OPPOSED BY WOMEN

Association of Mothers Oppens Campaign Against Propaganda for Polygamy

A drive through religious, social and political agencies against the German propaganda urging polygamy has been started by a committee of men and women representing all thirty great organizations of the country. They were called together by the National Association of Mothers and the Parent-Teacher Association at the home of Mrs. Jones Walter, 1819 Walnut street.

"The moral battle which we must fight with Germany is quite as great as the physical battle," said Mrs. Frederic Schell, president of the National Congress of Mothers, today. "There is an effort to lower the standard of marriage even in our own country."

James S. McLean, who represents the National Reform Association here, declared that as long as this country respects on its soil the polygamous sect we can't expect to teach a lesson to other nations.

"The Germans are responsible for the conditions in Germany," he said. "They are over there, thousands strong, and have the support of the German Government in their work. If we do not act soon all signs of restoring a life to the country prohibiting polygamy will be gone. For the Germans have now over twenty-six members of our Senate, and only two more are needed to carry through any bill to nullify their teachings of the ease of the earth."

In this country today the Mormon Church has delegates making both-to-day canvases and sending its literature through mail, ready to go to work to take at least four wives. It must be stopped.

Some of the organizations represented in the campaign are the National League for Women's Service, National League for College Women, National Congress for Mothers, National Council of Jewish Women, Women's Christian Temperance Union, Branch Association of the National Educational Association and National Educational Association.

CLOUD POST AIRPLANE

ARRIVES ON AUTOTRUCK

Battered Machine is Conveyed From Bridgeton to Battleton "Hospital" for Repairs

With its wings badly battered and framework broken, one of Uncle Sam's aerial mail cars arrived here today on a motortruck from Bridgeton, N. J. The car fell there yesterday while on the way from New York to Washington.

Lieutenant Bonnell, the pilot, lost his course and the machine was damaged in making a landing.

The lieutenant got in touch with Philadelphia's aerial post office at Battleton and the assistant aero postmaster there sent the truck to Bridgeton to bring the damaged plane here.

There is an emergency repair force at Battleton and the plane will be put in shape there to continue the trip to Washington.

The New York-Philadelphia-Washington aerial mail service will continue today according to schedule. It is believed that when the flying postmen get their bearings better, there will be no further difficulty in carrying out the mail service.

1400 CONVICTS: ONE MAID

Lone Woman to Have Position at Sing Sing

New York, May 17.—Sing Sing is to employ a lone woman. She will be the only one among 1400 men, including prisoners and attendants. Provision was made in the new appropriation bill for a maid for Warden William W. Warden.

Sing Sing has had but one woman stationed there before. Miss Mattie Toosa was switchboard operator for three weeks when 42 W. Warden was warden, but tired of so many men looking at her, she declared, and quit.

KINKS SOLDIERS SOCKS

To Knit 'em Right, but Not to Knot, Warns Red Cross

Sister Susie's knitting socks for soldiers might well be the latest edition of the most popular folk song of America, for femininity played on two knitting needles and a ball of yarn, according to reports from the American Front. While the boys "over there" appreciate the efforts of the four and five sisters in knitting socks for soldiers, they do not appreciate knitting socks while knitting them.

As a result of socks being received in the trenches now which have a knot in the foot, where the last knot was taken and the yarn tied to hold it in place, many of the soldiers are complaining of sore feet.

The woman's division of the Red Cross warns all knitters against finishing socks in this manner, because of the danger the soldiers face of getting a sore foot, poisoning from dirt and mud.

Socks appreciated, but knots not, reads a sign in one of the trenches.

WAR CHEST PROGRAM

NEARING COMPLETION

Final Plans for Great Drive to Be Made at Meeting Today

Final preparations for the war chest drive, May 20 to 27, will be made by the central district team at a meeting in the Strawbridge & Clothier store this afternoon. More than 500 persons are expected to attend the central drive.

The national festival to be held at Franklin Field, Sunday afternoon, May 19 at 4 o'clock, will be one of the largest patriotic demonstrations ever staged in Philadelphia.

Three hundred musicians under the leadership of Leopold Stokowski will play in the Philadelphia Orchestra in the afternoon. The program will feature the national anthem, a feature of the national act and associations that will benefit through the War Chest will be staged by the four-minute men of the committee of public safety of Pennsylvania.

Red Cross campaign, Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. representatives, Knights of Columbus, Salvation Army members and Boy Scouts will "symbolize the War Chest beneficiaries."

The Philadelphia team will hold an important meeting in the Broadway Theatre Sunday afternoon at 7 o'clock. Judge John M. Patterson will preside and will give an important address on the duties of the citizens of the city in the interest of the War Chest.

The executive committee of the War Chest has decided that the first of the admission will be issued for the opening concert and festival at Franklin Field. The public is asked to attend.

$183,000 Already Pledged

Including the pledge of $200,000 from citizens of Merion, received last week, the War Chest has received $183,000 for the war chest already. This may be announced following the action of the directors of the Commercial Trust Company in authorizing a contribution of $25,000. The Central Trust Company followed suit with a contribution of $20,000 and the Philadelphia & Reading Trust Company a contribution of $10,000.

Original Organization Inactive

The original War Chest organization is active and intact in Philadelphia," Mr. Miller said, "and we have many more names, including the women of the population joined in the drive. The fact is that any community taking on the War Chest idea will not be without it. And I predict that in the way your community will feel about it when the drive is completed."

"A great many of your people are going to make up their minds about the monthly payments into your chest just as our people did," he said. "You are not only for about eight times as much money as we asked for, but you have about ten times as many people to call upon."

Members of the Art Club declined to discuss their house rules. A few moments after the meeting in Mr. Taff's room the city Club announced that it would be thrown open for delegates for the remainder of the convention, which comes to an end tonight.

BISHOP BERRY GIVES

SCOTT INDORSEMENT

Supports Candidacy Because of Stand Taken on Prohibition Issue

Bishop Berry, head of the Philadelphia Methodist Conference, endorsed the candidacy of Representative John B. Scott for the lieutenant governorship. He has issued a public statement, in which he urges the nomination of Scott against Senator Hollinger, the Democratic candidate, who he says, "has for years been the recognized representative of the temperance cause."

Identified with the temperance cause and has stood as a criminal lawyer and his abolitionism to some of our temperance people," says the Bishop in his statement.

"But he has given his definite pledge that should he be elected he will, as presiding officer of the Senate, see to it that the prohibition amendment shall have an absolutely fair trial, with good measures therefor. Although Mr. Scott's record is not satisfactory to some, the definite pledge he has given us regarding the interests of the prohibition cause is what in the absence of other candidates Mr. Scott rather than Mr. Hollinger should be nominated."

Mr. Berry's endorsement is in favor of the nomination of the prohibition amendment to the State, as far as the issue of the prohibition amendment is concerned. The endorsement is not intended to be construed as a recommendation of Mr. Scott for the lieutenant governorship.

Shipbuilders to Get Homes in Haddon Township, Council Is Told

Camden City Council has decided to act favorably on the ordinance providing for the generation of the territory in Haddon township where 1000 houses are to be built for shipbuilders under supervision of the Federal Government.

Mayor Ellis told the members of Council what he had learned of the Government's intention. He said that when the proposition was advanced to the officials of Haddon township in the Government they found that the township would be unable to meet the requirements. Then he got in touch with Charles Pezz, vice president of the Emergency Fleet Corporation, which has the houses to be built, and that he had secured the Government representatives here for the site of Camden street over-land to aid the Government in any manner in its war preparations, and could be depended upon to be on the job.

Wallace Benedict, who is directing the construction project, said it was proposed to erect in 1918 houses for the site of red brick, at an estimated cost of $1,000 each and will be built in pairs, four and in groups of five.
