GULPH MILLS OPENS ITS FINE NEW GOLF COURSE WITHOUT TRUMPET BLARE

Fairways Are Wonderful and Course Is Rapidly Rounding Into Condition—Red Cross Tournament Everywhere on the Fourth

By WILLIAM H. EVANS
THERE was no crash of brass and no blare of trumpets, and President Alva B. Johnson did not drive the first ball from the first tee to mark the opening of the new Gulph Mills Club course Saturday.

The members and guests celebrated the event by playing the latest golf creation of Duncan Ross, Weston J. Hibbs, the secretary and treasurer, and who has given all of his leisure time following out Ross' directions, was the busiest man there.

The fairways, except for the sixteenth, where the rains and snows have cut up the ground, are in really excellent condition, and while the players are asked to play winter greens, the holes are noticeably good.

It takes time to build greens and the greens at Gulph Mills will take time before they are good. Top dressing and seeding will help them along and by fall they should be in playable condition.

There is an ample supply of caddies, and while the caddies are green, this being their initial experience with the game, the boys are bright and eager to learn the game.

SCRAPS ABOUT SCRAPPERS

JACK BRAZZO, the Hazelton lightweight, is in training at his home town for his coming eight-round battle with Benny Leonard, which is scheduled to take place at Wildwood, N. J., on the afternoon of July 4.

Brazzo and Leonard met in a local ring a few months ago, and the referee stopped the fight after the Hazelton lad had been bleeding from the nose, and he claimed that he could have continued the fight had not the referee interfered.

Leonard, fresh from his six-round fight with Jack Britton in this city, is diligently training for this fight at Billy Grupp's gymnasium, in New York, and will not leave for the battleground until the day before the contest.

Jack Lynch, the sensational New York batsman, is now serving his country and is stationed at Camp Wadsworth, N. C.

Bartley Madden, the New York heavyweight, who is scheduled to box Bill Brennan, of Chicago, eight rounds at Jersey City tonight, has been signed to fight Ray Turner, of Indian, ten rounds at a show that will be held at Scranton, Pa., on the afternoon of July 4.

Eddie Haza, the fighting Boy Scout, is now in Philadelphia in his eighth round, and is expected to appear in a ten-round contest at a show to take place at Allentown on the night of July 4.

PLAYGROUNDS TO HAVE MILITARY SPORTS FOR PROGRAM ON THE 4TH

Hand Grenade Throwing, Bayonet Contests, Courier Racing and Trench Jumping Will Be Among Athletic Features for National Holiday

MILITARY sports and track and field events will be the features of the Fourth of July contests in the city playgrounds and recreation centers, where the taboo on fireworks proclaimed by Mayor Smith will be offset by a demonstration designed on an elaborate patriotic scope, with athletics playing a prominent part.

The military events, such as hand-grenade throwing, carrying races, bayonet contests, hand and stick exercises, courier races, trench jumping, bomb throwing and other warlike tactics will bear a patriotic touch in keeping with the day.

Community sports, where the men, women and children living in the vicinity adjacent to the various playgrounds may participate to make the Fourth of July a really democratic and liberty loving memorial, will be held in the following playgrounds and recreation centers.

Arranged in the series of track and field events are contests between married men and women, young men and women, older boys and girls, and young boys and girls. A series of from 14 to 24 events are listed in the playground program.

COULDN'T FIGHT, SO KOPP WORKS

Mack's Outfielder Back in Fold—Not Yet Called in Draft

MAY STAY A MONTH
Merlin Kopp, Connie Mack's speedy outfielder, arrived in town this morning and reported for immediate service on the firing line.

The return of Kopp to more or less of a starting position for when he departed a month ago, it was believed that he had left the club for good.

It was developing that Macklin was not called. He longed to play some baseball in Toledo for a month, but a couple of dentures set off for the training camp, and each time he eventually had been recalled, Kopp finally appeared before his draft board.

That is how Merlin Kopp came back to the A's. He will stick around until he is called to the colors and try to assist the Mackmen as much as possible.

BAKED BEANS
THERE'S the camper's real standby—juicy, brown-baked beans, heated up right in the can.
Aren't you glad they're appetizingly cooked for you—instead of white raw beans?
And you'll like the new Lucky Strike cigarette because the tobacco has been "cooked" for you—it's better than raw. It's toasted.
