Travers, Marston, Kirkby and Anderson Will Play Best Ball Matches Over Famous Golf Links for Sweet Charity's Sake

By WILLIAM H. EVANS

WOULD you like to see the only golfer in this country who has won the amateur champlonship four times and who in four years won the amateur championship twice, was runner up once and who in the other won the open cham plonship?

Would it interest you to see playing another man who twice has been the national runner up, who has been the amateur champion of France, who twice has been the Massachusetts champion and once runner up in the Metropolitan

Would you l'ke to follow a third man who is the present Metropolitan champions , who has won that title once before and who has won the New Jersey State championship three times?

Would you like to see in action ; fourth man who has been a national semi-finalist and who has been a former New Jersey champion?

Two of America's Best Courses

Would you like to see the course that is regarded as the finest over which any amateur champ onship in this country

Would you care to stroll over another which Chick Evans, Jim Barnes and r host of other smateurs and professionals have said is the finest test of golf in

Are you interested in the wonderful work that the Red Cross is doing in stricken Europe?

If you are a golfer you will answer This afternoon at 2:30 o'clock Jerome Travers paired with Max Marston will play against Oswald Kirkby and John G. Anderson at the Merion Cricket Club Taking their Metro ditan rating and they line up this way: Travers scratch; Kirkby, I; Marston, 3; Ander-son, 3. In other words these four have the lowest rating in the Metropolitan Golf Association.

Tomorrow afternoon the same quar-tet will play at Pine Valley, the match beginning at 3 o'clock. Both matches will be for the benefit of the American Red Cross Society and are under the auspices of the Golf Association of golfed there on the same day. Here is what Chick Evans, the double-crowned champion, says of it: "The Pine Vatley course, of which but fourteen holes on thing between tee and green but troucompleted, is the most wonderful ble. is the greatest golf course in the country, and I do not know of any course abroad that will compare with it."

Shotter on the present course, Chick Evans, has said that it is the only hole worth while in this country. again by amateur and professionals where in America.

It has many characteristics. In the In a Beautiful Setting first place, on every two and three shot-ter the tee shot must carry 145 yards to reach the fairway. You cannot make a poor shot and make it up without pen-aity. There is none of the deadly paral-lelism that you see on most courses. It is physically impossible to drive onto an-other hole. Every hole is isolated from other hole. Every hole is isolated from green and the traps are plainly vis ble. There are no blind approach shots The d blows from every quarter and wind is a hazard on any course.

One-Shotters Excellent

George A. Crump discovered Pine Valley years ago, and out of a forest of oak and pine and underbrush and swamp he created this marvellous course where every shot in the hag is needed. No finer bunkering can be seen anywhere and the greens are wonderful, both as to and turf. No other man would have tackled the tremendous job that Mr. Crump did, and up to his untimely death he had spent out of his own pockets a quarter of a million dollars. Only four playing the eighteen holes tomorrow the first four are played over again. Anderson has said of the second that it is the finest type of a two-shot hole in
