Great Preparations for Fete to Benefit "Blue Cross" Work on the Battlefield-To Be Held at Wynnewood on Saturday

the early summer will be the Blue Cross Fete, to be staged on the beautiful country estate of Mrs. Clifford Jones at Wynnewood on next Saturday afternoon and evening for the benefit of the Blue Cross Fund, an organization which is to the horse and dog what the Red Cross is to the human being. As a result of the humane efforts of a group of earnest animal lovers the important work being done in the present war by the Blue Cross has been brought to the attention of hundreds and thousands of people throughout the United States. The Blue Cross is part of "Our Dumb Friends' League," a society for the encouragement of kindness to animals, which was organized many years ago in England and of which the Earl of Lonsdale is president.

Mrs. William Albert Wood is executive chairman of the Blue Cross Fete, and Mrs. Clifford Jones is chairman of the Wynnewood Unit of the Blue Cross. This affair is being arranged on a very large and elaborate scale and promises to present a very picturesque scene, as more than 100 of the aides will be in costume. The flower girls will wear brautiful frocks representing the various flowers which they will sell, while the girls selling cigars and cigarettes will appear as Arabian cigarette venders. There will be absolutely no admission charge to the Blue Cross Fete, which will begin at 2 o'clock. One of the most interesting features of the fete will be an all-breed dog show. The prize list is an especially attractive one, as many valuable donations have been received. The judging will begin promptly at 3 o'clock. At the conclusion of the dog show a handsome pedigreed Airedale puppy will be auctioned to the highest bidder. This affair promises to be replete with many attractive novelties and has a midway, which is always a huge success. There will be shooting galleries, miniature automobiles. the hurdy-gurdy man with his monkey and, too, there will be horseback riding.

THERE will be dancing on the lawn and the music will be provided by the Jazz Band from the Naval Radio School. About 300 sailors from the navy yard will give exhibition drills. The British recruiting mission, under the direction of Captain Latham and Lieutenant Skidmore, will hold military drills. The Main Line Home Guards will also drill. The most interesting feature of the affair will be the exhibitions given by a number of police dogs. These dogs will show how they perform on the battlefield. They act as sentinels, dispatch carriers, seek out the wounded for the sanitary corps, pull small vehicles, hunt rats in the trenches and in many ways prove valuable companions to the

THERE will also be esthetic dancing between 5 and 6 o'clock, and supper will be served on the lawn between 6 and 8 o'clock. An interesting feature of the evening's entertainment will be the presentation of "Pinafore," Gilbert and Sullivan's famous nautical opera, by the Interborough Musical and Dramatic League. Miss Dorothy Burlew will give an esthetic dance between the two acts. Miss Dora Adele Shoemaker, who is principal of the National School of Elecution and Oratory, will give some very clever Italian impersonations and monologues in costume.

AMONG the aides will be Eleanor Harvey Wood, Laura McCowan, Katherine Hubbs, Leonore Fisher, Elizabeth Evans, Margaret Hagman, Mildred Lewis, Gladys McCowan, Katherine Putnam, Ruth Hutton, Elizabeth Faber, Muriel Stamm. Pauline Reid, Louise Gillete, Fanny Roberts, Adelaide Plitt, Helen Hill, Winifred Hill, Jane Hickman, Mary Taylor, Anne Grupp, Gertrude Rowan, Gene vieve Hanna, Pauline Carr, Helene Schock, Helen Gormley, Sarah Alcorn, Josephine Alcorn, Elsa McCausian, Florin Butterworth, Blanche Price, Helen Gay, Frances Smith, Marion Moyne, Marion Clarke, Virginia Lee Bacon, Mary Sloan, Claire Roesche, Victoria Davis, Katherine Pyle, Mildred Beauchamp, Helen Weyman, Lida Jackson, Elizabeth Griscom, Margaret Leiple, Olga Leps, Katherine Willis, Elsie Tillinghast, Elizabeth Crowel, Josephine Fernley, Helen Shelton, Helen Kerrick, Frances Leech, Katherine Romall Sarah Beecher Finck, Eleanor Rebenack, Miriam Hill, Elizabeth Hill, Florence Haney, Jean Barstow, Edith Tobin, Dean Tobin, Dorothy Green, Ada Smith, Mary Amy, Mrs. Walter C. Neely, Dorothy Green, Ada Smith, Anna Evans, Louise Chase, Beatrice Harrity, Helen Harrity, Irene Hunter, Mildred Jones, Virginia Hess, Emilie de Kosenko, Maria de Kosenko, Ruth Wunderlich, Lillian Lee, Grace Lawton, Helene Lawton, Ethel Kahlmus, Cora Wilson, Sidney Wilson and Mabel Leonard.

Some party, don't you think?

THE musical records and games commit tee of the National League for Women's Service is clamoring once more for donations for the men. They say the demand is so great they cannot fill all they are asked, and since they have opened their little shop at 203 South Fifteenth street the demands are even greater.

This committee is headed by Mrs. Pere Wilmer and has done splendid work. I doubt not that now they have such a central headquarters to which records, pianos, mouth organs, talking machines, games cards, checkers, backgammon, "Peter Coddles" and all other games may be sent they'll get much more. And those women are certainly busy receiving donations and answering requests. The boys love to play, you know, so I'm sure there will be much generous response now that it is known where to send the things.

66TN A PERSIAN GARDEN" will be sung tonight by the Orpheus Quartet, the members of which will appear in appropriate costumes with the wonderful back ground of the botanical gardens, for that's where the concert will be given, back of the dormitories of the University of Pennsylvania. The Orpheus Quartet includes diss Edna Harwood Baugher, soprano; Miss Elizabeth Dixon, contralto; Philip Werzen Cooke, tenor, and Donald Red-

ONE of the largest out-of-door affairs of ding, baritone. William Thunder, of the the early summer will be the Blue Philadelphia Orchestra, will accompany the quartet. And there will be dancing from 10 until 12 o'clock. If it rains tonight the party will take place tomorrow.

MRS. HUDSON REPLIES TO Y. W. C. A. CRITICISM

President of Central Branch Proud of Deficit, Citing Aid to Girls

Mrs. Joseph H. Hudson, president of the Central Branch, Young Woman's Christian Association, has answered critics with a statement of the history of the organization from its foundation, its ambitions and its reasons for certain actions which prought about the criticisms.

The stand of the Central Branch was ex-plained at a dinner given by the board of managers to several ministers of the city. or the purpose of explaining the aims the association and its reasons for the break with the national board.

A fight to oust the present management was started last January, according to Mrs. Hudson, and the statement which follows is the first official comment she has made conerning the controversy:

"Forty-eight years ago. In conference with John Wanamaker, a band of Christian women John Wanamsker, a band of Christian women started this organization," said Mrs. Hudson. "They started it for the relief and the aid of working girls who need the protection of older women. They started it without a ent and it has grown to enormous propor $1.000,000. In our Central Branch we have $58 girls, forty-six in the annex and seventy-five in the Kensington Branch. Nearly 200 of those girls get $10 a week or less and we give them a home, food, light, heat and laundry for a very small sum. We care for 25,000 persons annually in our transient department. We take care of all girls who come here from the country and are not used to city ways. We have taken in runaway girls at all hours of the night. Nowhere else there an association which can care for Those who would put us out of office have made public the fact that we have a deficit. Certainly we have a deficit, we have always had one and we are not ashamed In times like these it is impossible to make ends meet and give the girls the home they must have at the price they can pay. With all the talk of big wages being paid to girls these days you must remember that there are many factories that have not raised the girls' wages one cent.

have been criticized for wanting things to do-either get more money or shut our doors. Now, if never before, the girl-need a home and we are going to stick and give them one in the face of all criticism.

"We are criticized for being narrow and bigoted because we adhere to the old-fash-ioned ways and make our girls confess a religion and a creed. The saying of the old ormula of the Church has been cut out by the national board and since we will not cut it out we have separated from that board. "We will not adopt what is known as the metropolitan plan and this is another reason for our separation from the national board and the criticism of others who would put us out of office. This metropolitan plan takes the power of leadership of the Y. W. C. A. away from the Church and the churchwomen and puts it in the hands of a few who may or may not be church members and who may or may not be familiar with the work of the This we have refused to do and as a result have been called 'autocrats.' Mrs. Richard Y. Filbert, president of the Quaker City Ladies' Auto Club, auxiliary to the American fund for French wounded, announced today that the auxiliary has sent its first box of clothing and comforts to the French wounded and is now at work on the second box.

Hospital garments for the wounded will be the first consideration, as being the most needed articles at present, but the women who serve on the auxiliary, headed by Mrs. William H. Marshall, plan to make clothing for families as well as for the wounded men. A pathetic appeal has been received by the auxiliary from Mrs. Lathrop, who is in charge of the fund in Paris. She cabled to urge that the garment output be increased. 'Our hospitals need them desperately.' "Please also send new clothing for the women, children and babies"

VOCATIONAL TRAINING FOR CRIPPLES URGED

Harry A. Mackey Suggests State Zones Equipped With Institutions for Purpose

Division of the State into zones equipped with institutions to furnish the education that should be started at the very bedside of men crippled in France or in industrial life is urged by Harry A. Mackey, chairman of the Workmen's Compensation Board of Pennsylvania, as the first step toward vocaiional education, or "re-education" to fit these men for future work. Pennsylvania, he said, is foremost in this movement, through a census being taken by the Department of Labor and Industry, which will enable it to co-operate with the Federal Government in meeting the emergency. He said the Workmen's Compensation Board is now confronted by many problems to work out for the best interest of injured workmen, due to the intensive prosecution of

Speaking of plans for meeting this "after-the-war" emergency, Mr. Mackey said:

"After two and a half years' operation of the workmen's compensation law, we have many problems to work out for the best interests of the injured workmen, in common with those arising out of the European war. The intensive prosecution of Pennsylvania's ndustry has produced many disabled men and, of course, it goes without saying that the war will send back home thousands who will have sustained such injuries as to render them permanent cripples.

We must no longer countenance the usual thought of an injured man that his misfor-tune has left him a useless citizen or that he must depend upon the kindness of his friends or the charity of his community. England. France, Belgium, Italy and Canada have demonstrated the fact that there is no reason why men permanently crippled should cease to be self-sustaining and useful producing elements of society.

"Opportunity for vocational education or, s it is termed abroad, 're-education,' must be provided for men injured at the front as well as for those who have suffered in our industrial establishments in order that those n the uniform might have the necessary mato win the war. The legless, armless and sightless men need not become dependents upon charity, but under proper re-educan again assert themselves in productive vocations. "Pennsylvania already is in the foremost rank in this movement. The Department of Labor and Industry is making an industrial census of the State, which places us in a position to co-operate with the Federal Government and to intelligently equip ourselves to meet this present duty. The State should be divided into proper zones, and each one of these subdivisions should be equipped with an institution to furnish the education that ought to be started at the very injured man during his period of convalescence. These men, if re-educated after methods employed in France and England, will soon go back to their old employer with a training to effect an accommodation to their crippled condition and an increased effithat will render them scarcely less produc-tive than before their injuries."

There are three local service houses, in Germantown, Chestnut Hill and 1703 Walnut street, which have been actively encouraging all branches of war work, making garments, establishing war gardens and spreading the gospel of thrift, cheerfulness and energetic endeavor

The Germantown house has a war garder which, tended with extraordinary skill and patience, is flourishing, completely bluntin the tongue of the wit who feeds on the his toric farce of the amateur garden is a war kitchen, where Miss M. Rhodes and her co-workers teach the making of war-breads and the canning of vegetables.

In the Germantown Service House classes in French, under the management of Mrs. William Jay Turner, are being held five nights a week, and preparations are being made to organize classes in Spanish. Type-writing is being taught to a class of thirty women, and a company of juniors is working under the direction of Lieutenant Sarah Logan Starr.

The overseas workroom now is very busy with an order for 350 vests for the men abroad; last winter the workroom turned out 250 garments for orphans at the reques of the Germantown Emergency Association.
One evening a week the mothers and wives of men in the service meet to work for the army and navy; and the work at the swift knitting machines is pleasantly diluted with chatting, the news from the men abroad and plans for their own work

HAVE "TWO-IN-ONE" PICNIC

Jubilo Social Originates Novel Idea a Fourth Annual Outing Held Sunday

The Jubilo Social held its fourth annual picnic on Sunday at Wissahickon Creek, in strict compliance with the picnic regulations of the food administration. The feature of the outing was the meagerness of the lunch, and after the luncheon had been served the members and guests were informed that they were eating two meals in one. In making plans for the picnic it was decided to add a wartime flavor to the fourth annual affair. The two-in-one picnic resulted. The sand wiches were smaller and fewer, the fruit less and the fine pastry and desserts con-spicuous by their apparent absence.

Miss Anna Kohl is president of the Jubilo Social. The other officers are Miss Sadie Fingroth, treasurer, and Miss Anna Fleischman, secretary. Besides the officers the following members and guests attended: Miss Fannie Lustig, Miss Freda Rabinowits, Miss Anna Basanhara, Miss Hanglette, Descipary Anna Rosenberg, Miss Henrietta Pearlman, Miss Catherine Goldstein, Miss Mamie Reich, Miss Clara Silver, Miss Yetta Richman, Mr. Lawrence Schwerer and Mr.
