

JUST GOSSIP ABOUT PEOPLE

Miss Miriam Clark Kane Will Speak at Independence Square Red Cross on Monday—Interesting Wedding to Take Place in New York

MISS MIRIAM CLARK KANE, who has a great deal to tell of the work she did "over there" among the French wounded and the tubercular patients of France, will talk to the workers at the Independence Square, Auxiliary of the American Red Cross, at 608 Chestnut street, next Monday at 3 o'clock.

For much our men need our work just as much whether it's hot or whether it's cold? They have to fight and strain and suffer whether it's hot as fire or cold as ice.

So the auxiliaries in most places will remain open, and every one who can will work through the summer as well as the rest of the year.

Miss Kane has a splendid collection of posters gathered during her stay abroad, and she will show them on Monday.

Among the posters is one by Raemaker and another by Bainsfather. There is also an autograph copy of the proclamation of the execution of Edith Cavell. Won't it be interesting to see them?

Miss Kane came back to this country direct from her work at the Lighthouse in Paris and from nursing at the English Hospital for French Wounded at Nevers. And she wears her stunning costume of pink and white striped linen, just like the gowns worn by the nurses at that hospital, when she tells of her work there.

An interesting wedding is to take place in Morristown on the first of July. And though the principals are neither of them Philadelphians, they are both related to Philadelphians, and it is expected that a number of people from this city will attend the solemnization of the marriage.

The bride-to-be is Della Francklyn, a daughter of the late Reginald Francklyn and Mrs. Francklyn, of New York, and granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Louis B. Binsse, of that city.

The bridegroom-to-be is J. Dykes Nichols, son of Mrs. R. C. Nichols, of New York, and nephew of Mrs. James Francis Sullivan, of this city, who it will be remembered was Miss Lulu Nichols.

Della Francklyn has lived a great part of her life in Switzerland, where her mother, who was Miss Agnes Binsse, went with her four children after the death of her husband. The son, Reginald Francklyn, Jr., and daughter Della returned to America some years ago, and have been living with their uncle, Mr. Louis E. Binsse and Mr. Charles W. Binsse, in Morristown, N. J. Reggy is now in the service, and young Nichols is studying in an aviation camp.

Agnes Francklyn, a younger sister, was made a professor of science in a Swiss college at the age of twenty-one, just before the war, but she resigned later to enter war work in France. Giles, the other brother, did excellent work in the American Ambulance Corps before our entry into the war, but now is in the artillery "over there."

It is wonderful if you go into each family how many are engaged in war work if not actually in the service. Whole families working for the great cause.

It makes one very sad to know the heartaches that are all about one. But back of it all is the indomitable spirit of right, which wins no matter what the cost. Men must fight and women must work and weep, but this is no time for weeping; it's time for courage and strength of will. That's the woman of today—"Strong to suffer, strong to endure."

And the outcome will be worth the suffering. Don't forget that.

EVERY week there's some kind of a rapid-fire wedding just after some engaged man gets his sailing orders. I heard of an awfully funny one the other day. It didn't happen here, but the girl is awfully well known here and her sister lives here. Well, anyhow, she was in the South, where she lives, and got a sudden telegram, not that telegrams are ever anything else, but this was sudden. It said that she would have to be in a certain city more or less north by the following day to be married the day after that, and it was signed by the man she was engaged to. So she packed up and left, arriving much excited and with no idea of where, when or by whom she was to be married. Fortunately she had relatives in town and could stay with them. Fiance—he is a lieutenant in the United States navy, by the way—corralled some navy men to act as best man and ushers and things and they found a church and clergyman. The bride invited some people by telephone.

Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Cloncin entertained at their home on Saturday evening. Among the guests were Miss Lena Cook, Miss Melia La Battles, Mrs. Ray Mariniello, Mr. William Crescent and Mr. Frank Dadaro.

Mr. and Mrs. John G. Bullock, of Greene street, Germantown, left on Monday for the Poconos, where they will spend the summer.

Mr. William Brown has received word that his son, Mr. Stephen Brown, who is with the engineer corps, has arrived safely in France.

Sergeant Haviland Wright, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. Howard Wright, is spending a few days in Lansdowne before going to West Point. Sergeant Wright was formerly stationed at Camp Hancock, Ga.

86 TO BE GRADUATED FROM TRADES SCHOOL

Annual Commencement Exercises in William Penn High Auditorium Tonight

The annual commencement exercises of the Philadelphia Trades School will be held in the auditorium of the William Penn High School, Fifteenth and Wallace streets, tonight at 8 o'clock.

The prizes for high scholastic averages are provided from a fund endowed by the late Murrell Dobbins, through whose efforts and urging when he was a member of the Board of Education the Trades School—the first of the kind in the United States—was established in 1906.

The scholastic prize-winners this year are: Herbert Harper, first; Alfred H. King, second; Dirk A. Dedell, third; Harry J. Miller, fourth; C. Vernon Hallman, fifth; Saul Barlow, sixth. The first prize is a gold watch, the second a gold watch and the third a gold watch chain.

William ("Buck") Hanratty, of Interscholastic baseball fame, will receive the Pioneer class prize, a gold watch and chain, presented to the best all-round athlete. He is playing professional baseball with the Hagerstown team of the Blue Ridge Mountain League.

Harry Woelfel will receive the master plumbers' prize for scholarship in the evening plumbing class course. Albert Poulton will receive the Richard H. Watson prize for best attendance in the evening plumbing course.

One of the graduates of the February class, C. Vernon Hallman, 50 North Fifty-first street, is now in France as a member of an engineer corps. His diploma will be presented to a member of his family.

Hallman graduated in the mechanical drafting department and enlisted immediately.

The graduates are:

- CLASS OF FEBRUARY, 1918—DAY SCHOOL. Frank Brader, William H. Brown, Edward Erik, Alfred H. King, Paul H. Leachman, Ellis A. Clark, Jr., Dirk A. Dedell, Vernon Hallman, Russell W. Engagements Announced

An interesting engagement announced today is that of Miss Phoebe McKean Downs, daughter of Mrs. Norton Downs, of Fordhook Park, Three Tuns, to Mr. Joseph Weir Sargent, of New Haven, Conn. Miss Downs is a sister of Mrs. Rowland Evans, Jr., Mr. T. McKean Downs, and Mr. Norton Downs.

Another engagement of interest here and in New York, is that of Miss Cecelia Higgins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil S. Higgins, of New York, and Mr. Andre Kabachnikoff, of Russia. Miss Higgins is a niece of Mrs. Edward Dale Toland and Miss Julia Rush of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Terence Skinner Allen, of Derby, Conn., announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss May Emily Allen, to Mr. William W. Kiefer, 2d son of Mr. and Mrs. William Baird Kiefer, of 241 South Twenty-third street. Miss Allen is an alumna of Smith College and is a daughter of the Government in the capacity of engineer, while the entire freshman class in civil engineering is now engaged by the surveying department of various railroads. The students of the chemical courses are also doing their bit. Nearly all have accepted positions with local chemical manufacturers.

The Hon. Rev. Monsignor Kieran will preside at the exercises and the orator will be the Rev. Monsignor Kieran, who is a former Congressman, J. Washington Logan, class of '73.

Degrees of bachelor of science in engineering will be given to four members of the senior class. Two certificates of proficiency will be granted, twenty-six members of the high school department will receive diplomas and ten will be graduated from the commercial department.

A luncheon was given at the Twentieth Century Club yesterday. It was a community affair and was given under the direction of the Delaware County committee of the Council of National Defense. A delicious menu was served, including several dishes with cottage cheese. In fact, the real purpose of the luncheon was to demonstrate to the women who attended it what could be done with cottage cheese. This is one of the articles which the food administration has asked the housewife to use. Recipes for the dishes prepared with cottage cheese were given to those who wished them. Three of the new breads were also served at the luncheon. Among them was the Allied bread, which contains 49 per cent when and 60 per cent substitutes. These breads were also for sale.

Among those present were Mrs. Theodore Evans, Mrs. Robert Downing Taylor, Mrs. William O. Hempstead, Jr., Mrs. Scott, Mrs. Frank M. Longstreth, Mrs. Wright, Mrs. William Davis, Mrs. Isaac H. Brooks, Mrs. A. R. Lacey, Mrs. Edward J. McGlinley, Mrs. Edward C. Kirk, Mrs. Belfrey, Mrs. Mitchell, Mrs. A. L. Pennington, Mrs. Samuel R. Tennock, Mrs. Isaac T. LA SALLE CLOSING EXERCISES TONIGHT

Forty-two to Receive Diplomas and Certificates—All Senior Engineering Class in Service

The fifty-fifth annual commencement exercises of La Salle College will be held this evening in the Broad Street Theatre. For the first time in the history of the institution, the degree of bachelor of science in civil engineering will be granted.

Forty-two members of the various departments will receive diplomas and certificates. This is the largest number ever graduated from La Salle in one year.

A noteworthy feature is that every member of the senior class of the engineering department has entered the service of the Government in the capacity of engineer, while the entire freshman class in civil engineering is now engaged by the surveying department of various railroads.

The Hon. Rev. Monsignor Kieran will preside at the exercises and the orator will be the Rev. Monsignor Kieran, who is a former Congressman, J. Washington Logan, class of '73.

TO BE MARRIED BY NAVY YARD CHAPLAIN

Wedding of Miss Owens and Mr. Barnard Will Take Place Tonight

The marriage of Miss Emilie Eleanor Owens, daughter of Captain Arthur Burnet Owens, T. S. M. C., and Mrs. Owens, and Mr. J. Chandler Barnard, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Barnard, of Bryn Mawr, will take place this evening at 6 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents in the navy yard.

The ceremony will be performed by the Rev. Curtis H. Dickins, chaplain of the yard. The bride, who will be given in marriage by her father, will be attended by Miss Alice Davidson, of Augusta, Ga., as maid of honor, and her bridesmaids will be Miss Esther Bancroft, of Wilmington, Del.; Miss Hortense Hedger, of Portsmouth, Va., and Miss Anna E. Barnard, sister of the bridegroom, and there will be no ushers.

The bride will wear a gown of white satin and duchesse lace, made without long train, with a cluster of orange blossoms at the waist. Her tulle veil will be edged with lace and held in with a coronet of orange blossoms. She will carry white roses and lilies-of-the-valley. The maid of honor will wear blue georgette crepe, trimmed with silver ribbon and rosebuds, and will carry an arm bouquet of sweet peas. The bridesmaids will wear pink crepe de chine, trimmed with white ribbon and roses, and will carry sweet peas. Miss Margaret Eugenia Nelson, niece of the bride, who will be flower girl, will wear a white net dress trimmed with lace and pink ribbons. She will wear a pink ribbon and carry a basket of sweet peas.

The wedding will be followed by a reception at the barracks at 8 o'clock.

Another dance will be given at the Twentieth Century Club on Saturday evening, June 22. The members of the Phi Epsilon Sorority of the Lansdowne High School are giving this one, and proceeds will be devoted to some charity. Among those who belong to the sorority are Miss Katharine Wilson, Miss Audrey Phillips, Miss Mildred Davenport, Miss Olive Palmer, Miss Ida Galbraith, Miss Helen Adler, Miss Alice Kelley, Miss Janet Kroll, Miss Mildred Davenport, Miss Dorothy Smythe, Miss Dorothy Scarborough, Miss Helen Devlin, Miss Audrey Bedford, Miss Clara Davis, Miss Elizabeth Almy, Miss Grace Lippinott, Miss Frances Schreiner, Mrs. Riddle Young, Miss Mary Craig and Miss Evelyn Foley.
