PEUCK WON FOR WOMAN HER CAREER AS DOCTOR

Dispatch of 100 "Lady" Physicians Overseas Brings to Mind Elizabeth Blackwell, Who Blazed the Trail in '49 for a New Profession

ONE doesn't like to be mean, but... The sailing overseas of 100 women physicians under the auspices of the American women's hospitals to minister to the wants of France brings pictures to the mind... In 1849 Elizabeth Blackwell, the first woman physician of modern times, an American, knocked at the doors of twelve colleges of medicine, pleading that she might come to study in their schools...

And then... It would be nice to have the fact go down in history that this time Dr. Elizabeth Blackwell's sisters, the women of the nineteenth century, did little things to make life a little easier. But such is not the case, when you hear women argue that men have blocked woman's path in medicine...

I visualize how many of us now can visualize for an instant the wall of professional resistance the woman doctor did have to batter down.

Will Work With Men. Suffragists Decide

Members of the Woman Suffrage party in New York city are hereafter to pledge themselves to the political party of their choice without giving up their membership in their own organization. A resolution to this effect has been passed by the suffrage association. Formerly it was necessary for a woman, if she wished to affiliate herself with any political party, to give up her membership and office in the suffrage party.

Some persons cannot understand how we can be nonpartisan in policy and still permit our officers, leaders and captains to hold office in political parties. Actually there is a difference in this respect between individuals and societies. An individual may be very partisan, but an organization that hopes to retain as members Republicans, Democrats, Prohibitionists and Socialists must have a nonpartisan policy and must deal with broad questions like education or those involving humanitarian principles.

Help the Liberty Loan! Dear Madam—As we all know the third Liberty Loan campaign opens Saturday, April 6, and some of the women are finding it hard to get the women to help. I am writing that you send this letter in your column as soon as possible, for I don't think it is because women don't do all they can to help in this terrible time, but because they are not getting the right message by printing this in your column. It will reach the women who want to help.

Is She Right or Wrong? To the Editor of Woman's Page: Dear Madam, I am a steady reader of your column and I have just read your column and I am sure that you are right. I have been reading your column for some time and I have been very much interested in the things you write about. I have been thinking about the things you write about and I have been thinking about the things you write about.

Cornmeal Gingerbread To the Editor of Woman's Page: Dear Madam—Will you kindly print a recipe for making gingerbread with half butter? The ingredients are one cupful cornmeal, one cupful wheat flour, one teaspoonful soda, three-quarters teaspoonful baking powder, one egg (beaten), one-half teaspoonful cinnamon, one-half teaspoonful cloves, one-half teaspoonful nutmeg, one-half teaspoonful mace, one-half teaspoonful allspice, one-half teaspoonful ginger, one-half teaspoonful cardamom, one-half teaspoonful cloves, one-half teaspoonful nutmeg, one-half teaspoonful mace, one-half teaspoonful allspice, one-half teaspoonful cardamom.

SAVING LIVES OF WAR ANIMALS

EDITORIAL FOR WOMEN BY A WOMAN

MRS. DANIEL N. McQUILLEN

By MRS. DANIEL N. McQUILLEN, Chairman American Red Star Animal Relief of Pennsylvania. The American Red Star Animal Relief, which ministers to and saves the lives of our dumb soldiers on the firing line was brought to the notice of the Women's Pennsylvania S. P. C. A. last winter and was organized and given a charter in August, 1917. It has been approved by Secretary of War Baker, ex-President Taft, Major General Wood, Major General Bell and ex-President Roosevelt.

"It seems to me an abhorrent thing," said Mr. Roosevelt, "not to do every thing we can for horses and other animals used in war." The public does not realize the great importance of Red Star work. Captain Vincent Stewart and Captain John R. Valentine have been West for months trying to find enough horses to meet the demands of our army of home and abroad, and it is a most difficult task. The horses are in constant use for transporting food and munitions to the extreme front lines. The roads are so worn that trucks and motors cannot go. We must conserve our horses and mules and use them.

A Novel Sewing Lamp An innovation that proves that men have no monopoly on conveniences is an electrically lighted sewing stand. The stand, about the height of a smoking stand, is of mahogany and is equipped with all the things needed in sewing, and above is a softly shaded electric light bulb to throw light on the work one is doing.

Decorated Oilcloth A square of white oilcloth ornamented with a conventional design in paint in each corner makes an unusual and artistic covering for the youngsters' table. It does not reach out to the edge and is banded with black to afford the finishing touch. Some bright colored paint, a brush and a pattern made from an old piece of wallpaper furnish the material for the decorating.

Tailored Suit of Sand-Colored Tricotine

offer of the Red Star horse ambulance to General Pershing. Our organization is young and needs many voices to speak of the vital necessity of relief work for army animals. Why not make Red Star service one part of your work to help with the war? Give to the Red Star for those invaluable four-footed soldiers as you give to the Red Cross for the blessed men who are fighting and suffering for freedom and justice. Besides money, give your voice and your determination to do this work, and do not leave anything undone for those who cannot speak for themselves.

FARMERS OF STATE ALIVE TO FOOD NEED

Mrs. Frank Black Finds Preparations for Enormous Increase in Production

Preparations for an enormous increase in food production by the farmers of Pennsylvania as well as a busy, patriotic spirit among the farmers took encouraging form for our food supply, according to Mrs. Frank Black, who has just returned from a tour of business conferences in the State. Mrs. Black is one of the two women on Lieutenant Governor McCalla's committee on agricultural labor service, a practical farm woman herself and fully sympathetic with all movements to bring increased food production and practical aid to the farmer.

"The farmers are alive to the need," Mrs. Black said. "They had a sad experience last year, when they were unable to get labor to help them with their harvest, but they are willing to take the chance again this year. They realize that they must take the chance, that it is a patriotic duty, and that they must get right to work. Plant big crops and harvest them, too." "I cannot say that the average farmer is banking much on the women's farm units, though I feel sure they will be pleasantly surprised in this. The farmers, their wives and children are just concentrating their efforts on this work and they will not fail."

The time when the green gets back in the trees. And the sun comes out and stays. And your boots pull on with a good tight squeeze. And you think of your barefoot days. When ought to work, and you want— And you and your wife agree. It's time to spade up the garden lot. Well, work is the least of my ideas. When the green, you know, gets back in the trees.

Fido Can Go Off to Boarding School

The education and care of dogs has been reduced in a serious way in the institution, where animals from various households are given courses of instruction which range from the common amenities expected of a well-bred dog to the more advanced and valuable things which the "pupils" learn as they refrain from jumping up on customers, to bark only in case of danger and to sit in a corner until called. A cook is employed to prepare the food, which consists principally of corn bread, for breakfast and vegetables at night, each dog eating and drinking from his own dish. No meat is provided. Individual, electrically lighted pens are used, in each of which is a carpet mat that is disinfected each morning. A daily examination by a veterinarian reveals any cases of illness and these are quarantined or sent to a hospital connected with the institution. The school specializes in teaching dogs tricks, such as counting and picking out any color designated by a word of command.

Crocheted Cluny Edges

One little bride was ingenious enough to crochet the edges of a cluny lace bureau scarf to make a little bit different. The room was in pink, so it was pink crocheted cotton that was used. The effect was so pleasing that all the little bride's friends are now reveling in "crocheted rooms."

ADVENTURES WITH A PURSE

BLANKETS AND QUILTS TO SAVE FOR WINTER Purchase Now Has Twofold Value—Prices Are Low and Spring Nights Chilly

They may be startlingly clear or they may be damp and penetrating; but, in any event, they are chilly. To that we will all agree. Even if it is warm during the day, the spring nights are colder. And it is this fact that makes the thought of warm, soft quilts or blankets very attractive. A second reason for their being attractive at present is that they can be had for such reasonable prices. From the silken coverlet of softest down to the plaid quilt of a dark shade that does not show the soil, they can be had in abundance. Picture mildly, lying snugly abed and viewing luxuriously a silk quilt of deep rose center shading to the delicate mesh of a shell at the border. And if one needs an extra blanket to throw across the foot of the bed, one will find many to please the fancy. The new plaid blankets offer a variety of combinations, and the soft white woolly blankets with heavy silk borders will also be found quite as low. This is the time of the year when prices of these blankets and quilts are greatly lowered. In fact, the quilts one has had from $5 up and the blankets may be found quite as low. Then, too, a purchase now has a twofold value. It enables one to take advantage of present prices, and at the same time it means the replacing of blankets or quilts for next winter. Now, says the thrifty woman plans ahead.

A Plea From a Star

Every star on every service flag in the land makes a plea for the women of America to save wheat. Over in France at this moment boys who put stars on these flags are filing over the hills on their way to battle. There is no falling down on the job on the part of our American soldiers. Let there be no falling down on the job on the part of the women behind the soldiers. SAVE WHEAT. Salute the soldier who is fighting for you. Cheer him, but remember cheers will not feed him. SAVE WHEAT.
