Mrs. Raymond Robins Tells Conference in Washington of Standards Established

Washington, March 26.-Industrial questions growing out of the war were liscussed at a conference here today of the state chairmen of Women in Industry. The conference was called by the woman's committee of the Council of National Defense. Mrs. Raymond Robins, wife of Major Robins, who is now in Russia for the American Red Cross, and who is chairman of the Illinois committee, spoke on standards for women in industry, including those established by the league and those issued by the ordnance department of the Army, commonly known as General orders numbers 13.

Another speaker was Miss Agnes Nestor, chairman of the women in industrial department of the women's department. She stated would soon leave for England as a member of the group invited by the British committee on public information to confer with English labor leaders. Miss Melinda Scott, of New York, who also spoke briefly, will accompany her. try. The conference was called by the

ELECTION OF TRUSTEE PERPLEXES PENN MEN

War Conditions May Deprive Many Alumni of Vote for Doctor Dixon's Successor

Difficulties have arisen in conducting the coming election of a successor to the late Dr. Samuel G. Dixon, whose death causes a vacancy on the board of trustees of the University of Pennsylvania. The election will be made by the alumni of the University.

The method of election agreed upon between the general alumni society and the board of trustees provides that a minimum of 4000 alumni votes must be cast to make the election legal or the trustees will fill the vacancy themselves.

trustees will fill the vacancy themselves.

More than usual difficulty confronts the alumni, due to the fact that the country is now at war and the attention of the alumni is more or less distracted by many things. The absence of so many graduates on war service presents another difficulty. The statute provides that the ballots must be returned within one month.

Editorially the Pennsylvania Gazette, the weekly magazine of the University, mays: "Since it will be obviously impossible for many alumni to receive and have their ballots in the hands of the society within that time, some provision ought to be made for an extension of time. It would be most unfortunate to have the election fail through the inability either to reach many of our alumni in the war service or to receive their ballots within the time specified."

and soldiers, combining all the qualities of patriotism, propaganda and purpose, is in Philadelphia today, and it will remain, it is announced, until the city has yielded up all the latent patriotism that is necessary to beat back such things as the big German drive against the world and to win the war.

The play, "Getting Together," now at the Lyric Theatre, is the instrument in a campaign for recruits—men for the armies that fight and women for the armies that fight and women for the armies that bind wounds, and men, women and children for the armies of workers that sustain ail. As long as "Getting Together" is at the Lyric Theatre a recruiting campaign will be in progress at the playhouse. That is frankly the purpose of the three-act drama of the world war, which is given under the auspices of the British and Canadian recruiting mission with the co-operation of the United States military and navai forces.

Incidentally, the proceeds are turned over to the British, Canadian and Aner-well and the factories in Belfaulty confronting the way is over and many secrets are revealed it will be found that no industry has contributed more to the successful prosecution of military operation of the United States military and navai forces.

GERMAN INTRIGUES IN GREECE ARE EXPOSED BY DEMETRA VAKA

Noted Woman Author Tells Fashionable Audience in Ritz-Carlton Hotel How Plans of Allies Were Frustrated by Agents of Kaiser

GERMAN intrigue in Greece and how all plans to bring former King Constantine and Premier Venizeios together in support of the Allies were frustrated by the Kaiser's agents were explained this morning by Dematra Vaka (Mrs.

this morning by Dematra Vaka (Mrs. Kennoth Brown), the author to a big audience in the Ritz-Caritou Hotel.

Born in Greece and raised to young womanhood in Athens. Mrs. Brown journeyed to her native land from France early last year. She had many interviews with King Constantine and the Fremier, but failed in her efforts to bring them together. She did, however, obtain much first-hand information concerning the workings of German propagandists, and this she told partly to-day.

In Greece, Mrs. Brown said, the German propagandists circulated reports that America would never enter the war. They told the Grecian people that every ninth person in the United States was a German who could be depended upon to keep America from joining the Allies. to keep America from joining the America Due to this propaganda, she said. Greece is now a "benevolent neutral" nation. She intimated, however, that, with Venizeios now in control of the Greek Government, an army numbering 500,000 men is being recruited and out-fitted to join the Allied armies.

She also talked at length of Franceshe has visited there twice in the last year—of which she knows much. Notwithstanding the fact that France has borne the brunt of the conflict for forty-odd months, she is by no means "bled white," Mrs. Brown said. The delight of the French people on learning of the entry of the United States into the world war also formed part of her theme.
