

THE POWERFUL KATRINKA HAD NEVER BOWLED BEFORE, BUT SHE SAW ALL THE OTHERS THROWING THE BALL ABOUT AS HARD AS THEY COULD

By FONTAINE FOX

The Solution

—Cecilia Wagon.
"Skillful camouflaging the French are doing now."
"How is that?"
"They are making all their cathedrals and hospitals look like breweries."

March of Events Back Home
Hicks — What became of old Boggs who used to run the old one-horse country store?
Wicks — Say, that old Reno is getting to be a regular plute selling second-hand flivvers.—Judge.

The Complete Warrior

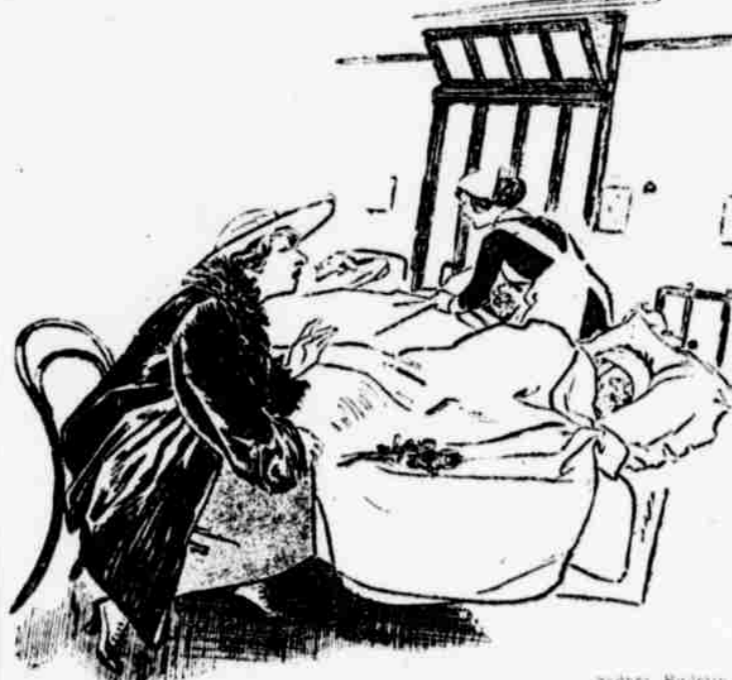

—Suzanne Baletta.
"And have you really and truly killed a lot of Germans?"
"Cert! Why, when we went over the top I always carried a scythe-stone to touch up me bayonet when it got blunt."

SCHOOL DAYS

ALL THE LUCK

—Ledy Vinton—So your poor friend was killed. Ah, but never mind—he's at rest!
—Bill Jim (sick of it)—Yes, he's at rest.

War Savings Jingle

Buying, buying, buying,
War-savings stamps of green,
Come on, get up and do your bit,
"Old Glory" must be seen.

"Liberty, How Many Crimes—"

In a great cosmopolitan population there was at least one who did not grasp what the Liberty Bond canvassers were talking about. People are telling, for instance, of one woman who, after she had been visited in the interest of the second Liberty Loan, called on a neighbor and thus related her experience: "Shoot tink, it was a man by my house vat want to sell me a livery barn! Vat will I make mit a livery barn, ven I got no horse!"—Christian Science Monitor.

THE CHEERFUL CHERUB

The Young Lady Across the Way

The young lady across the way says her friend in the newspaper business told her that the paper has 12 regular composers and she had no idea it paid so much attention to music.
