JUST GOSSIP ABOUT PEOPLE

Nancy Wynne Talks About the Girls in the Junior Service Corps of the National League for Woman's Service and the E. A. A.'s is the world, you can't help making misple now and again, isn't it? It comes tem taking others to be as accurate as ye want to be yourself, and so when a secure person you know and I know told as the girls who wear the dark blue with with leather collars and cuffs, blue gar bats and tan shoes and spats were us liniors of the National Council of Dehes I did not doubt her knowledge, And that saw all these girls in their stunning adis at the Liberty Loan demonstration. pades before the Statue of Liberty on saurday. I spoke of them as members of

Now, I want to tell you, I find I made a wike; they were not the National Counapped the National League for Woman's series. And Mrs. John White Geary, of Contact Hill, is the chairman of this serve

The Birls, they tell me, are ready to be of ente at any and all times to any and all eraniations that may need them for profic service, and they certainly did pake a splendid showing on Saturday.

Tel know, the National League has headquiters in New York, and is really doing my remarkable work. It has been orpassed in thirty-right States already. The interst chairman is Miss Mande Wetmore; pational communicant, Miss Grace Packer, and national treasurer, Miss Anne Morgan.

WHILE on the subject of uniforms, I am interested also in those worn by the Emergency Aid nides. The name is rather s mouthful, I admit, but, then, the work

Naturally, their first services go to the Inergency Aid, to whichever committee desires their help, but I was recently shown # list of things they had done in one week. ant I assure you it means work to be one of them, as well as a junior of the National League for Service.

Every day there were ten nides at the fiel Cross warehouse, where each was allotted a special tusk; from ten to twelve sold tickets for the unval ball, twenty took m the collection of a Belgian relief lesfrespent most of the day in the Red Cross priory. Besides this they had a drift, condicted under Captain Kranage, and instructions in first aid, under Major Piersol. That was just one week.

All this week the nides and juniors of the National League for Service are turnhe over their energies to the selling of Diety Bonds. And there is much rivalry ineng the various groups of each organiation. There does not seem to be so much malry between the organizations themsives. But among the groups in each Fer instance, the E. A. A.'s have booths at the Girard Trust, Commercial Trust, North American Building: Wanamaker store and a the Liberty Statue, and they con't hange off, you know. Each booth is under special group, and they are trying hard boutstrip each other in the matter of sub-

Lieutenant Agnes Brockie and Sergeant Such Franklin, assisted by Mary Norvis and "Billie" Brockie, otherwise Elizabeth, are in tharge of the Commercial Trust booth, and they certainly are working with determinatun to judge from their looks in the cold and wind of yesterday.

The Emergency Aid aide service, which kemposed of nearly 100 girls, is directed Mrs. Norman MacLeod. There are two eptins, Charlotte Brown and Gretchen thy, and four fleutenants. Peggy Thayer, Agres Brockie, Margaret Dunlap and Edwina Bruner Wetherill.

Well, what do you know about Fanny Wain and Bob Morris? Married yesleday down in Augusta! Do you ever get seprised at anything these days? Marfage is sort of like a trip to New York or Atlantic City.
