GOSSIP OF THE STREET EYES OF BROKERS CENTERED

Opinion Prevails That Market Conditions Will Be Unchanged Until Campaign Is Ended-Gossip of the Street

DULLNESS reigns supreme in the brokers' offices in this city. No one seems to take much interest in the stock market. Those whose oninions were asked said they believed there would be very little change in market conditions till after the next Liberty Loan campaign.

The greatest drawback to market activity, according to the brokers, is the extreme lightness of the money plarket, some going so far as to say money cannot be had. Of course, this is somewhat overdrawn, as money can be had, but the price asked is prohibitive.

It is generally acknowledged that "every one" is preparing for the next Liberty campaign, both individuals and banks. Attention was drawn today to the large amount of dividends which are coming due shortly, but the bellef is that these, instead of seeking the usual channels for reinvestment in miscellancons securities, will be largely invested in Liberty Bonds.

The manager of a large out-of-town house, who personally took more than the usual active interest in the last two campaigns and who is now setting his house in order for the next campaign, said yesterday that no matter how large the coming Liberty Bond issue he believes will create more enthusiasm than either of the first two, and he looks forward to see it a great success. He thinks, however, that the period which is being talked about in which to make the campaign is too short, and remarked that if the issue should be $6,000,000,000 or $8,000,000,000, the time devoted to the campaign should be not less than eight weeks. More persons are talking about and planning for the third issue, he said, than he experienced previous to the first two campaigns.

The bond and investment houses, outside of some engaged in the flotation of recent new issues, are beginning to prepare for the campaign, anticipating that business from now on will take on a similar complexion to that immediately preceding the two former campaigns. Procter & Gamble's $25,000,000 Note Issue

"As good as Government bonds" was the remark of the manager one of the largest banking and investment houses in the city yesterday when speaking of the $25,000,000 issue of 7 per cent serial notes of Procter & Gamble, of Cincinnati, which are being put on the market by a syndicate made up of the Guaranty Trust Company, the National City Company and the First National Bank of New York.

The notes are serial $5,000,000 maturing each year from 1919 to 1923. They are being offered on a 714 per cent basis for the earlier maturities, the yield increasing one-quarter of 1 per cent for each succeeding maturity.

This is probably the largest issue as yet passed upon by the capital issues committee, and the general impression is that they will meet with favor from investors in this city.

There is considerable speculation as to what the proceeds of this note sale are to be applied beyond the taking up of the $18,500,000 bank loan, but it is well known that the byproducts of this concern, especially glycerin, is employed by the Government in immense quantities in the manufacture of high explosives.

The complimentary remark made above about this issue comes with a better grace since neither the person who made it nor his concern is interested in the issue.

Harrisburg Municipal Bond Issue Postponed

It now appears that the issue of Harrisburg, Pa., municipal bonds on which bids were invited and were to be opened on Friday last, are not to be issued at present.

Owing to a technicality, it is said, the bonds were recalled and orders were given not to open the bids.

It is also said that the technicality discovered may also affect the validity of the recent issue, the bids on which and the final award were given in detail in this column at the time.

Montana Power Company's Bond Issue

It is generally acknowledged on the Street that in the face of many short-term, high-yield offerings which have been placed before the public recently, it took nerve on the part of Lee Higginson & Co., whose representative here is H. A. Sealey, of the Land Title Building, to put out the $4,000,000 issue of Montana Power Company first and refunding mortgage 5 per cent sinking fund thirty-year bonds.

These also were approved, it is said, by the capital issues committee,

The statement accompanying the issue shows the company in splendid condition, with an increase in net earnings of almost 100 per cent since the year ended December 31, 1913, as compared with the net carnings of the year ended December 31, 1917.

The company is paying 7 per cent on its preferred stock and 5 per cent on its common.

It is understood that quite a number of the bonds are being taken
