BOY SCOUTS ARRANGE WEEK LOAN CAMPAIGN

Troops Start Drive to Equal $2,000,000 Record With Parade April 27

Philadelphia Boy Scouts will celebrate their participation in the third Liberty Loan campaign by the observance of a Scout Day week. During this time, from April 25 to May 1, inclusive, the Scouts have to bring their total of fund sales to the $2,000,000 mark. That is the goal for the week. The Scouts expect to far exceed that amount.

One of the features of Scout Day week will be the participation of the boys in a big Liberty Loan parade that is planned for April 27. On this day, Philadelphia Scouts will be in the front line with all opportunities to see a parade of the Scout boys. They will be accompanied by the Philadelphia Police and the American flag to the boys' march. The parade will be in charge of their scoutmaster, George K. Keefe.

TUBERCULOSIS FOES PLAN AID FOR TROOPS

Philadelphia Committee Will Obtain Names and Help Soldier Victims

Service and relief in Philadelphia to members and prospective members of the army and navy who are found to be tuberculous has been arranged for under a plan just perfected by the Philadelphia committee of the Pennsylvania Society for the Prevention of Tuberculosis. Announcement of this plan was made today at the office of the committee in the Pennsylvania Building. The work has the approval of United States Surgeon General Goetz.

Under the plan the Philadelphia committee will receive names of all men in its district either drafted or already in training quarters and who have been rejected for service because of tuberculosis. Each individual case will receive the attention of a visiting nurse. The object will be to effect, if possible a permanent cure and to protect the soldier's health and neighbors from possible infection.

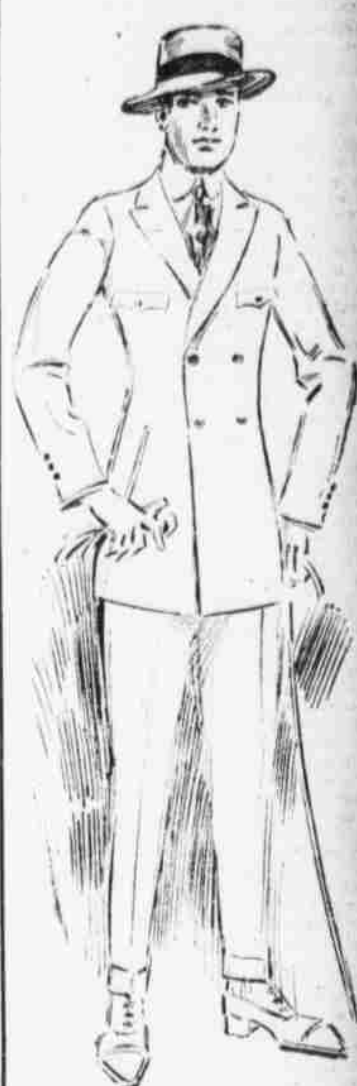

UNIVERSITY JOURNAL OPPOSES NICKNAMES

Gazette Decries Use of "Penn" and "Penny" for Pennsylvania

"Penn" and "Penny" as used with reference to the University of Pennsylvania are objected to in an editorial in the Pennsylvania Gazette, the weekly magazine of the university. The editorial is an attempt to discourage the use of the words. It says: "Perhaps we are over-sensitive on the point, but may we suggest for the benefit of our newspaper friends, and our alumni and students, that the name of this university is Pennsylvania? It is not 'Penn,' and it is not 'Penny.' We realize that on account of the length of the name, and because it owes its origin to William Penn, there is a great temptation to shorten it to 'Penn.' This appears with particular force to newspaper head writers who are obliged to compress much in a small space. Probably our own students and alumni have been influenced by this temptation to refer to their university. Let us insist, in referring to our university, upon its full, dignified name. If our students and alumni will always observe this themselves, we can count on the co-operation of the newspapers to do likewise."

VOTE REGISTRATION DRIVE OPENS IN CITY

Wednesday Only Day for Enrollment for Spring Primary

Today marks the first of a series of three-day drives to get all voters in the city registered on Wednesday for the spring primary election. Both the Pennsylvanian and the Evening Public Ledger are sponsoring the drive, which will be in charge of their respective editors, J. J. McHugh and J. J. McHugh.

Any person who does not change their registration from one party to another must also do it Wednesday. Independents are urged to register today. The registration drive will be from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. and from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m. The candidates to be voted for will be Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Secretary of Internal Affairs, all Congressmen, including four at-large, twenty-seven State Senators and all of the members of the House.

The party leaders estimate that about 152,000 persons who are eligible to vote did not vote at the election last fall. The effort of this year is to get as large a proportion of this vote registered as possible.

DENY SUBWAY WORK HAS HURT CITY HALL

Experts Differ With Datesman—Say Foundations Have Been Strengthened

Contractors and experts at work on subway construction under City Hall flatly deny Director Datesman's claim that danger has resulted to the buildings from excavations and declare that more solidity has resulted from the work. In speaking of the work, Joseph H. Louchheim, president of the Keystone State Construction Company, said: "Since the construction of the subway under the southwest foundations of City Hall the big structures more solidly supported than ever and there is no danger of injury to the building because of the operation of trains under it. The subway is now so well completed under the building and the foundation rests on bedrock, something which was not the case before the work was undertaken."

Although himself a member of the commission which made an investigation and signed a report favoring construction of the subway, Director Datesman a few days ago declared that the continuance of the work formed a menace to the building. The report was based partly upon the discovery of a number of cracks in the walls and in the brickwork of the interior of the building. The publication of his latest statement gave rise to much comment on the part of transit engineers.

POWER PLANT PLANS TO RECEIVE TRY-OUT

Scheme to Generate Electricity at Mines Nears Completion Following Conference

Plans to supply Philadelphia and other districts with electric power generated at the anthracite coal district have been announced following a conference in Washington of representatives of the Federal and Pennsylvania fuel administration, the War Department and power companies concerned.

It is estimated that this step will save 100,000 tons of coal annually. The first step is to be made at the power plant at Hazo, near Mauch Chunk. The company's plant at Altoona will be utilized for the same purpose. The lines will be run to Philadelphia and will be connected with the Philadelphia Electric Company. A cable will also be run to the Public Service Corporation of New Jersey.

Financing of the proposition has not been decided. The Government is said to be considering the proposition of raising a fund among the power companies concerned.

COAL OUTPUT RECORD BEATEN DESPITE WAR

March Banner Month With 7,276,777 Tons—Year's Increase 14 Per Cent

That March was the banner month in the history of the anthracite industry is indicated in the record of shipments as reported to the Anthracite Bureau of Information at Philadelphia. Shipments for last month amounted to 7,276,777 tons, an increase of 1,442,095 tons over February and of 287,792 tons over the corresponding month last year. They exceed by 165,827 tons the October, 1917, shipments, which, until now, represented the high-water mark in monthly shipments.

For the coal year ending with March, 1918, the total shipments were 77,752,315 tons, an increase of 9,915,126 tons, or more than 14 per cent over the preceding coal year. These increased shipments have been sent to market despite a labor shortage of about one-seventh of the normal working force in the mines. They indicate the success that has followed the efforts of the operators to maintain maximum production during the first year of the war.
