

SUFFRAGE THAT HAIL FROM CHINA—DRESSING SMALL BOYS—WAR MENU

OVERUSE OF BRAIN BAD FOR MOTHER'S HAPPINESS

An Objection to Woman Suffrage That Comes Direct From China—The Story of a Strange Test Made in the Far East

SOME of the arguments brought by American men against woman suffrage make you suspect they have not been to school in China.

They opened their eyes with amazement," he said, "when I told them that a Miss Rankin sat in Congress at Washington. We have not yet discussed the point and the facts. We have merely discussed the facts."

At present time a number of women have asked for the permission to their Governments to give them rights to vote or to represent themselves in Congress. This is really the hard question for the Government to decide.

Two objectors seemed absolutely intuitively inspired as far as stock objections go. They wrote respectively: "At present time a number of women have asked for the permission to their Governments to give them rights to vote or to represent themselves in Congress."

GIRL NAMED HEAD OF PENN LAW FRESHMEN

Doesn't Call It "Just Simply Wonderful"

Pretty Frances Ethel Donoghue Says That Women Shouldn't Crow Over Such Successes

It Gives Impression That They Think It's Surprising One of Sex Should Achieve Distinction

In spite of the fact that Miss Frances Ethel Donoghue, of Sergeant Hall, University of Pennsylvania, was chosen president of the first-year law class by unanimous vote, and in spite of the fact that such a thing is new in the history of the college, Miss Donoghue is almost fearful lest the news of this distinction be misinterpreted.

At this Miss Donoghue, who had been warmly congratulated, spoke up: "I'm doing splendidly. I know that naturally the doesn't want to even about being made president of my class, because the men were so awfully decent about it, but it really was an honor. She was exclaiming: 'Besides, she's pretty and young, and believes in a modest and decorous manner, I give you my word for it.'"

FRANCES ETHEL DONOGHUE

She got ready to do something if they are perfectly willing about wanting to work. They are going into all sorts of professions, medicine, surgery, farming, even fighting, and they are making good. I don't see why there should be any further sense of rivalry between them and men, just because they are women, or any more than there ever is between persons who are ambitious competitors.

Cape of Seal Brown Gloveskin Cloth

This graceful cape is of seal brown gloveskin cloth, with a deep self-color fringe so modish this season. The back falls becomingly in loose folds, caught at the belt by a narrow sash which is drawn through slits under the arms and tied simply in front. The scarf collar adds a youthful note. The original model is lined with gold-color pussy willow silk.

A DISPLAY OF SUITS FOR THE WEE MEN FOLK

Junior Can Be Patriotically Well Dressed and as Joy to His Mother's Eyes

The busy mother has difficulty in sparing time from her many, many duties to run off for a good old-fashioned shopping tour. "I am sure," she will exclaim, "that there must be all sorts of boys' suits from which to choose, but it is so difficult to know just where to find them."

Perhaps you will select a rough-wool white sailor suit of heavy wash goods, with long full trousers, and middie blouse, under the square collar of which a black tie is brought around into a sailor's knot. This style can be had in several sizes, and the price is slightly less than $5.
