ABSENCE OF NEW CORPORATE SECURITIES FROM MARKET ONE REASON FOR HIGH PRICES

Many Brokers Believe Western Buying Is Responsible for Recent Activity on Exchange—Gossip of the Street

ONE of the most important factors in the recent advance in prices of virtually the entire list on the stock market, and one which is most frequently overlooked in trying to find satisfactory reasons for present market conditions, is that virtually no supply of new corporate securities has been created to meet the heavy investment demands. Add to this the generally accepted opinion that previous to the recent rise the market was literally "sold out," and there is no occasion to go further to look for reasons which will explain.

Some brokers say the market is controlled from Washington and that the word went out following the close of the Liberty Loan campaign that it would be safe to allow an improvement in some of the old and tested securities and that the order was carried out. There are not many who give much credence to this report and say that the recent activity was due almost altogether to western buying. A well-known broker who holds the latter impression remarked on Saturday that the present market will probably keep pretty much as it has been for the last two weeks for two or three weeks to come. His belief is that the public is not in the market as yet, but if his prediction is correct it will come trooping in a couple of weeks.

On the whole, week-end war and political news from Europe was favorable. The Allies seemed to be more than holding their own. The Germans seemed unable to make any headway. The news of Lloyd George's triumph in Parliament was confirmed in detail, and the only note of pessimism from England was perhaps the reference by Lord Curzon as to the possibility of the British army being compelled to retreat still further. This speech, however, was either overlooked or had no effect on the market whatever.

The comment in the financial district in reference to the big ordnance plant which is to be erected by the United States Steel Corporation for the Government continues to be very favorable. As one banker remarked, while the profits from such a plant cannot possibly figure in the corporation's earnings for a long time to come and, therefore, cannot possibly have any bearing on Steel stock prices, the revolutionary change that this indicates as having taken place between the Government and "big business" cannot fail to have its effect sooner or later on many corporate stocks which are now selling away below their intrinsic values.

Bondmen stated on Saturday that they were agreeably surprised at the manner in which the bond market has conducted itself since the closing of the Liberty Loan campaign. The demand for virtually all issues appears to be increasing daily, and prices as a result have climbed to higher levels than those obtaining in the last several months. There is said to have been quiet accumulation of railway equipment issues, Illinois Central 6s, which are now on a 5 1/2 per cent basis, being regarded with favor, and the New York Central 4 1/2s, which are now on a 6 per cent basis, are well regarded.

One of the most striking and significant features in the bond market recently has been the pronounced strength and activity in the foreign Government bonds, particularly the Anglo-French 5s, which are now quoted at 91 1/2, or substantially above the lower quotations of the present year. The 4 1/2s of 1916 were traded in at 91 as against 87 1/2 on April 25 last. There are no offerings in the market, with a demand for substantial blocks at around the current level of quotations. Railroad bonds are now in greater favor and the indications are that they will again come to their own in the bond market, as recently there has been rather good buying of numerous high-grade issues showing a liberal return on the investment.

Gradually the short-term note market is assuming wider proportions, the turnover showing improvement on each succeeding day. There has been a larger inquiry for notes and prices, although not materially changed during the week, have shown a tendency to advance and a more hopeful feeling is entertained in the trade. Confidence is expressed in the outlook, particularly as it is a foregone conclusion that there will be only moderate amounts of fresh offerings during the current year.

It had been expected that one or two small issues of short-term notes would be offered for public subscription last week, but there were certain elements in the situation which prevented such a departure.

There has always existed a feeling in financial circles since the first Liberty Bond campaign that with such a large increase in the number of bond owners in the country, who never owned a bond before and who had not even then realized just what a United States Government bond meant, there would naturally be a number who would become the prey of unscrupulous promoters of bogus or semi-bogus securities, who on a decline of the Liberty Bonds from par would take advantage of the situation to promote dissatisfaction among the more ignorant of the Liberty Bond owners and induce them to exchange their bonds for worthless securities on which a larger return was promised. That there has been quite a good deal of this sort of business is beyond doubt, but those engaged in it are smart enough not to be caught. If this danger was acute after the first Liberty Loan campaign, how much more so must it be now when it is believed the number of actual holders of Liberty Bonds in the country has been increased to about 20,000,000?

To an extent the sinking fund provision of the third Liberty Loan will take care of such cases where a decline in price is the argument urged in order to convince the unsuspecting he should part with his bonds. So far as we are aware no public action has been taken to guard against this familiar form of fraud, and the only protection the holders of Liberty Bonds have in such cases is where they are wise enough to consult a reliable banker or broker before making any change.

Recognizing the seriousness of this condition, the Investment Registry of America, Inc., with offices in the Morris Building, this city, has addressed a letter to virtually every firm in the city whose employees have subscribed to Liberty Bonds offering their service gratis to any who may be considering a change for their Liberty Bonds for any reason. This firm's business is the investigation of securities.

The letter follows: "You and your employes have shown so much loyalty and generosity in the last Liberty Loan that I think some safeguard should be provided to prevent loss, particularly to your employes, by the sale of the Government bonds to buy other, probably very questionable, securities. "You know that any man who once buys bonds becomes a better member of the community and starts the habit of saving, but the low rate of interest in the Liberty Loans as against high returns promised on other securities may prove very tempting to a person who cannot distinguish between good and bad.

"Our business is to analyze actual worth and value in securities, and this letter is to offer to you our facilities to investigate any offer made to you or any of your employes to exchange the Liberty Bonds for any other securities and give you an unbiased opinion as to the merit of the securities offered, free of any cost to you or them.

"It will give you no trouble to take this care of your people. A simple posted notice that any offers of exchange will be investigated, without charge, on request, will be sufficient. Then all you do is to give us the names of the securities; we will analyze and report to you in writing.

"We make this offer feeling sure that many thousands of dollars will be lost in the next few years by persons who cannot get accurate information trading their securities. As a slight return for your hard work and generosity, we wish to help your people to avoid such losses. Yours very truly, INVESTMENT REGISTRY OF AMERICA, INC."
