

Evening Public Ledger

Philadelphia, Saturday, June 15, 1918

THE AMERICA OF TODAY IS A NATION DEDICATED TO THE SUCCESSFUL PROSECUTION OF THE WAR

YOUTHFUL FRANCE bids farewell to young America on the way to the trenches in defense of our sister republic.
Committee on Public Information

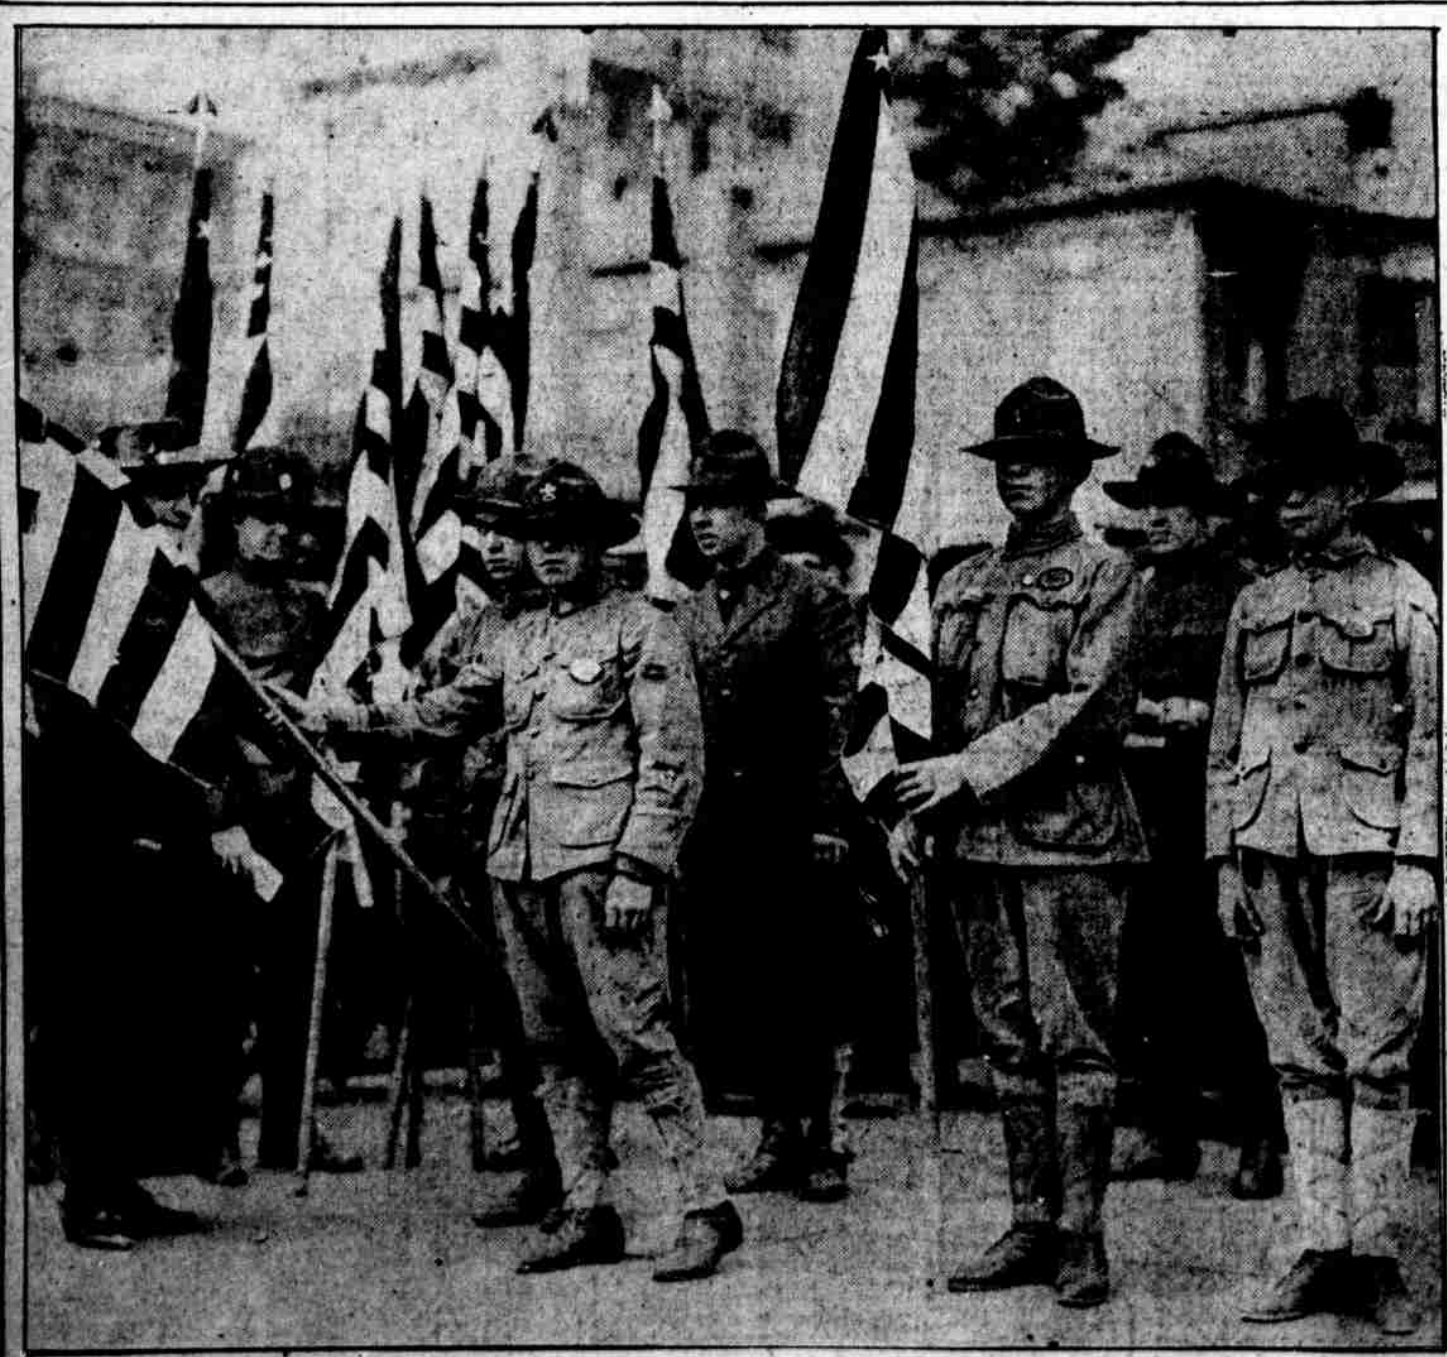

INDUSTRIAL AMERICA sends its envoys of steel to France with the mission of transporting to the embattled Allies the vital supplies which, together with valor, will not keep victory long in abeyance.
Committee on Public Information

IN SO MANY HELPFUL ways America has responded to France's cry of anguish, not least among them in the merciful mission of our Red Cross service, as witness the accompanying photographs. The scene to the left is an operation in the field, within the shelter of an American ambulance, such as that shown above.
French Victorial Press

"WOMAN'S PLACE is in the home"—or, even better, behind the first-line trenches, baking pies for soldiers. Meet one of our Salvation Army lassies, a-helmeted in her outdoor kitchen.
Committee on Public Information

PRESENTATION OF FLAGS to representatives of Troops One and Two, composed of Boy Scouts in the Hog Island service. Mrs. Thomas Pottor, Jr., is making the presentations in front of Independence Hall.

MISS COLUMBIA AND UNCLE SAM attended the Flag Day exercises late yesterday in front of the Betsy Ross House. Pauline and Harry Bears, of the McCall School, made the representations.

THE CLEAR-CUT TYPE of American aviators making names for themselves in France suggests itself in a photograph of Lieutenant A. J. Wittenberg, a Philadelphia flyer, whose home is at 6040 Chestnut street.