MRS. R. H. BARLOW WINS GEIST CUP

Merion Star Turns in Card of 91 Over Overbrook Club Links

MISS CAVERLY SECOND

By WILLIAM H. EVANS

Overbrook, Pa., May 10.

Unless some woman golfer other than Mrs. Ronald H. Barlow wins the Clarence H. Geist cup next year Mr. Geist will have to put up another trophy for today at the Overbrook Golf Club, Mrs. Barlow, of the Merion Cricket Club, won the cup for the fifth successive year. Two years ago she won the first trophy outright and she now has two legs on the second cup. Her score follows:

Out	4	4	7	5	5	5	8	4	4—46
In	5	4	6	6	6	3	7	5	5—45—91

At the end of the first nine holes Miss Mildred Caverly, of the Philadelphia Cricket Club, lead the field with 41 strokes, with Mrs. G. H. Stetson, of Huntingdon Valley, a stroke away. Mrs. Barlow having a total of 46 strokes.

But of the two Mrs. Barlow was the only one to better her score. Miss Caverly finished with a total of 84. She had a very fine outgoing round and had it not been for a mowing machine on the short fourth where after a good drive she took three more strokes to reach the green she would have had a total of 41 and this would have tied her with Mrs. Barlow.

Miss Caverly was going well until the seventeenth. At the end of the sixteenth hole Miss Caverly was still one stroke under Mrs. Barlow. On the seventeenth Miss Caverly was bunkered and ended with a six. Mrs. Barlow had a four on the same hole, and this gave her a lead of a stroke.

Mrs. Barlow ended with a five. Miss Caverly's second was on top of a mound near the green. This gave her an awkward stance, which coupled with the long grass made it a very difficult shot, and she was just able to get out in the fairway. Her approach shot almost holed out, and two putts gave her a seven. Her card:

Out	3	4	7	5	5	3	6	5	5—41
In	5	4	7	5	6	3	7	6	7—50—91

Clarence H. Geist, who has spent somewhere in the neighborhood of a half million dollars in constructing the beautiful Sea View links at Absecon, with its marvelously appointed clubhouse, gave the Overbrook Golf Club a cup for medal play competition in 1914. It was to be won three times before it became the permanent property of the winner.

Has Won It Four Times

And the very first tournament was won by Mrs. Ronald H. Barlow, of the Merion Cricket Club, many times the champion of this city and twice runner-up in the national championship. And ever since then Mrs. Barlow has kept on winning. Mr. Geist gave another cup last year, and the very first name to be inscribed on it was Mrs. Barlow's.

While there were forty-eight entries as opposed to seventy-eight last year, the best women players in the city were among the contestants, the most conspicuous absentees being Mrs. Clarence H. Vanderbeck, the former national champion, who thus far this year has not appeared in competitive golf; Mrs. G. S. Munson and Miss Ethel Campbell, who won the Florida championship last winter.

Last year there were four big local events. In the first Miss Mildred Caverly, the national runner-up in the last competition, was the medal winner in the local championship. This final was won by Mrs. Caleb F. Fox, who beat Miss Eleanor Chandler in the final.

In the Berthelyn Cup match the medalist was Miss Elaine Rosenthal. The final was won by Mrs. Barlow, who beat Mrs. G. S. Munson, of the Merion Cricket Club. Mrs. Fox was the winner of the Mary Thayer Farnum trophy with a score of 184, Miss Caverly being second with 185.

The medalist in the Belle Stedman Burnu trophy was Mrs. G. H. Stetson, of Huntingdon Valley, who was beaten in the final match by Mrs. Barlow.

The summaries follow:

WHITTED AND DILLHOEFER ENLIST IN REGULAR ARMY

Phillie Players Will Remain With Team Until Draft Transfer Is Made in Washington—Expect to Leave in Two Weeks

By ROBERT W. MAXWELL

New York, May 10.

BEFORE the plunging Phils left this city of tears, sorrows and other sob stuff for far-off St. Louis, it was learned that two of the members of the stumbling ball club would not be among us after another week or so.

William (Pickles) Dillhoefer, the youthful catcher, who came here in the Alexander deal, and George Whitted have enlisted in the army and will report to Uncle Sam as soon as their transfer from the draft is arranged in Washington. In the meantime, they will remain with the club until notified to do their bit in the other game, where there are no box scores, no rules, no pennants—in fact, nothing at stake but their lives.

Enlisted in New York

"I enlisted a couple of days ago," said Dillhoefer, "and expect to be called at any minute. I didn't want to be taken in the draft because it would appear that I was forced to join the colors. I am happy to be able to say that I didn't take a job in a munitions factory or a shipyard or something that would make me exempt. I want to do my bit and the sooner the better."

Whitted had nothing to say, but he, too, is awaiting the call. It is possible that both players will be assigned to one of the camps in New York.

The loss of these athletes—especially Whitted—will be a severe blow to the team. Gawge is a wonderful player who is a quick thinker and is in the game every minute. He hits well and was one of Pat Moran's chief assistants. Whitted has not been in the line-up for the last three days and perhaps Pat is breaking in Fitzgerald in right and Cravath in left to get them accustomed to the positions when Whitted leaves. At present George is said to be suffering from a charley horse, but he is used as a pinch hitter.

Three Others May Go

Three other members of Moran's club are in class A-1 and may be called at any time. They are Snooks McGaffigan, who is playing such a good game at second base; Ben Tincup and Dixie Davis. The last named are pitchers and were expected to win many games this year. Davis has been ill since the training trip, but is rounding into shape and will be available for duty in another week—if he still is with the club.

"I am not saying I am sorry that the boys are going away," said Pat Moran, "but I surely will miss them. But the boys are going to do something bigger than they ever could accomplish on the ball field and I wish them every success. I am proud to have men on my ball club in the service of their country, and I know they will do their work well. Good luck to all of them."

Killefer Reports May 25

Another interesting piece of news was given out at the Polo Grounds yesterday by Johnny Evers, who dropped down from Troy to see the game. John says that Bill Killefer has been ordered to report to one of the training camps in Georgia on May 25. This will wipe out the $50,000 deal made by President Baker last winter and the only thing Weeghman will have to show for his money is Dode Paskert, who was not included in the deal but was traded for Cy Williams, who did not report.

The Phils performed in the same old way yesterday and lost the game in one inning when Mayer grooved the ball for five sluggers in a row. The result was a double, four singles and three runs, which were enough to win. The Moranmen are going good—there's no doubt about that—but they are going in the wrong direction. Today they are in the second division, but expect to do something tomorrow against St. Louis. That western trip looms up more important each day. If the Phils come back to earth and settle down long enough to win a few games all well and good. If not, farewell forever. They can't oust Boston from the cellar, but they'll get mighty close.

Giants Have Great Team

But one cannot speak harshly of the club because of the disaster on the Polo Grounds. The Giants are stronger than last year and the ball club is one of the best that ever have been in the National League. From Young to McCarthy the line-up is a slugging one and any man can bust up the ball game with a long clout. In addition to that they are getting all of the breaks and can be considered a very lucky aggregation. Of course this luck stuff is backed up by good playing, lots of ability and a strong punch, but it's there just the same.

Pat Moran admits it is one of the best ball clubs he ever has seen and other critics agree with him. The players are so good that they kept on winning games when Larry Doyle retired to the sidelines and the great second sacker apparently has not been missed.

Too Nervous—That's All

The trouble with the Phils now is that they have been in a slump, the players are worrying and trying their best to get back in form and win some games. The truth of the matter is they are trying too hard and are accomplishing nothing.

Tomorrow the home folks open in St. Louis with Joe Oeschger on the mound. They expect to get down to business and make up for their bum work in the last nine victoryless contests.

New Waiver Rule

New Haven, Conn., May 10.—A new waiver rule, designed to meet the shortage in experienced players, and to assist the weaker teams in building up their playing strength, was adopted at a special meeting here of the directors of the Eastern Baseball League.

The rule provides that each club must reduce to the player limit by June 1 and that any owner releasing a player must notify the other club owners forty-eight hours in advance of this action, in order to give them opportunity to obtain the man if they wish, the first application received being given the preference.

New Pitcher for Braves

Boston, May 10.—The Boston Braves today signed Allen F. Furman, who pitched last year for the University of Vermont. He is a left-hander and has been working out with the Braves for a week. Last summer, playing in a munitions league in Canada, he won nine out of ten games.

SECOND INNING

J. Collins singled to right. Murphy was greeted by his friends and as usual responded by fanning. McMullin walked. J. Collins and McMullin worked a double steal. Schalk struck out. On an attempt to steal home J. Collins was thrown out, Gregg to Perkins. No runs, one hit, no errors.

After Dugan had two strikes and one called ball, he was taken out and Shannon went up to bat for him. Shannon fanned. Perkins fouled to Schalk. Gregg flied to J. Collins. No runs, no hits, no errors.

EIGHTH INNING

Shannon now playing at short for the Athletics. Weaver singled to left. Davidson fell asleep and failed to cover first so Risberg's bunt went for a single. Jackson sacrificed. Burns to Davidson. J. Collins singled to center, scoring Weaver and Risberg, but was thrown out at second. Walker to Shannon. Murphy was out, Burns to Gregg. Two runs, three hits, no errors.

TWO DRILLS FOR YALE OARS TODAY

Penn Rivals Take First Trial Spins on Schuylkill Course

TO USE OWN SHELLS

The Yale oarsmen who will rival Penn in the annual aquatic struggle tomorrow afternoon will take two workouts on the Schuylkill today. Coach Abbott and his group of Eli huskies arrived in this city late yesterday, too late even for a twilight spin over the Henley course, and the New Haven aggregation confined their acquaintanceship with the mile and five-sixteenths lane to one day.

It was first announced that the Eli oarsmen would not send their shells here, but would use the craft belonging to the Undine Boat Club. However, these plans were upset somewhat when two shells were deposited yesterday at the Philadelphia Barge Club in care of Frank Holmes, who is the boathouse attendant at New Haven.

Coach Abbott announced that his men were in fairly good shape considering the fact that they have been handicapped in their training by lack of sufficient time to devote to the practices. The Blue oarsmen, who were supposed to be extremely light, are a husky lot, averaging 172 pounds, which is really heavy for the college crew in these war times, when most of the lefty material is in the ranks of Uncle Sam's forces.

Penn in Good Shape

The Penn men are in excellent shape for the event and are anxious for a chance to erase the defeat which was handed the Red and Blue last season on the Schuylkill course.

The Quakers took a workout yesterday and that too consisted only of a long spin without any brushing with the Junior eight. The fact that the Varsity is in excellent condition was evidenced on Wednesday when the first eight trimmed the much improved Juniors by six lengths over the regulation distance.

Fresh Runners Meet Cornell

At 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, the freshmen track team will oppose Jack Moakley's Cornell yearlings on Franklin Field. The events will be over in plenty of time to allow the spectators to go out to the river drive to view the crew races. The freshmen were also scheduled to play the Brown Prep nine on Franklin Field, but the game was canceled by the school management.

The Varsity baseball players left this morning from Ithaca, where they will play Cornell tomorrow. Walter Bernhardt will do the hurling for the Red and Blue.

The seating and statistics of the Yale crews follow:

SUNDAY AND OTHER STARS PLAY IN EXHIBITION GAME

Pfeffer, Mullane, Ryan and Stahl Among the Veterans in the Line-Up

Chicago, May 10.—Baseball stars of a former generation, many known only by reputation to present-day enthusiasts, met in battle again yesterday in a game staged despite the rain for several hundred Jackies from the Great Lakes naval training station.

Among the veterans were "Billy" Sunday, once the fastest sprinter in the National League; Fred Pfeffer, one of the greatest second basemen the game has known; "Tony" Mullane, who pitched for the Cincinnati Reds, and "Jimmy" Ryan, of the old Chicago Colts. Jake Stahl played first base and was the "youngest" of the aggregation.

The veterans were divided into two teams, the All-Nationals and the All-Americans. The Nationals won the game in the fourth inning, when, with the score 11 to 3, rain made the continuation of the contest impossible.

JACKSON LIKELY TO GO IN NEXT DR

On Tentative List to Be Called Between May 25 and June 1

Greenville, S. C., May 10.—Joe Jackson, slugging outfielder of the Chicago American League baseball club, who recently withdrawn from Class 4 of draft and placed in Class 1A on government agent's appeal, today was placed in the tentative list for the draft of men to be called between May 25 and June 1.

The local exemption board of Greenville, with whom Jackson was registered, today filed a telegram to him, in care of the Chicago club, notifying him to appear before the nearest board to be examined for the draft.

Jackson's order number with the local board is 846 and this number has been passed in the call for men for the new draft. If the famous slugger passes the physical examination he will in all probability be called in this draft, it was announced by the chief clerk of the local board this afternoon. Jackson was originally placed in Class 4 on the ground of dependency, his wife being named in the questionnaire as dependent upon him for support.
