Cincinnati and Phils Clash Today in Final Game of Series

EVEN BREAK SUNDAY

After splitting even in yesterday's able-header with the Reds. 2-5 and the Phillies today were all primed to even up the series with Matty's folks. The games now stand two to one in favor of the home club.

Oeschger and Eller were scheduled to do the pitching today.

In the opening half of the Sunday bill both Ring and Hogg pitched well, the latter having a shade the better of it, but his support was poor, while the Reds backed un Ring without a wabble. Not one of the five Red tailies was earned, all being due to errors. Ring was saved by some very fast fielding, the Reds pulling off four double plays, three of which were from Blackburne to Lee Magee to Chase, and all of them cut off chances for Moran's men to score.

Bancroft's fumbles gave the Reds two chances for Moran's men to score.

Bancroft's fumbles gave the Reds two runs and errors by Stock and Burns in the sixth inning were responsible for three more. The Phillies hit Ring rather freely, but he was good in the pinches.

In the sixth inning of this game Roush and Pearce collided at first base and both were badly hurt. Roush had bunted to Stock and Pearce covered first. Stocks throw was wild and Pearce, in reaching for it, got in Roush's way and the two men came together with great force. Roush's knee came in contact with Pearce's left shoulder and the club physician had to be summoned to attend with Pearce's left shoulder and the club physician had to be aummoned to attend the injured Quaker. Roush stayed through the inning and scored a run and then had to retire. Pearce tried to con-tinue, but was forced to submit to his injury after haif an inning and Heming-way played second base the rest of the afternoon. Score:

The second game witnessed the eighth straight defeat of Fred Toney, who has not won a game since the morning of Decoration Day, when he bent the Cubs. The Reda twice secured a lead for himbut he was hit hard toward the finish. but he was hit hard toward the finish.

The Reds got two runs off Prendergast in the second inning on a couple of walks and two hits. The Quakers did not score until the sixth, when they counted once on a walk to Bancroft and a hit by Williams. They tied it in the eighth on Bancroft's double, an out and a sacrifice fly by Stock. Watson relieved Prendergas: in the seventh and the Reds went to the front in the eighth on hits by Groh and Chasse.

With one man out in the ninth five With one man out in the ninth, five straight hits were made off Toney and he was driven from the box. Regin then pitched to one man and walked him, but filing, who had pitched the first game, went in and got Stock on a grounder to Groh for the third out.

Head Calls Baseball

Atlantic City, N. J., July President John K. Tener, of the Na-tional League, who is here to attend the Elks' convention, discussed the work-Jack Weinstein, manager of Eddie or-fight order as it applies particularly to the action of the Fort Worth, Texas, local draft board in notifying Rogers. Hornsby, shortstop of the St. Louis Nationals, that unless he engaged in some new essential production he would be placed in Class 1-A. President Tener coined a phrase new in the acquisition baseball finds itself in. It is "moral and spiritual production," and he applied it as a term describing what league baseball gives to society.

"I have all along contended that baseball is, in a sense, an essential line of work producing something entirely necessary to society," said President Tener. "If there can be such a thong as a moral and spiritual production," and I believe there is, it describes exactly what I mean.

"The Hornsby case will be interesting, and I am rather glad that a definite ruling is to be secured. It is fortunate that if a test case is to be made, and that is probably what Hornsby's case will amount to, a player of Hornsby's prominence has been seeleted. I understand that he is the bread-winner of the family, and I know that he is a high-priced man. Therefore, to put him in another line of work will undouble edly be a severe financial hardsbip."

Game Fade in Disnute.

But as soon as this news reached the ears of Jack Weinstein he simply said to the title until he had polished off the K. O. defeat suffered at the hands of O'Keefe.

Both men will fight their hardest to gain an undisputed victory. Gussie to try to wipe out that, K. O. stain from this record and O'Keefe to show that he still possesses a sleep-producing wallop. They already have started training for the contest. Eddie O'Keefe doing his work at Adam Ryan's gymnasium, while Lewis is working out at the grounds of the Cambria Club. Three other good contests are on the program.

Game Ends In Dispute The Lik Belt-Stokes & Smith game ended in a dispute in the ninth inning, with Link Belt leading, 7-4. The unspire forfeited the game to Stokes & Smith, and the matter will be taken up at th next league meeting on Tuesday evening.
