Nancy Wynne Tells of Entertainment Next Sunday at Art Alliance—She Chats About Various Items of Social Interest

THE Art Alliance has certainly planned a wonderful afternoon's entertainment for the men in the service this coming Sunday. Some concert, let me tell you; quite in keeping with the Monday morning musicles, which you will admit are always fine.

SOME doings in the Stevens Heckscher household, aren't there? One Hopkins kiddy has the measles and one Heckscher child has chickenpox and the remaining child and Hopkins children are at the Heckscher and Hopkins grandmother, Mrs. Thomas Learning, with whom the Heckschers lived until their father's marriage.

HAVE you noticed the crowds every morning outside of the Rumage Sale on Chestnut street above Tenth? Why, it's almost as much as your life's worth to get in; but, once in, believe me you are glad you went, for they really have perfectly wonderful things for sale, some old, some new and all good-looking and displayed to the very best advantage.

THE Women Writers' Club is planning a big time for next Monday night. Major William A. Garrett, of the Midvale Steel and Ordnance Works and a member of the railroad commission to France, will speak on his experiences and observations—in so far as the censor allows—which we are told even at that will prove to be an eye-opener for some of us.

These annual dinners have come to be quite some affairs, for there is much talent among these writers and the entertainments are usually quite remarkable. This year there are to be six or seven vaudeville stunts by members of the club during the dinner.

WHAT do you think of the tobacco fund of the Emergency Aid having passed the $50,000 mark by $2000?

It appears they made more than $5000 at the bazaar in the late fall and together with other contributions for tobacco, jam and chocolate have received altogether $60,872.1 since they started the Overseas Club. That certainly is going some, and I think the women who are doing this work really have a right to pat themselves on the back for the success of their undertaking, don't you?

HAVE you noticed how many Philadelphia women who have been spending the winter in Washington have come up to town in the last two weeks—Mrs. Harry Hart and Mrs. Strawbridge and several others? They tell me it's all because of the income tax.

I hope they won't get like the man in Funtaine Fox's cartoon, who worked out his income tax and calculated all over the floor and the ceiling and the doors and windows and finally climbed up on the big furnace pipe and began making calculations there.

Even I with my little pencil and paper and income on $46 in the saving fund, for nearly went raving crazy about it. For nearly went raving crazy about it. For nearly went raving crazy about it.
