wartimes. Announcement has been made in New Haven that the Yale junior promenade will be held on Tuesday, February 5. The place will be Woolsey Hall and because of the war and the many demands being made upon everybody's pocketbook the strictest kind of economy will prevail.

The prom will be a one-day affair instead of the customary four days, and a great amount of expensive entertaining has thus been done away with. The fair guests of the Yale men will be quartered in Vanderbilt Hall instead of the Hotel Taft, and will dine in the Yale dining hall. In the Commons special table d'hote menus will be prepared and only nominal prices charged.

A basketball game and a swimming meet will be followed by tea dances in several of the university buildings. After dinner there will be a performance of the Dramatic Association and probably a concert by the Glee Club. These events will be followed by the dance, which will consist of forty-two dances with four extras. Supper will be served in the dining hall.

COFFEE PARTY GIVEN FOR WOOL FUND

Men of White House, Falls of Schuylkill, Plan Moving Picture Show at Midvale Theatre

The coffee party given last week by Mrs. Lucy Brewer at her home, 3423 Queen lane, in aid of the wool fund of the French and Belgian war relief work of the Protestant Episcopal Church of St. James the Less, was a success socially and financially. The decorations were patriotic in color, and small American flags waved through fern leaves and among the palm branches. Mrs. Charles P. McDermott, Miss Lydia Farrer, Miss Bessie Brewer, Mrs. William D. Grindrod, Miss Elizabeth Edwards, Miss Mary Grindrod and Mrs. Minnie Sheppard assisted the hostess in serving coffee, dainty sandwiches, homemade cakes and jellies.

The fact that it was a party to help the wool fund suggested to the guests that knitting would be permissible, and the needles flashed back and forth accompanied by clever discussions of relief work and other current events. Among those participating were Mrs. Martha Smith, Mrs. W. Bates, Mrs. Samuel Wagner, Mrs. Dietrich Conradi, Miss Alice Conradi, Mrs. William Wylie, Mrs. Whitaker, Mrs. R. Tisdale, Mrs. William Gray, Mrs. James Lawson, Mrs. William Simpson, Mrs. Edward Sheppard, Mrs. John James, Miss Florence Hirst, Miss Mary Farrer, Mrs. John Campbell, Mrs. James Seeds, Mrs. W. Stevenson, Mrs. M. Mitchell, Mrs. George Hamilton, Mrs. Harrison, Mrs. W. Boocock, Miss Mary Boocock, Miss Mary Kindon, Miss Florence Sudell, Miss Fannie Sudell, Miss Elizabeth Jackson, Mrs. Mary Lees, Mrs. Brunet, Miss Jessie Molyneux, Mrs. Thomas Molyneux, Mrs. Cook, Mrs. William Wyatt, Mrs. William Lowe, Mrs. M. Mahaffy, Miss Lillie Mahaffy, Miss Mary MacDonald, Miss Edna Baker, Miss Eleanor Hennessy, Mrs. Thomas Reutter, Miss Anna Newsome, Mrs. David Munyon, Mrs. Hughes, Mrs. George Wilcox, Mrs. Benjamin Walker, Mrs. Kielhofer, Mrs. Sarah Pickles, the Rev. Edward Ritchie, rector of the church, and Mr. John Churchett.

That knitting needles in the hands of experts can accomplish wonders is shown by the result of two weeks' work by the war relief workers, seventeen sweaters, eight helmets, and five pairs of socks, which were sent to the Navy League.

The members of the Citizens' Patriotic Committee are preparing knitted garments and comfort kits for the thirty-five men from the Falls who will be called to service about the middle of February. Fifty dollars will buy a Liberty Bond, but the same amount of money will buy only a small quantity of wool, so the White House workers welcome all the entertainments given to aid the wool fund.

Last Friday evening the splendid presentation of Mrs. Marion Whally Cole's play, "The Burglar's Christmas," was a huge success. It was followed by a military dance. About fifty marines were the guests of the committee.

On Thursday evening the men of the White House will give a moving-picture entertainment at the Midvale Theatre. The committee having the affair in charge includes Mr Charles Dykes, Mr. Charles W. Bothwell, Mr. Ernest Carwardine, Mr. Theodore L. MacKenzie, Mr. Charles McIlvaine, Mr. John Hohen-Adel, Mr. Richard Cole, Mr. W. Armitage, Mr. David Lawson and Mr. William Gray.

Mrs. Ernest Carwardine, of 3215 Krail street, entertained on Saturday evening at her home for her daughter, Miss Ruth Carwardine, in celebration of her fifteenth birthday anniversary. Among the guests were Miss Ida Kirkwood, Miss Marian Stehle, Miss Hester McNutt, Miss Ellen Whartenby and Miss Laura Adams.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Mary Katharine McGeogh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick J. McGeogh, of Augusta, Ga., and Mr. Thomas G. Rabbitt, of the Falls, on Monday, December 31, in St. Patrick's Church, Augusta, by the Rev. P. H. McMahon, V. G. The bride was attended by Miss Mildred Muller, of Cincinnati, O.; Mr. Charles Coleman was the bridegroom's best man. Mr. Rabbitt is a member of the Falls Male Chorus and of the choir of St. Bridget's Catholic Church, of the Falls. He is stationed at camp with the infantry.

Mr. Charles P. McDermott, of 452 Winona avenue, Germantown, entertained the boys of his Sunday school class in St. James the Less Church on Friday evening at his home. On Saturday evening Mrs. McDermott gave an interesting entertainment for the young girls of her class in the same school.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hohen-Adel, of Queen Lane, entertained the members of their card club at dinner and cards last week at their home. Their guests included Dr. and Mrs. Lewis Reese, Mr. and Mrs. John May, Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Kelly, Mr. and Mrs. John Duffy, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kelly, Miss Ella Boyd, Miss Ella Foley, Miss Mary Foley, Mrs. John Coahlan and Miss Mary Richard.

The Air Castle Club gave a supper on Friday evening at the Young Women's Christian Association.

Items of news for the society page will be accepted and printed in the Evening Public Ledger provided they are written on one side of the paper only and are signed with full name and telephone number of the sender, as it must be possible to verify the notes. A special feature of the program will be the folk dances by a number of the pupils of the South Philadelphia High School for Girls. The cast has been coached by Mr. Henry Schaffer, Jr., of the Plays and Players. There will be an attractive souvenir program. Mr. Stanley A. Wise, Mr. Stanley K. Neubauer and Miss Mary Bayison, the chairmen of the various committees, expect a large audience and have worked zealously to make the affair a success.
