Will Close Nights and Sundays to Release Men for Service

Automobile service stations in and around Philadelphia, as well as accessory stores and automobile stock and sales-rooms, will be closed on Sundays begin-ning July 10 and will close daily at 6 o'clock in the evening on recommenda-tion of the automobile men's war service committee, which has been approved by the Federal war economy board.

the Federal war economy board. The purpose is to release the thou-sands of men who have been employed nights and Sundays in the automobile and related industries to devote that time to the service of the Government. Night and Sunday service stations are regarded by the war service committee as more of a convenience than a neces-sity, the theory being that the average man with a little effort can arrange to have his car repaired and supplied with gasoline and oil in the daytime and during the week.
