

WAR CHEST FUND Industrial Plants Report Many 100 Per Cent Subscriptions $9,000,000 YET SOUGHT Kensington Contributions Add Considerably to Day's Reported Receipts

Closing hours of the first week of the War Chest campaign today saw large subscriptions coming in from many industrial plants and business houses, most of them 100 per cent donations...

Four of the largest subscriptions reported this morning added $1,700,000 to the War Chest fund, as follows: Atlantic Refining Company, $36,000; Philadelphia Electric Company, $50,000; American Stores Company, $12,000; and S. S. White Dental Company, $10,000.

Of a total of 468 employees on the payroll of N. Snelbenberg & Co. 4531 have already subscribed $76,000 to the War Chest.

Business houses listed to the 100 per cent list for employers and employees were: Farmers and Mechanics National Bank; George W. Jacobs & Co. 1623 Chestnut street; Dental Company of America; Edward Hagerman, 635 S. 22nd street; J. P. Stroh, 218 Market street; Patterson & White, 1617 Broad street; Drexel & Co., A. H. John H. Mason, president of the Commercial Trust Company, who obtained the first War Chest subscription made by any other institution, has secured other subscriptions from waiters in Broad Street Station today. These men, who, according to Mr. Mason, receive only about $1.00 a week, have agreed to give from $12 to $14 a year to the War Chest. They were John F. Fisher, William Corbett, Edward Wilson and Aloysius...

Following is the list of today's contributors to the War Chest in the Kensington district. One of the features of the contributions in the Kensington district was a $6000 contribution from Samuel Bell, Jr., who is confined to a bed in the Kensington Hospital.

- McCahey Pie Company, $3,000; P. A. Beckman & Co., $2,000; General Pressed Metal Company, $1,200; The Hero Manufacturing Company, $1,000; Marshall Bros., $500; Kensington National Bank, $500; Drelling Bros. & Co., $500; Robert W. Lee, $200; Duplicating Press & Co., $200; John H. Stetson, $100; William Cramp & Sons officials and employees, $25,000; John H. Stetson Company, $10,000; Charles W. Vaughn, $10,000; C. New Phase is Opened The drive, originally intended to end tonight, with the total Philadelphia has reached the $20,000,000 minimum. A new phase of the campaign to fill the War Chest opened today. Five thousand workers were given free rein in obtaining subscriptions. Even through you have subscribed once, you may be asked to subscribe again.

Heretick Thrills Mass-Meeting "America must rid itself of spies and pro-German sympathizers in its midst, and the only way to do that is to place them with their backs to the wall before a firing squad."

Myron T. Herriek, former ambassador to France, brought to its feet an audience of 8000 persons in the Metropolitan Opera House last night when he spoke for War Chest contributions. His words stirred the audience as he continued: "Yes, they should be shot as an example and to save the lives of our boys at the front."

The meeting resolved itself into a great patriotic demonstration. An overflow of several thousand persons, who rallied to get into the Metropolitan Opera House, assembled in Moore Hall, Broad and Master streets, where the same speaker was invited to give the closing address. The parade will be unique in many respects, being an exhibition of the different phases of ship construction from the moment the keel is laid to the time when full rigging and equipment grace the decks.

One thing the War Chest workers are impressing on the public: That the right of campaign will last until the money needed to fill the War Chest is forthcoming. The campaign will not suffer a let-up through any lack of interest because the first week drive is ended.

Stilles Honest Criticism Referring to his editorial in the Kansas City Star, Mr. T. S. Scobee, a member of the "Personal File," to which he has referred in his editorial, said in a postmaster General Burleson took exception the following day in a statement, Kansas City Star.

Says Wilson is Responsible Roosevelt puts the actions of Burleson, Creel and Secretary Baker squarely up to the President. "The speaking of Mr. Burleson particularly," he explains, "but of the Administration of which he is a part; of the President who servant he is; of the deal with Mr. Burleson and his action; purely because he is a representative of President Wilson, exactly as is Secretary Baker, exactly as is Mr. Creel. President Wilson is responsible for everything. Postmaster General Burleson and Secretary Baker and Mr. Creel do or leave undone."

ALLIES LEAVING UPON AMERICA Military Men Thus Interpret Premier Lloyd George's Speech

The Allies are leaving wholly on America at this moment to fill the gaps of the March drive and to furnish replacements for the coming new smash American military men placed this interpretation today on Lloyd George's speech wherein he declared America's contribution thus far had not been one-fifth the fighting force Germany gained by Russia's collapse.

Some news saw in Lloyd George's remarks an effort to further stir American opinion. It is suggested that the nation is doing its utmost to reach the peak of shipments. At the same time those who have long been clamoring for more American troops to cross their man-power efforts along with this nation say the need for men is so convincingly shown by Lloyd George's speech that the country's American divisions are so composed that a single one can relieve two French divisions.

Mr. Burleson and the Administration of which he is a part are so devoid of justification for their action and inaction that they are responsible in the matter. Mr. Burleson's position among the Administration and advisers is so prominent, and the action in connection with reinstating him in his public privileges was so purely dependent upon the President, that Mr. Burleson is not subordinate to the President on any subject.
