

CHILE ANXIOUS ABOUT NEW U. S. AMBASSADOR

Entire Issue of Future Relationship Between Two Countries Hinges on Choice of Ambassador

SITUATION IS DELICATE

South Americans Would Prefer Younger Active Man Able to Fight German Propaganda

SANTIAGO, Chile, March 15.—The entire issue of the future relationship of the United States and Chile hinges upon the choice of the successor to Ambassador Stoen, whose resignation is persistently reported to be under consideration on account of his age and the strenuous demands of the post.

It is generally expected that the new ambassador will be a younger, more aggressive and active man, capable of carrying on the fight against German propaganda both day and night.

Thorn in Chilean Sides.—The fact that the Santiago appointment has been delayed is a political thorn in the sides of Chileans for many years. They sensitively interpret this as indicating that the post is not considered of sufficient importance to justify the appointment of a diplomat chosen solely for his ability.

As a matter of fact, the long existing prejudice against the United States has been virtually eliminated and Americans here point out that the selection now, of the strongest available man will be an appointment highly appreciated by the Chileans.

First, the virtual intervention by the United States in behalf of Peru against Chile in the war of 1879. Second, the meddling of the cruiser San Francisco in the revolution of 1891. Third, the cruiser Baltimore incident, also in 1891, when the United States seized an Argentine vessel in a shore brawl at Valparaiso.

Fourth, Secretary Knox's ultimatum in connection with the Atrop claim. The rumor due to these four causes now has about died out and the diplomatic rumors are practically unheard.

With candor, not evidenced elsewhere in Latin America, Chileans of the highest rank bluntly declare their country is not interested in the United States in the performance of the United States but is not far-seeing in the future.

SPIKE FOR KAISER'S COFFIN AT SHIPYARD

Pneumatic Riveter Used in Starting First Vessel at Newburgh Plant

New York, March 15.—It is customary to refer to the beginning of work on a new ship as a keel laying. Nautical men, however, insisted that it wasn't a keel, but a garboard shipyard was evolved by Irving T. Bush, who hammered home the first white-hot rivet that went into the garboard strake of a ship temporarily named Hull No. 1.

SOLDIER GETS 2 YEARS, DODGED OPERATION

Camp Meade Man Sentenced When He Refuses to Submit as Ordered

REMOUNT DEPOT GROWS

The Rev. Mr. Adams Begins Series of Addresses in Y. M. C. A. Bungalows Tonight

By a Staff Correspondent

Camp Meade, March 15.—Soldiers at Little Penn must submit to surgical operations when such operations will enable them to perform their military duties more efficiently.

Failure to submit to an operation will involve the soldier in trouble. This was emphasized today when Private John Lyons, of the Auxiliary Remount Depot, was sent to a military prison for two years and informed that at the expiration of the sentence he will be dishonorably discharged from the service.

A few weeks ago the surgeons at the Base Hospital decided that it would be necessary to operate on Lyons. Lyons refused to submit and as a result he was court-martialed. The court found him guilty and General Kuhn approved his sentence.

Lyons' case is the first of that character to be disposed of at this camp. Previously soldiers have submitted to operations when informed that they were necessary. Whenever the surgeon felt that an operation would be accompanied by grave danger and it would not result in a permanent cure the matter in question has been rejected.
