AUTO MAKERS HELP NATION'S WAR WORK

Manager of Auto Commerce Chamber Tells Convention of Need for Service

"This is a history-making year rather than a money-making year," said General Manager Reeves, of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, today before a gathering of automobile dealers and business men at the Adelphia Hotel.

Mr. Reeves also said that the mechanics of the industry should be encouraged to enter the war. He also said that there would be a bigger sale than ever in cars among the farmers, who are increasing their farm work in greater quantity before much ground was under cultivation for horses and cattle that are now no longer needed.

He warned the motorists against waste of gasoline, because there is now a tremendous overproduction, saying that we will need it all to win the war.

HERE ARE NEW WRINKLES IN SELLING OF WAR STAMPS

Rural Telephone System a Good Bait for Buyers; School Bell, Kick on Shins and Talk Likewise Effective

THE United States war-savings committee here today announced that it had utilized every known means of driving the campaign to sell about and sell war savings and their stamps; but it learned several new wrinkles in aggressive publicity before circulating through the school bell, the kick on the shins and the rural telephone system.

KANE AIDS BILL HITTING "EXCURSION LIZARDS"

Measure in Congress Would Ban Serving Drinks to Minors on Boats

Support of a bill which aims to drive "excursion lizards" from this vicinity was promised today by Federal authorities here.

The bill, introduced in Congress last month, forbids the sale of liquor to minors while aboard excursion steamers while the vessel is within the admiralty limits of the United States.

Passage of the bill which was introduced today by the United States District Attorney Francis Fisher Kane and other Federal officials according to settlement workers, means the death knell to "mashers" and others frequenting "excursion lizards" who go on excursion trips on the Delaware River steamboats.

For months the Big Sisters of this city have been gathering facts dealing with assaults and disorderly scenes alleged to have been enacted on river boats. It is said in many cases young girls still in their teens were served drinks.

Announcement that he would support the bill was made by Mr. Kane today after he had received a letter from Charles T. Walker, general secretary of the Juvenile Protective Association. In the letter Mr. Walker asked Mr. Kane to give his support to the measure which forbids the selling of liquor to persons under the age of twenty-one while on a steam vessel or excursion craft.

"The bill is a splendid one," said Mr. Kane, "and should be passed by Congress. It is just as important to have a law which will protect our minors while aboard excursion boats as it is to have machinery and a good crew on a ship."

Should the bill pass, it will not only affect excursion boats in this section, but it will also apply to similar vessels on the Great Lakes, the Mississippi and New York Bay.

Mr. Walker said today that the bill introduced by Congressman Sabath at the support of the Educational Society, "Commission and other civic organizations in this city."

LUTHERAN PASTORS ARE WARNED OF PENROSE

"Watch for Tricks," Says Missionary Superintendent, Urging Work for Dry Cause

Warning to watch Senator Penrose was given today at a meeting of the Lutheran Ministers' Association at the Central Y. M. C. A., 1423 Arch street, by the Rev. Dr. Silas Dougherty, missionary superintendent.

"We should watch Penrose," said Dougherty, "because he is tricky. During the recent of Quaker in this country, Pennsylvania would have been carried for prohibition but for the trickiness of Quaker. We have to come to the fore, Congress is in back of us and we should not ignore any candidate who is working for personal interests. We should be on the alert. Penrose will defend his position at the prohibition amendment if the State does not whip up to him."

The meeting approved the remarks of Dr. Dougherty and adopted a resolution in which they pledged themselves as members of the Lutheran Ministers' Association, to support war emergency prohibition and to enlist the pastors throughout the State in the respect of the rum business. A copy of the resolution was sent to President Wilson.

War-stamp posters were liberally distributed throughout the county and each man was urged to do his part. One day Mr. Lloyd arrived at the office to find a delegation of motorcar owners drawn up in solid formation, each armed with a determined look and a bill for gasoline. But, as usual, Mr. Lloyd was equal to the occasion. So glowing a picture did he draw of the many unselfish and finely patriotic things which had been done by the members of the association, that he left the country that it was not long before his college filed out of the office, each man considerably increased in chest measure and satisfied that such incidental things as "gas bills" are not mentioned among men of means whose services are claimed by the Government.

"If I ever meet the fellow," said Mr. Lloyd, "I'll help the poor man. He'll be literally talked to death."

Accompanied by a friend, Lloyd visited a rural town. The place looked dead. Suddenly his friend noticed a twinkle in the attorney's eyes, and, following him to the attorney's office, he found him sitting at a desk, looking at a letter.

On another occasion when an unappreciative audience did not respond he "kipped out" a friend to stand the applause. Under the spell of the county prosecutor's eloquence, however, the friend, like many friends, proved false and went to sleep. In the meantime the audience which followed the friend came first, receiving a vigorous and well-placed kick on the shins. The resultant howl was calculated to awaken every sleeper in the audience.

PRO-GERMAN CHARGE BEGINS SCHOOL STRIKE

Reading High Teachers and Pupils Quit After Board Head's Statement

Reading, Pa., March 11.—Aroused by a charge of alleged pro-Germanism made by President J. Ed. Wanner of the local school board against six of the professors in the Boys' High School, the teachers went on strike this morning and were followed by 500 of the 800 boys students.

The students immediately started about the business section of the city, singing the "Star Spangled Banner" and waving American flags.

Police seized several of the striking students and took them before Mayor Filbert at city hall, where President Wanner of the school board, was also called into conference. The teachers' committee of the board will meet tomorrow night to decide on an increase in pay for the striking teachers.

DEMAND RETRACTION A public retraction of President Wanner's statement is demanded by the teachers, three of whom are department heads of the school.

They are A. Leroy Lightner, head of the history department; Charles Ferry, head of the mathematics department; Joseph Rothner, acting head of the German department; Thomas L. Bickel, history department; Herman A. Fiebig, mathematics department, and George J. Jones, public speaking.

The teachers in a statement declared they were taking their action because of the alleged slander directed at them by President Wanner, and that their move was in no wise connected with their previous demands for a raise in salaries.

Virtually every boy attending the high school is included in the classes taught by the six teachers. Mr. Biegus, who is the oldest in service, is teaching his eighth year in mathematics and has had an students nearly every year of his teaching career.

STATEMENT BY TEACHERS The teachers say in their statement: "Six members of the Boys' High School faculty will not return to their duties as teachers, because Mr. Wanner broke faith and now charges them with selfishness and pro-Germanism. Under these charges the men cannot keep their self-respect or hold the respect of the boys unless these charges are denied."

DUO-ART PIANOLA-PIANO

Recently at the Academy of Music the Duo-Art Pianola Piano took Harold Bauer's place as soloist with the Philadelphia Orchestra. So exactly did it interpret Bauer's playing that not one person in the distinguished audience could distinguish any difference between the artist's personal performance and the duplication of that performance by the Duo-Art Pianola Piano.

The applause accorded the Duo-Art equaled—if, in fact, it did not even surpass—any ever given to a human soloist in that famous concert auditorium.

The Duo-Art is all but human. It is mechanical only in the sense that it plays itself by motive power from any electric-light socket.

In addition, you can, if you wish, control every note and reproduce the most delicate tempo or expression while using any standard pianola record roll; and you can, of course, play it by hand.

Aside from the pleasure it affords, its educational value to the student of music is inestimable. Demonstrations at your convenience.
