

THIRD LIBERTY LOAN DRIVE THE GREATEST

Treasury Department Reports Show Overwhelming Popular Interest

MANY OVERSUBSCRIBE

Cities, Counties and Even States Already Have Exceeded Their Quotas

Washington, April 12.—America's third Liberty Loan drive promises to be its greatest.

Portland, Ore., is the largest city thus far unofficially going "over the top" of the amount assigned it.

Some indication of this spirit is found in the case of Lynn, Mass., where citizens campaigned all Friday night.

The significant part of the great response, it is stated, is the great amount of the country's farmers.

The same enthusiastic reply to America's appeal "Come Across or the Kaiser Will" is found everywhere.

FRANCE NOT STARVING; MORALE HOLDS GOOD

Head of Paris Export House Tells of Conditions—U. S. Soldiers Admired

A picture of sterling spirit and morale in France, of satisfactory food conditions and of the confident belief of Parisians that the British, French and American forces will use their arms to the confusion of the boche was drawn yesterday by W. F. Follows, managing director of the Paris house of Gaston, Williams & Wigmore, who had just arrived direct from Bordeaux.

"France is a little disappointed," said Mr. Follows, "over the small supply of airplanes sent over by America, but the number of officers and soldiers already in her country has excited the admiration of the French people."

"Recounting his experience with aerial torpedoes and long-range shells," Mr. Follows said: "I will tell you that on March 28, on the preceding Tuesday one of the shells, fired from a long-range gun fell thirty meters from my house. It landed in a field, and a fragment that I picked up showed that the shell was a 200 mm. shell, which is a shell of great destructive power."

"The long-distance shells in general did little damage, but during the first few days the shells got on people's nerves because they arrived at regular intervals. As soon as the people ascertained the nature of the bombardment and the fact that it caused less damage than the new aerial torpedoes used by the Germans, the shelling was taken as a matter of course."

TUG AND TWO BARGES BLOW ASHORE AT LEWES

Storm Worst and Longest in Twenty-five Years, Delaware Pilots Assert

Lewes, Del., April 12.—The most terrific storm that has been known here for twenty-five years, according to Delaware pilots, has prevailed for the last thirty-six hours.

"The long-distance shells in general did little damage, but during the first few days the shells got on people's nerves because they arrived at regular intervals. As soon as the people ascertained the nature of the bombardment and the fact that it caused less damage than the new aerial torpedoes used by the Germans, the shelling was taken as a matter of course."

NEW OFFICERS FOR CRANE

Commissioned Medical Men Arrive to Take Charge of Hospital Units

Allentown, Pa., April 12.—A score of medical officers have reached Camp Crane, of the Allentown Fair grounds, to take charge of the hospital units.

DEAF MAN CAN'T OWN BAR

Springtown, Pa., April 12.—The Hon. Court refused to grant the license to the owner of the Gilbert cafe, Pottstown, Pa., because of the deafness of the proprietor.

THIRD LIBERTY LOAN HONOR FLAG CONCEIVED BY LONG ISLAND MAN

J. H. Burton, of Cedarhurst, Invents Emblem to Put "Pep" Into the Drive for U. S. Dollars

Cedarhurst, L. I., April 12.—About eight weeks ago John H. Burton, of this village, placed a red-bordered square of white material with three blue stripes across its white field in his traveling bag and went down to Washington to interview the Secretary of the Treasury.

LIBERTY LOAN HONOR FLAG This flag will be awarded by the Government to every town subscribing its quota of the third Liberty Loan.

Mr. Burton showed the Secretary his sample of material with its curious arrangement of the red and white and blue and explained that this was his notion of what a service flag for American dollars ought to look like.

Mr. Burton suggested to the Secretary that the flag be adopted as an official emblem of the third Liberty Loan and that it be given to every town which would cause every city, town and village in the nation to sit up nights to think.

In his long and extremely successful career as a man of business Mr. Burton had learned much of the psychology of the American people.

During the second Liberty Loan campaign there had been rivalry among cities and towns, but Mr. Burton believed that there was a weakness in the plan in the lack of a tangible trophy of achievement, such as an honor flag.

It was during the second Liberty Loan campaign that Mr. Burton discovered the value of competition in putting "pep" into the drive.

The long American casualty list was coming from France as "providing a feast for blither lawyers organized throughout the country to try their trade on bereaved relatives."

He pleaded for the repeal of section 13 of the war risk insurance act, which he said, makes it possible in case of death of an insured sailor or soldier, for a claim agent to represent the rightful beneficiary and to demand an award of 10 per cent of the amount paid, extending over a period of twenty years.

"The war risk insurance act was passed for the benefit of the men in the service and their dependents, but to permit a swarm of mercenary leeches to sap the blood of the beneficiaries," Treadway said.

"The long-distance shells in general did little damage, but during the first few days the shells got on people's nerves because they arrived at regular intervals. As soon as the people ascertained the nature of the bombardment and the fact that it caused less damage than the new aerial torpedoes used by the Germans, the shelling was taken as a matter of course."

At the Government's Service

IN his Baltimore address President Wilson once more defined the principles for which we are at war and the only basis upon which a just and righteous peace can be formulated, and reiterated our unalterable purpose to meet the German challenge with "force without stint or limit" until such a peace is attained.

The New York Stock Exchange as a body enthusiastically endorses this expression of our National purpose, and places its influence and its resources unreservedly at the disposal of the Government.

The first great duty which presents itself is to make the Third Liberty Loan the most notable success in financial history.

The Exchange therefore officially urges the patrons of its members and the public in general to invest every available dollar in Liberty Bonds. Any New York Stock Exchange house will co-operate with the investor in all possible ways; will see that his subscription is properly entered and cared for, and render, without charge, any service within the scope of its facilities.

A large majority of the members of the Exchange have also adopted a partial payment plan which will be of great aid to many investors, and the details of which will be explained upon application. Apply to any member of the N. Y. Stock Exchange for authoritative information as to Liberty Bonds and the terms of the Third Loan.

SENATE HOT ON TRAIL OF DISLOYALTY IN U. S.

Bill Provides Heavy Penalty for Spreading Pro-German Propaganda

Washington, April 12.—Congress is not done with legislation against the disloyals. Although within the last two days two important bills of this nature have been passed by the Senate, that body still has before it today drastic measures aimed at stamping out disloyalty.

The most important of these bills is an amendment to the espionage bill which is aimed to check propaganda inciting sabotage and disloyalty. This bill provides a penalty of five years in prison or $5000 fine or both, for any who engage in the distribution of any article that advocates, favors or teaches crime, sabotage, unlawful destruction of property or terrorism.

Another anti-espionage bill, which is before the Senate Judiciary Committee, is a bill to give the Federal Bureau of Investigation the power to investigate all persons who are in the United States.

SEIZURE OF SHIPPING DEFENDED IN HOLLAND

Menace of Germany Pointed Out in Remarkable Article by Dutch Writer

Washington, April 12.—Defending the requisitioning by the United States and Great Britain of Dutch merchant shipping, a remarkable article, published in Holland, has been received here in an official cable from The Hague.

"Under the title 'Protection of Small Nations,' Frederik Van Eden has written an article in the Weekly de Amsterdammer on the shipping question. He says the situation is best described in the following manner:

"A boy is threatened by a huge, dangerous monster, the German desire of expansion, excited by an unscrupulous military government. A couple of strong men venture to take up the struggle with that monster. They assure the boy of their sympathy. They understand his fears and determination to attack the wild beast himself, which would be a needless self-sacrifice. All they require of him is to stand aside and let them handle him."

"The struggle becomes more violent and the tension greater. It is a question of life and death and the boy becomes dangerously involved. He has a weapon still in his hands that would be of great service to the two men, but he does not dare give it up for fear of attracting the wild beast to himself. The men then say to him: 'Give us that weapon; the need presses.' It is perfectly comprehensible that the boy does not do so voluntarily. He must hold himself aloof, but that he

RISK CHARTER ATTACKED

Attorney General Says Old Insurance Concern Is Dormant

Harrisburg, April 12.—A writ of habeas corpus was granted by the Lancaster County court to the Lancaster County Board of Supervisors, to show cause why it should not be dissolved.

The company which has a charter granted by the Legislature more than fifty years ago, has not been active for many years. The late Samuel H. Frick, Deputy Auditor General, stated that the last treasurer's return was made in 1890.

Loyal, Not Hypocrites

Harrisburg, Pa., April 12.—The executive committee of the Pennsylvania German Society, composed of members whose ancestors came to this State before the revolution, met here and subscribed $1000 in Liberty Bonds.

Another anti-espionage bill, which is before the Senate Judiciary Committee, is a bill to give the Federal Bureau of Investigation the power to investigate all persons who are in the United States.

Smallpox Spreads in York County

York, Pa., April 12.—Two more cases of smallpox have been discovered in this county. The victims are the wife and daughter of a farmer living near York.

"The long-distance shells in general did little damage, but during the first few days the shells got on people's nerves because they arrived at regular intervals. As soon as the people ascertained the nature of the bombardment and the fact that it caused less damage than the new aerial torpedoes used by the Germans, the shelling was taken as a matter of course."

Killed by Protruding Timbers

Laston, Pa., April 12.—Henry J. Weaver, of Laston, an engineer on the Lehigh Valley Railroad, was instantly killed near Pottsville, when timber protruding from a freight car struck him.

"The long-distance shells in general did little damage, but during the first few days the shells got on people's nerves because they arrived at regular intervals. As soon as the people ascertained the nature of the bombardment and the fact that it caused less damage than the new aerial torpedoes used by the Germans, the shelling was taken as a matter of course."

RECEIVES CALL TO CAMDEN CHURCH

Gilshorse, N. J., April 12.—The Rev. R. Van Hook, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal Church here for the last two years, has been called to the pastorate of Tabernacle Methodist Episcopal Church, Camden, to succeed the Rev. John R. Mason, who becomes secretary-treasurer of the New Jersey Conference Centenary Fund.

"The long-distance shells in general did little damage, but during the first few days the shells got on people's nerves because they arrived at regular intervals. As soon as the people ascertained the nature of the bombardment and the fact that it caused less damage than the new aerial torpedoes used by the Germans, the shelling was taken as a matter of course."
