FOSDICK TO FACE GRILLING ON VICE

City Officials Prepare to Cross-Examine United States Prober TO SPEAK AT DINNER Information on Which Report 'Was Based Said to Come From Biased Sources

A severe grilling is promised Raymond B. Fosdick, chairman of the training camp activities commission, who asserted in an official report to the Navy Department that Philadelphia is the "worst city in the United States" when he comes here next week to attend a dinner at the Bellevue-Stratford.

The fact that Fosdick's report was not the result of personal investigation and the errors found in the addresses of alleged disorderly houses has aroused considerable skepticism regarding the report generally.

Several other addresses listed as disorderly houses in the Fosdick report proved to be stores and unoccupied places.

All of the data concerning the alleged disorderly houses was collected by agents working under the direction of Major Bascom Johnson, chief of the law enforcement division of the committee in training camp activities.

J. Willis Merrin, President Judge of Common Pleas Court No. 2, discussed the vice situation today, and said the most important factor toward maintaining a clean city is to have the right kind of police force.

LANE, HOPEFUL FOR RUSSIA, SEES PICARDY VICTORY

Nothing to Live for If Germans Win, Interior Secretary Declares WARNS NATION TO AWAKE Decline Sure to Follow Contest, Americanization Conference Told

Washington, April 2.—Victory will come to the Allies on the Picardy front, and it will come as the result of the spirit of sacrifice of the people of the allied nations.

Secretary Lane held out hope for Russia. He declared that he does not believe Russia is a doomed nation, but merely a nation in making.

"There will be another Russia, wiser, more intelligent, a better educated, more intensely national Russia," Lane declared.

"Russia was the victim of the ignorance of her people, and out of ignorance has grown her lameness. If America is not to be Russified, and there is no fear that we must put into our own hearts a true appreciation of the things that we believe America to represent, all others will come to a period of decline."

PREVENT PUBLICATION OF ALL CASUALTY LISTS

Hindenburg's New Movements Indicate Force Spent MAY STRIKE AT AMIENS Front Virtually Unchanged as Battle Ends Second Week

14TH DAY OF BATTLE

London, April 3.—The Germans have renewed pressure against the British line each of Arras, delivering a determined attack in the sector of Fampoux, on the Scarpe River, the War Office reported today.

The British carried out their successful operation at Aytte during the night. More than 100 German prisoners with three machine guns were captured there.

Lincolnshire troops delivered a raid near Loos (north of Lens), capturing thirty-one prisoners.

General Lull in Battle

A deadlock has developed in the battle of Picardy. As a result of the unbreakable defense of the valiant Anglo-French armies and the exhaustion of the shattered German armies today—the fourteenth of the German offensive—found the battle front virtually unchanged.

Passing of the second week of the conflict brings confirmatory evidence of indications perceptible for some days that the high-powered German war machine, which was intended to act as a steam-roller over the Allies to Paris and the English Channel, has spent most of its energy and lost its propulsive force.

Artillery Active

Tuesday was given over to small local operations, although the German artillery was active against the French on the southern end of the fighting zone and violent artillery duels raged in some sectors.
