
17 RESIGN JOBS ON POLICE BOATS

Ten Pilots and Seven Engineers Give Notice of Quitting

RESIGNATIONS REFUSED

Ten pilots and seven engineers on city police boats today turned in their resignations, to become effective at midnight Wednesday.

Superintendent of Police Robinson received the resignations, and immediately sent each man a reply, stating that at this time the police department could not accept their resignations. The men had demanded a wage increase.

Superintendent Robinson's letters urged the men to be patient and wait until the civil service lists were handed down. He intimated that if the men persisted in their determination to quit work they would be listed for hearing before the police trial board on charges of neglect of duty.

He appealed to their patriotism, stating that the entire waterfront would be unprotected if the men quit work, and said wartime was not an opportune occasion for a strike for higher wages.

Those who have offered their resignations are: Joseph A. Doran, J. J. Brooks, Harry O. Neill, Charles Shoemaker, Joseph Donnelly, Joseph B. Holton and Harry Sites, engineers, and Calvin A. Brown, Joseph P. Halloran, Charles A. Winn, Charles Guise, John J. Hanley, Walter J. Power, Joseph T. McGrady, Daniel Faunce, Thomas Roday and E. W. Corless, pilots.

CAMDEN BABIES WEIGHED

Son of Treasurer and Senator's Grandson Put on Scales

Two babies, the first of 1000 to be weighed in Camden this week in the child welfare work, were placed on the scales today at the Camden City Dispensary, Seventh and Federal streets.

The first babies weighed were Walter Newton Read, four-month-old son of State Treasurer William T. Read, and David Baird, third, grandson of United States Senator Baird. Mayor Ellis officiated at the scales.

Miss Margaret Davis, superintendent of the visiting nurses, has charge of the work which is being carried on under the auspices of the Camden Unit, Women's National Defense League. Nine doctors—five men and four women—are assisting. They are Drs. E. G. Hummell, Alexander McAlister, David Rhone, Edward Pechin, Jennings Sharp, Beulah Hollingshead, Letta Ward, Mrs. Charles A. Woiverton and Mrs. Mary Walsh Kobus.

EDWARD J. FOX

FOX ON SUPREME COURT

Governor Names Easton Democrat to Succeed Justice Mestrezat

Edward J. Fox, a widely known attorney of Easton, and a Democrat, was appointed to the bench of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court today by Governor Brumbaugh. He succeeds the late Justice Mestrezat. He will take office immediately.

Mr. Fox is fifty years old, and for years has been known as "the first man of Easton." e has long been a prominent figure in the State, just as his close friend and fellow townsman, General Peyton C. March, chief-of-staff, is a national figure. He has figured conspicuously in all the important cases tried in recent years in the courts of Northampton and adjoining counties.

Mr. Fox was born April 8, 1858, at Easton. He received his early education in the Easton High School, and was graduated from Layfayette College in 1878, later receiving the degree of A. M. there. He read law with his father, Edward J. Fox, Jr., and was admitted to the Northampton county bar December 17, 1880. Later he entered into partnership with his father, and for nine years they practiced law under the style, E. J. Fox & Son. Mr. Fox formed a partnership with his brother, J. W. Fox, in 1896.

Mr. Fox's practice grew to be among the largest of any lawyer in the Lehigh Valley. Several times Mr. Fox was urged to become a candidate for judge of the Northampton court, but declined. He was the first president of the City School Board of Easton, 1887-88, the only public office he has ever held.

Mr. Fox married Miss Cora Marsh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Marsh, of Schooley's Mountain, N. J. They have two sons, Rodman Fox, now in the Army, and Edward J. Fox, 3d., a student at Lafayette College.

TWO-TRACK LINE ON CHESTER PIKE

Public Service Commission Grants Permission to Trolley Company

IS A WAR NECESSITY

There will be a double track car line from Darby to Chester on the Chester Pike and the toll on this road will be reduced fifty per cent as a result of action taken here today by the Public Service Commission.

Residents of townships along the pike have been endeavoring for some time to have a double track on this road, but have been opposed by the Telford Road Company, which controlled the pike and reaped considerable money in tolls.

As this road leads directly to many industrial plants engaged in war work, the war industries board took in hand the controversy. At the suggestion of the board representatives of the Telford Company and councilmen of the boroughs and townships affected were summoned before the commission today.

Residents along the pike asked for a double track line through the middle of the road. It was pointed out by Commissioner Michael J. Ryan, who, with Commissioner James Alcorn, sat at the hearing, that this would be impracticable, as large trucks traveled this road.

After William R. Schaffer, counsel for the war board, and Monte Appel, his assistant, had pointed out the necessity for another car line on the road, the commissioners gave permission to the Chester and Eddystone Street Railway Company to build a line on the south side of the road paralleling that on the north side.

Money for the building of the line will be loaned to the company by the Government.

When this was decided upon, Frank R. Savage, who represented the Telford Company, said that this concern would file a new schedule of rates at once, making the toll for vehicles twenty cents for the round trip instead of twenty cents each way, as at present.

Commissioner Ryan then made an order that the jitneymen operating on this road who did not make a corresponding reduction in rates would not be permitted to benefit through the reduction made by the road company.

PROBE DOUBLE FATALITY

Two Trainmen Crushed to Death at Byberry Station

Coroner's investigation is under way to determine responsibility for the deaths of Benjamin Hinkle, thirty-five years, 3814 North Sixteenth street, and Daniel McGothigan, twenty-six years, 6225 Stenton avenue, trainmen who were killed by a Reading train at Byberry Station.

The men were attempting to start a heavy train which had stalled at Byberry when a drawhead was pulled from a car. Both men were crushed while examining the broken car when an engine on the rear started the train.

ALLOW INCOME TAX DELINQUENTS 10 DAYS

Those Who Failed to Pay Saturday Still Have Grace Period

Ten days' grace has been allowed income tax delinquents who failed to make tax returns to the Internal Revenue Department, in the Federal Building Saturday.

Collector Lederer issued notice that all persons subject to the income tax who had filed return blanks and received bills and not made their payments would have delinquent notices sent to them to pay on or before June 25, after which they will be assessed a penalty of 5 per cent. of the amount of the tax, with 1 per cent a month added.

In his statement the Collector said: "The property, real and personal, of persons failing to make payment as required by the notice, is subject to levy and sale without suit. The United States Government is not obliged to sue for taxes.

"Persons who have not as yet, for any reason whatever, received bills are required to pay within ten days of the date of a notice which will be mailed them; otherwise the penalties above mentioned will be added.

"A person who has filed an income tax return and does not receive a notice by June 20 to pay should write or call at the collectors' office. Telephone requests cannot be considered."

A total of $35,000,000 was collected Saturday in the First Internal Revenue District of Pennsylvania, comprising Philadelphia and eight surrounding counties. The return was larger for one day than the entire sum of the collections made in the district for the whole of last year. The clerical force of the department in the Federal Building was at work all of Sunday on the immense amount of auditing and compilation required in making out official reports of the returns to Washington.

MUST EQUALIZE PRIZE VALUES

Federal Trade Commission Issues Order on Coffee Concerns

Coffee roasting and packing concerns were ordered by the Federal Trade Commission today to abandon the practice of giving coupons redeemable in prizes of unequal value, the allotment of which had been made by a system of chance or drawing lots.

While only fifteen companies are named in the text of the order, it is said many others will be affected. Among the concerns named were Rice Brothers, of Philadelphia, and the William S. Scull Company, Camden.

A member of the firm of Rice Brothers said his company, like many others, had long followed an old custom of selling 100 pieces of chinaware with every 100 pounds of coffee. The effect of the order in this respect will be to equalize the value of each prize offered in this manner.

TALKATIVE GERMAN HELD

Man Speaks English After Denying Knowledge of Tongue

Department of Justice agents today are investigating the record of a man arrested last night in Broad Street Station when he persisted in speaking German in a loud voice.

When he was arrested by Special Policemen Walters and Roberts, of the railroad force, he gave the name of Joseph Goff, forty-two years old, and said he had no home.

At Central station he told detectives he could not speak English. He was told he soon would be taught. Then he opened conversation in fluent English, declaring to the officers he could speak English better than they could.

Goff said before the war he was employed on the steamer Kaiser Wilhelm II. He said a cousin, Frank Goff, now is interned in a Georgia camp. Detectives said they believe the prisoner escaped from an internment camp, and turned him over to the Federal authorities for examination.

JOB FOR VARE WORKER

Walter C. Baus Appointed Tipstaff in Quarter Sessions Court

Walter C. Baus, 513 West Norris street, was appointed a tipstaff in Quarter Sessions Court today by Judge Wessel, of Common Pleas Court No. 2. Judge Barratt administered the oath.

Mr. Baus fills the vacancy caused by the death of John Galbraith. The new court officer was formerly connected with the Electrical Bureau. He is a Vare worker in the Nineteenth Ward.

PRIZES FOR STUDENTS

Chamber of Commerce Offers Reward to High School Pupils

The Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce will award prizes to the two students in each of the eleven public and three Catholic high schools of this city who during vacation accomplish the best results in any form of work or industry connected with the war and conducted, organized or under the direction of any officially recognized service bureau.

The work may be either industrial, farm or domestic service, but it must be work that is done as the result of conditions arising from the war.

The Chamber of Commerce prizes, announcement of which was made in the public and Catholic high schools today, are offered through the educational committee of the chamber. The previous contest conducted under the auspices of this committee was for the best essay by school children on "What I Can Do to Help My Country Win the War." The educational committee, in offering these last prizes, states that it is desired that the work done to win them should represent accomplishments rather than facilities in essay writing.

The principal of each high school has been requested by the committee to select the two pupils who, in his judgment, have done the most during vacation to merit the prizes.

BISHOP FLAYS SLACKER

Refusal to Fight Germany Shows Undeveloped Conscience

"The man who will not risk his life to fight against the evil might of Germany has an undeveloped conscience. He is a shirker."

Conscientious objectors were thus denounced by Bishop Garland, of the Protestant Episcopal Church, during an open air meetin gon the Parkway yesterday. The Bishop also criticized those who apply the principle of "safety first" in the matter of letting other nations and other men bear the burden of war.

"Some persons believe in safety first," said the Bishop. "They say, 'Let the other nations fight Germany.' Or, 'Let other men go over there and fight the battle of humanity.' There are cowards like that.

"I have read about conscientious objectors. My friends, it is a disgrace to apply the word conscientious to men who hold back when duty calls them to array themselves on the side of righteousness. The man who will not risk his life to fight against the evil might of Germany has an undeveloped conscience. He is a shirker. What is conscience? It is your mind and my mind as me stand before God. If there is a man who can stand before God and say he can support the cause of Satan against the cause of God, he belongs in the conscientious objector class."

Miss Emily Perkins Dead

Miss Emily Perkins, poetess, playwright amateur actress and society woman, is dead at her home, 413 South Broad street. Death occurred yesterday after a lingering illness. Miss Perkins founded the Plays and Players' Club and was a member of the Plastic Club, New Century Club, Huntingdon Valley Country Club and the Genealogical Society.

War Savings Popular

The War Savings Stamp Association of the New York Shipbuilding Corporation broke all records last week by a total saving of $123,536.19. This brings the total for thirteen weeks up to $246,991.62. In per capita savings last week the men in the electrical department won first place, with the sum of $29.06 credited to each man's account.

GIRLS IN SAILOR SUITS ACT AS PALLBEARERS

Hold Funeral of Two Young Women Drowned in Delaware

Twelve girl companions clad in sailor costume acted as pallbearers today at the double funeral of Violetta Liggett and Bernardine Ringland, who were drowned on Thursday while canoeing on the Delaware River.

The scenes at the double funeral, which was held at the Church of Our Mother of Sorrows, was a striking demonstration of the loyalty of youth. The girls, who bore the bodies of their two companions, came from considerable distances to pay this last honor. All were employed at the du Pont powder works at Wilmington, where the Liggett and Ringland girls also worked.

Impressive ceremonies marked the funeral service, which was attended by several hundred young people of the neighborhood. The body of the Liggett girl was carried from her home, 4657 Olive street, and placed in the center aisle of the church beside that of the Ringland girl, who lived at 931 North St. Bernard street.

Solemn high mass was celebrated by the Rev. Thomas Buckley. Interment was made in St. Dennis's cemetery at Ardmore.

Among the twelve girl pallbearers were Genevieve Southard and Ethel Martin, who, were with the two girls who met death when the canoe upset.

THOUSANDS WILL GREET NEW ARCHBISHOP OF PHILADELPHIA

The Right Rev. Denis J. Dougherty, of Buffalo, Coming Here to Be Installed July 10—Nearly Every Church in Reception

Catholics here are preparing a universal welcome for Bishop Denis J. Dougherty, of Buffalo, who will be installed on the morning of July 10 as head of the Philadelphia archdiocese to succeed the late Archbishop Prendergast.

Representatives of virtually every church in the archdiocese wil make up an informal reception committee, which will line Broad street from the Pennsylvania Railroad Station north to Race street and thence to the Cathedral at Logan Square. Through this long line of cheering thousands Bishop Dougherty will pass, together with notable churchmen from all parts of the country who will be on hand to meet the new archdiocesan head when he arrives from Buffalo. It will be in the nature of a "home-coming" reception for Bishop Dougherty, since he spent some years in Philadelphia during his connection with Overbrook Seminary, where he taught. He is well known to priests and laymen of this archdiocese.

The ceremony of enthronement will be carried out with all the rituals of the Catholic Church. Cardinal Gibbons will preside at the solemn pontifical mass, which will be celebrated by Bishop M. J. Hoban, of Scranton. Bishop Thomas J. Shahan, rector of the Catholic University of America, will preach the sermon.

Hundreds of distinguished prelates from various parts of the country will be present to do honor to the new archbishop of Philadelphia, who returns to his native diocese after an absence of twelve years, during which time he achieved an international reputation by his work for the Catholic Church in the Philippine Islands. He returned to this country in 1916, when he was named bishop of Buffalo. Previous to his elevation to the episcopacy he was renowned as a professor at St. Charles's Seminary, Overbrook.

The committee for the reception of Archbishop Dougherty is composed of Bishop McCort and Monsignors M. J. Crane, H. T. Drumgoole, E. J. Fitz-Maurice, P. Masson and W. J. Walsh and the Revs. P. J. Daily, M. C. Donovan, J. J. Dean, O. S. A.; F. J. Fitzpatrick, Theodore Hammeke, G. Kraus, M. J. Rafferty, J. J. Rooney and Redmond J. Walsh, S. J. They are being assisted by Messrs. J. P. Connelly, J. E. Dougherty, A. J. Fitzpatrick, J. P. Gaffney, J. F. Herron, Ignatius Horstmann, J. V. Loughney, T. A. Murphy, W. J. McCloskey, P. J. McGarvey, H. P. Quinn, J. J. Ryan, M. J. Slattery and A. J. Zeits.

John B. Comber is secretary of the parish representatives' committee. Thomas A. Murphy will be grand marshal. William R. Ryan will be chief of staff. Edward A. Daly and B. J. Corwin will be special aids to the grand marshal, who has appointed the following division marshals: First, Dr. W. J. Griffin; second, J. J. Sullivan, with M. J. Manning and F. M. Costello as special aids; third, M. J. McEnery, Esq.; fourth, J. J. Foley; fifth, Joseph A. Burke; sixth, M. A. Larkins; seventh, Patrick Lyons, and eighth, Fred de Purton.
