

315TH LEADS IN RECORD MARCH BACK TO MEADE

All-City Regiment Hikes From Baltimore to Camp at Head of 10,000

20 MILES IN SEVEN HOURS

20,000 Tired Shins at Little Penn After Saturday's Parade Under President's Eyes

By a Staff Correspondent Camp Meade, Admiral, Md., April 8. Work was resumed at Little Penn today, but the 10,000 men who made the long hike to Baltimore are nursing tired shins and feet. Not a man will admit that much, but it is true, and it's not a bit surprising for the hike to Baltimore and return, coupled with the parade at Shantytown on Saturday, was a thing stout.

The soldiers returned to camp yesterday and made a record that probably will stand for twenty miles were covered in a little more than seven hours, and in that time the embargo trench fighters took fifty minutes for lunch.

Only a handful of men were permitted to fall out of line, and they were bundled into ambulances. The 315th Infantry ("Philadelphia's own") was the first unit in the division to reach home, and as the regiment sauntered on the reservation the boys greeted their comrades left to guard the barracks by singing camp songs.

These regiments were camped much nearer the city line than other units had the satisfaction of leaving other regiments on the "back-home" hike. The Baltimore camps were left behind at 7:30 o'clock and at 2:30 the 315th hiked into Camp Meade.

Considering that the men carried field packs weighing fifty pounds each, the march home was executed in wonderful time.

General Kuhn was warm in his praise today concerning the conduct of the men in Baltimore and their good work on the road. Colonel Rochester, of the 315th, and Charles of the 316th, are mighty proud of their boys, and today asserted that for hiking the men are equal to any soldiers in the service of Uncle Sam.

Lieutenant Colonel Alden C. Knowles, of the 316th Infantry, who has had twenty years' service, paid a warm compliment to the Pennsylvania boys by saying that they hiked over the roads with as much "pep" and "smile" as any outfit of seasoned regulars.

"Not a grouch in the regiment," said Colonel Knowles. "And everybody is eager to resume the regular training program."

Colonel Thomas W. Darrach, of the 314th Infantry, another Pennsylvania regiment, paid a similar tribute to his men.

Two dogs were so tired when Shipley was reached yesterday that they gave up the ghost and rode home in ambulances. "Phillie" mascot of the 315th Infantry, trotted home with the soldiers, but is taking time quite easily today.

"Since leaving the camp last Thursday morning," said Captain Fred W. Patterson, of Company A, "our mascot has been much in the limelight. She got more publicity than any man in the division, with the exception of the generals and colonels."

Germany Declares Force Cannot Avail

Continued from Page One regarding the wisdom of dragging America into the conflict against Germany and some came to the conclusion that it was unwise to array the United States against the Fatherland.

The Tageliche Rundschau says Germany has lost her last chance to keep the United States out when she "failed to prevent President Wilson's reelection because of his public denials."

"But," says the newspaper, "it is well to remember that Mr. Wilson will soon come forward with another peace proposition."

The Kreuzzeitung says: "The U-boat was a useful pretext for America to enter the war and we supplied it. It enabled President Wilson to effectually to conceal his true war motives. We thoroughly misread American sentiment."

The Berliner Tageblatt refuses to believe American help can bring victory to the Entente. Continuing, it says: "America's economic assistance now has passed its zenith. The seizures of German, Austro-Hungarian, Dutch and Swedish shipping... constitute the Entente's last reserves, which in three months probably will be disposed of by our U-boats."

TWO SELECTED MEN DIE AT CAMP DIX

Pneumonia and Alcoholism Fatal to New Soldiers of "Lightning Division"

Camp Dix, April 8. The Seventy-eighth Division, now in training at Camp Dix, will be known in the future as the "Lightning Division."

This name was decided upon by staff officers, following a vote by the men of the division, and the result was announced at the closing performance of the Camp Dix circus, which, by the way, resulted in the raising of about $2000 for the athletic fund of the division.

Two deaths have been reported by the division surgeon. Pneumonia claimed another victim in Private Frank B. Inman, whose body has been shipped to the home of his father, Samuel Long, Chesapeake, Md., and the other death was that of Private Carl T. Tiffany, of Finnington, who came last Thursday with the draft men from that town. The cause of his death is given as acute alcoholism.

Private Marcus Breffeller, of Columbus, Pa., has been sentenced to serve six months at hard labor by the court-martial board for refusing to obey the command of the captain of his company in the depot brigade. He was sentenced to be dishonorably discharged from the army, but Brigadier General J. T. Dean, in command of the division, reduced the sentence owing to the fact that the man had not been in the service very long.

Miss Margaret Marie Marshall, a soprano of Philadelphia, assisted in a concert program yesterday afternoon in front of the main knights of Columbus auditorium, the other numbers being given by the Moorestown Choral Society. SAVINGS BODIES DONATE $1,000,000 TO CITY'S LIBERTY LOAN QUOTA

Continued from Page One savings would be far overshadowed. The commercial end of the trade also will be called upon in loan campaign.

Pastors of almost every church in Philadelphia yesterday delivered sermons in which the appeal was made to thousands upon thousands to help in the loan campaign.

Citizens of the Main Line communities set out today to win an honor flag for their townships in loan campaign. With the best organization yet prepared to push the drive to a successful conclusion, workers were up early and about today. Wayne is leading, having opened the drive with its quota already oversubscribed.

THIRD LOAN WINS QUICK RESPONSE ON COAST

San Francisco, April 8.—It is announced that unofficial figures based on partial returns from communities throughout the seven States of the Twelfth Federal Reserve District indicated that the district had subscribed on the first day of the third Liberty Loan at least $75,000,000 of its quota of $210,000,000.

Oregon reported thirteen counties out of thirty-five in the State had subscribed $1,550,000, and that forty-one communities had oversubscribed. Washington and California reported at least a score of communities which had oversubscribed their quotas. San Francisco re-enforced the ramparts of democracy by an evening Liberty Loan parade and a first-day contribution of nearly a million dollars.

Cleveland, April 8.—Introducing Josephus Daniels, Secretary of the Navy, as the principal speaker at a Liberty Loan mass-meeting, Mayor Harry J. Davis said that Cleveland had subscribed one-half its quota of $55,000,000 and would reach the full amount this week.

Cleveland is making this announcement from reports it "has received from banks and other sources," a Mayor said.

NEW YORK AIMS AT BIG LOAN OVERSUBSCRIPTION

New York, April 8.—With the third Liberty Loan campaign well on its way under the impetus of the spectacular features of the opening day, the loan committee for the New York Federal Reserve district knuckled down to its task of selling $1,500,000,000 worth of bonds, $500,000,000 in excess of its official quota.

An army of 2200 speakers, including bankers, laborers, clergymen, farmers, politicians, actresses and clergymen, addressed meetings throughout the district, speaking in thirty-four languages. Nine hundred orators are held for work in this city, but the rest are scattered through the State, the twelve northern counties of New Jersey and Fairfield County, Conn.

A twenty-day airplane flight across the State will be made by Lieutenant Joseph C. Stehlin, the youngest American member of the Lafayette escadrille. Starting Thursday, he will deliver addresses in thirty-five cities.

The committees in New York and other cities are planning for April 27 a parade of mothers, wives, sisters and daughters of soldiers and sailors.

Ensign J. E. Fisher, U. S. N. II, who was graduated from Yale in 1913 and who now is doing duty in foreign waters, has sent in a subscription for $100,000 worth of bonds, the loan committee announced. Last year he purchased two patrol boats at $10,000 each and leased them to the government at $1 a month.

LIBERTY LOAN DRIVE HITS ITS STRIDE TODAY

Washington, April 8. Encouraged by the tremendous enthusiasm with which the Liberty Loan was ushered in, the largest force of salesmen ever assembled to further a single enterprise in the history of the country assembled this morning and inaugurated the first day's selling of Liberty Loan bonds.

Supplementing the efforts of the sales department will be the largest force of publicists ever enlisted in a single cause. Initial reports from every section of the country are to the effect that the first blast of the publicity campaign on Saturday far outstripped any previous Liberty Loan efforts. The country is abuzz with posters and other outdoor advertising

Congress Responds to President's Spur

While Congress debates these measures many members are out in the country making Liberty Bond speeches today. For this reason a tacit agreement has been reached in the Senate to let the Overman empowering bill until these absentee returns.

This means considerable delay in passage of the measure, which the Administration desires to hurry as much as possible. Senator Overman, understanding the hostility he would arouse by "rushing" tactics, took the bill "animator" a while and Administration forces worked on reluctant or hostile Senators.

Senator Overman, in charge of the bill, was optimistic that a vote would be taken before adjournment tonight. While debate continued members of the Senate were still receiving protests that there are now laws under which many pro-Germans can be prosecuted. The Grand Jury in Tucson, Ariz., will close down some indictments if the measure become a law before that time, according to messages received by Senator Overman.

Other messages to the North Carolina Senator threaten that people of some sections cannot be held in check much longer and that unless drastic laws are passed quickly there will be recurrences of the Collinsville lynching of last week.

When the bill now pending is finally disposed of, Senator Overman has a conference report to submit to the Senate which will also deal harshly with those who oppose the aims of this Government in the war. This conference report carries an amendment which prevents destruction of and tampering with property. It was originally drawn to aim at sabotage, but has been widened by intent, but deeds of omission. It also deals with those convicted of poisoning food.

According to Senator Overman there is no law at present on the Federal statutes which makes it possible to prosecute those who have put ground and broken glasses in food.

Conferees on the agricultural appropriation bill are expected to agree this week the home of contention between them being the four amendments for $2.50 wheat.

President Wilson's Baltimore speech met most hearty approval everywhere in the Capital.

"It was the only possible answer to the Klaxer—and to Hindenburg, who has recently been putting his finger in the political as well as the military pie," said Senator Lewis, Democratic whip.

"A most momentous declaration and one which the American people will back up to the very limit of their strength, purse and lives," said Senator Borah.

Allies Fully Unified by Wilson's Speech

Continued from Page One to start the work of establishing aerial supremacy for the Allies is another factor, the importance of which military experts say cannot be overestimated.

General Staff officers say that the American people must be patient and confident. Statements made officially by General Pershing and Major General March reflect this confidence without divulging why. Their reasons are presumably linked with prospective moves about which the public may not be informed in advance.

It is explained here that the arrival of American troops on the Pleadry plains has far more military significance than appears on the surface. The outcome of the present fighting depends to a large extent on the matter of reserve forces which either side can throw into the fray.

Near 300,000 Released In these circumstances, 100,000 American troops, while not a large number of fighting men in itself, from a large and all-important at a time when the rival forces engaged are more or less evenly balanced. Besides, the number of troops which the present participation of the United States will release from immediate service is admittedly nearer 500,000 than 100,000.

Of particular importance in the opinion of General Staff officers may be the fact that the German high command did not calculate on America's jumping into the thick of the fight at this time. Official reports received at the War Department have made it clear that Germany made her drive now in order to exert maximum military pressure while her enemies were at their low ebb and presumably before aid could be rendered.

Germany will now find that the American aid which she believed must arrive too late will be on the spot to reach an end, and will be increasing to such an

SPEECH HASTENS JUST PEACE, VIEW IN PARIS

Paris, April 8. Of all the speeches that President Wilson has delivered, his address in Baltimore on Saturday is best calculated to hasten a just peace, the Temps stated today.

The whole Paris press is enthusiastic in its praise of the speech. The famous publicist, Alfred Campoux, writing in the Figaro, said that President Wilson had been driven into a stern concentration of the work ahead by the carnage and atrocities wrought by Germany.

ITALIANS APPLAUD MODIFIED ATTITUDE Rome, April 8. The Italian press, detecting a change in President Wilson's attitude toward Austria and a more specific sympathy in Italian claims, applauds his Baltimore speech.

There was a tremendous demonstration in the Coliseum on Sunday in observance of America's first year in the war. Prince Colonna and Ambassador Foy were the principal speakers. Similar demonstrations occurred throughout the country, especially in Genoa, Milan and Naples.

ANNOUNCEMENT

OUR Government has requested that we put at the disposal of the War Department our entire output of the "makings"—"BULL" DURHAM tobacco.

And we have complied—fully, gladly. For whatever the Government wants, whatever it needs, it must have from us and from you fully and with a generous heart.

We have been sending immense quantities of "Bull" to our men at the front, and at the same time trying to supply consumers at home. But now we are asked to give all our output—36,000,000 sacks, 2,000,000 lbs., 100 carloads of "BULL" DURHAM every month.

This call means more than just huge figures to me and I know it will mean more than figures to the hundreds of thousands of men everywhere in the country who "roll their own" and who look upon that little muslin sack of good old "Bull" as a personal, everyday necessity.

It means that the Government has found that our fighting men need the "makings".

But, if "Bull" is a necessity to you, here, in the peaceful pursuit of your daily life, how much greater its necessity to those splendid Americans who have gone to fight for you—to win this war for you.

I know that you will think of them as I do—only of them. I know there will not be a single complaint. I know that you will give up your share of "Bull", however long you have enjoyed it, however close it is to you, as you will give up anything you have if it is made clear to you that our forces over there need it.

That the Government has requested the whole output of "Bull", the night and day output of all of our factories, must make this absolute need clear to you.

And I know that you will not forget the little muslin sack—gone for the present on its mission of hope and inspiration to our boys in the trenches.

"Bull" will come back, with ribbons of honor. Have no fear.
