THE AMERICAN INVASION OF PARIS

ASKING FOR RABBIT AT THE CAFE

Logic

Five-Year-Old Marjorie—I don't believe I'll get married, would you?
Mother—Why not, dear?
Marjorie—Well, if I get married I suppose I'll have children—and children are such a nuisance when one gets divorced.—Judge.

Force of Habit

"Why did you break your engagement with that school teacher?"
"If I failed to show up at her house once in so often she expected me to bring a written excuse from my mother."

When She Missed No. 1
"Did you miss your first husband very much?"
"Not until after I married my second."—London Opinion.

THE CHEERFUL CHERUB

How grand and kingly is the sun!
With never pause or fuss
He just goes strolling through the sky
And throws down days to us.

A Raw Deal

—Fenn State Froth.
"Why did you say I had card feet?"
"Because you're always shuffling em."

AT THE PANTOMIME

—London Opinion.
Voice from the gallery (as the wicked demon is banished to the lower regions)—"Op it, down quick old sport—I'll let yer know when the 'ort clear's given."

The Way She Did

Bessie—You don't believe every bit of scandal you hear, do you?
Helen—Oh, dear, no; but if one keeps repeating it, it seems to help a lot.—Lamb.

A Notable Feature

Sol Smith's orchestra furnished the music. A notable feature of the grand march was the increased number of dress suits.—Antler (Okla.) Times-Record.

The Young Lady Across the Way

The young lady across the way says she guesses public life must be very disappointing after all, as it seems to her she reads of more political suicides than any other kind.

Amazed

Wearry Mike (at the telephone)—Say, Kin I talk to Mr. McAfee?
Operator—What is his number, please?
Wearry Mike—Wet! Is he pinched? Again?—Lincoln Telephone News.
