TO TELL OF ENEMY'S WAR-SAVINGS STAMP "PLEDGE WEEK" FIXED

Children, Postmen and Others to Solicit Buying Promises Beginning May 13

The week of Monday, May 13, to Saturday, May 18, has been announced by the war-savings committee as Piedge Week for war savings in the eastern district of Pennsyl-vania, and elaborate plans are being laid for an intensive house-to-house campaign. Thousands of franked postcards have been prepared and will be used by Boy Scouts, postmen, war-savings workers and others in ersonal solicitation to secure definite pledges for specified purchases of war-savings and thrift stamps during the remainder of the year. This plan, it is expected, will secure pledges during the Piedge Week for the entire year's quota of the war-savings loan. Secretaries of all war-savings societies will be urged to co-operate in securing definite pledges from members, and hundreds of additional volunteers have signified their inten-tion to aid in securing pledges. The reason for selecting May 13 to 18 is that it gives the people a little while to re-cover from the Liberty Loan campaign, but comes ahead of the Red Cross drive, which starts May 20. Nebraska, where Pledge Week was

In first instituted, the plan succeeded admirably In this State, before the attempt to make a house-to-house visitation for signed pledges which was done during March, the per capita for Nebraska from the beginning of the cam-paign to the end of February was $4.43, representing three months' work of the cam-paign. For the month of March, after the pledge card had been signed, the per capita aggregated $6.64, exceeding any results yet accomplished in the country. This increase was traced almost entirely through the pledge cards. Nebraska's per capita to the end of March was $11.07, the highest for any

State in the Union. A meeting of county chairmen will be held in Philadelphia the end of next week to discuss plans for Piedge Week. the general secretary then requested the Mayor to issue an appeal to all citizans to refrain from the sale and use of fireworks. In closing his letter to the Mayor the general secretary said :

"Not only is the safety of our children in-volved, but also compliance with such a re-quest would mean the conservation of a large amount of materials which is needed for other purposes at this particular time."

GIRL WAR WORKERS IN DRIVE FOR HELPERS

Spring Festival to Be Held in New York by Patriotic Service

League

New York, April 20 .- For the purpose of interesting girls in some form or other of war work the Girls Patriotic Service League, of 15 East Fortieth street, is arranging for a series of attractive gntertainments for girl war-workers. Miss Alice B. Beer, of the Vassar Alum-has been named head of the recreation department of the league and will have these affairs in charge. Miss Beer has been associated with amateur dramatics and pageantry since her college days, and has directed several large extravaganzas. She is a firm believer in the community drama. She has already arranged for several rallies, a spring festival and the presentation of a series of plays. More than 40,000 girls already have joined the league, which is a unit of the New York War Camp Community Service. The league emphasizes the importance of having every girl from schools, stores, factories and other ccupations engage in some form of war work Through the recreation program it is hoped to bring these girls into closer relations with the official organization.

SUPERB FINAL PROGRAM

Orchestra's Matinee Series Brought to a Brilliant Close at Academy

In the crescendo of exultant trumpet calls and fiery polyphonic climaxes superimposed in the finale to Tschalkowsky's fifth symphony Leopold Stokowski yesterday brought the season's matinee series of Philadelphia Orchestra concerts to a close. The fiftleth and last performance of the regular subscription cycle will be given tonight.

For this farewell pair of programs the director happily selected three numbers patent in popular appeal and at the same time calculated to display the splendor of the orchestra's artistry after a season of fruitful development. As at the opening concerts, no soloist diverted attention from the purely instrumental eloquence. The orchestra, playing with masterly co-ordination. assumed the true function of protagonist. The whole personnel, including the conductor, warranted recognition as a superb musical unit.

The Tschaikowsky symphony revealed this enviable authoritative quality in its highest estate. Mr. Stokowski seems temperamentally equipped to illumine the romanticism, the rich melodic virility and the spectacular instrumental devices of the most popular of Russian composers. He reveied in the sentinental and hauntingly tuneful interludes of the fifth symphony yesterday and read its detonating elimaxes with a dasaling sense of cmotional color. Oddly enough, almost the same virtues were called for in the exhibit of Lingt's very familiar but unstaled symphonic poen "Les Preiudes." The work was brilliantly given and the enthusiasm following its final chords amply justified. At this juncture Mr. Stokow-but was the recipient of a buge testimonis." emotional color. ski was the recipient of a huge testimonial wreath from the members of his orchestra, who sounded a spirited fanfare as he bowed in appreciation of the tribute.

The concert's opening number was a suite, including the overture, nocturne and scherzo, from Mendelssobn's ever charming and po-etic incidental music to "A Midsummer Night's Dream." The scherzo, in particular, was played with delicious gayety and a full appreciation of its graceful comedy con-tent. H. T. C. The concert's opening number was a suite.

The exhibition will remain at the Alliance until April 28, and is open daily to the public from 10 a. m. until 10 p. m. There is no charge for admission. Mrs. Butler has come to this city from New York, and is the house yuest of Mrs. Harold Crookes, 1339 Pine street.

CHAPTER XLUI

Facing the Truth

T HAS happened! So suddenly that I have not been able to catch my breath. Nor to think, I do not want to think. But I must. I have been staying on and on at Har-riet's. I've been making her a simple frack or so. And whe has been so delighted with my simple skill. Often in the afternosns I have strolled out on Lovers' Lane. out on Lovers' Lane. A pretty waik it is Bright-colored vines creen over the tumbling stone walls. A deserted lane, except for me —and Doctor Bixby. For in some way he learned that I walked there. Often in the afternoons he would chance by. Or so I thought. And I played my game. My game of— fattering him, laughing at him. listening to him, and, I am ashamed to say, leading bim on.
