American Housekeeper Versus German Hausfrau

While our Allies, our own and the Germans are locked in battle on the western front, there is another struggle going on.

The race in conserving wheat is on to tween the German hausfran and the American housekeeper.

On one side autocracy sends a food director to go side by side with the German hausfrau to punish her with fines and imprisonment if she lags benind.

On the other side democracy trusts the American housekeeper to put her best efforts into the race without the insidious spur of bribes and the fear of imprisonment. The United States food administration is only pear to keep courage in the housekeeper's heart and be ready to help her over the hard places.

The victory of the war depends on the winner, France, Italy, England and our other associates in the war can no longer carry on the race alone. They know full well that their fate depends on the American housekeeper's ability to cutstrip her German rival.

to cutstrip her German rival.

Then, go to it. American housekeeper!
You have already passed the 30,000,000bushel mark in saving wheat. Now, on to the next wheat lap—the most important lap in the whole race—the 75,000, 000-bushel saving mark.

Already the hardest part is nearly over—that of teaching your family to eat Victory loaves instead of wheat bread.

At the party it is interesting to introduce the name of an honored guest who has put in a sudden appearance from camp. Do this very innocently so that all evening questions will be asked about the coustn soldier home on furlough. Let the girls got quite excited before finally reminding them it is April 1.

He sure to have "wet baint' signs tacked here and there about the chairs. It is even possible to welcome the guests on the porch by having a natiter's pole stretched across the bantsters with the simple sign "wet paint."
