

Evening Public Ledger

and THE EVENING TELEGRAPH

Philadelphia, Tuesday, July 9, 1918

RED CROSS WORKERS NEAR CITY AT DENI LY AID CAUSE AT WORK AND AT PLAY—SIDELIGHTS ON THE WAR

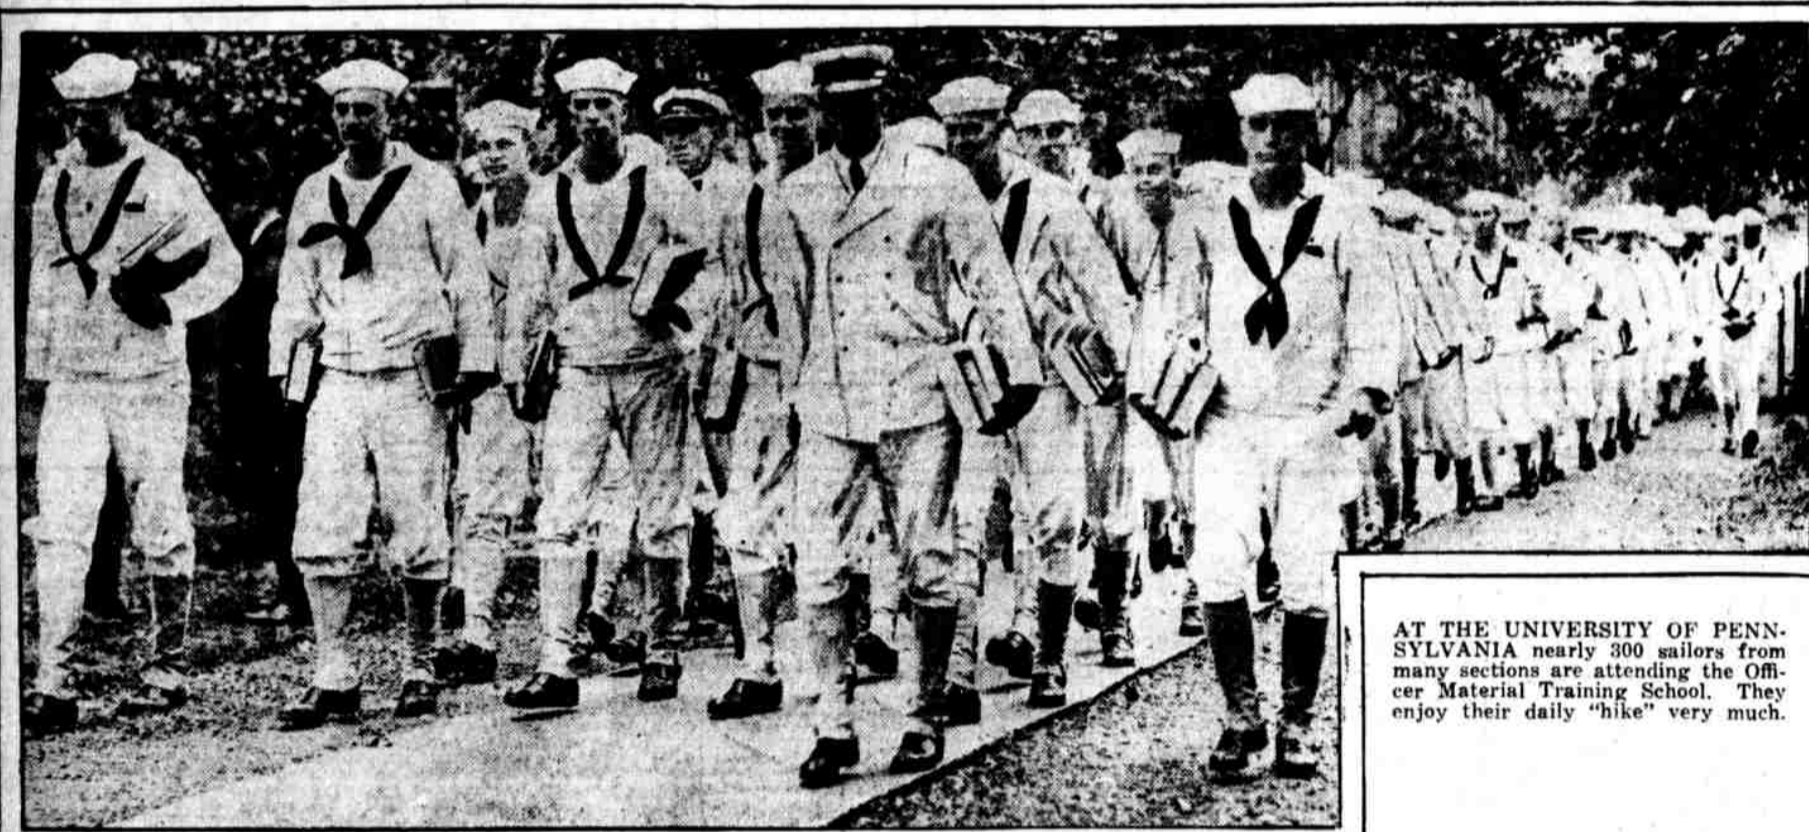

THE BALLROOM OF COLEMAN du PONT'S TOWN HOUSE, in Wilmington, has been transformed into a Red Cross center. On Husbands and Wives' Weekly Night surgical dressings are made by men and women.

THE RED CROSS GOLF MATCH at Merion, in which Jerome D. Travers and Max Marston played Oswald Kirkby and John Anderson, is here seen at the ninth hole.

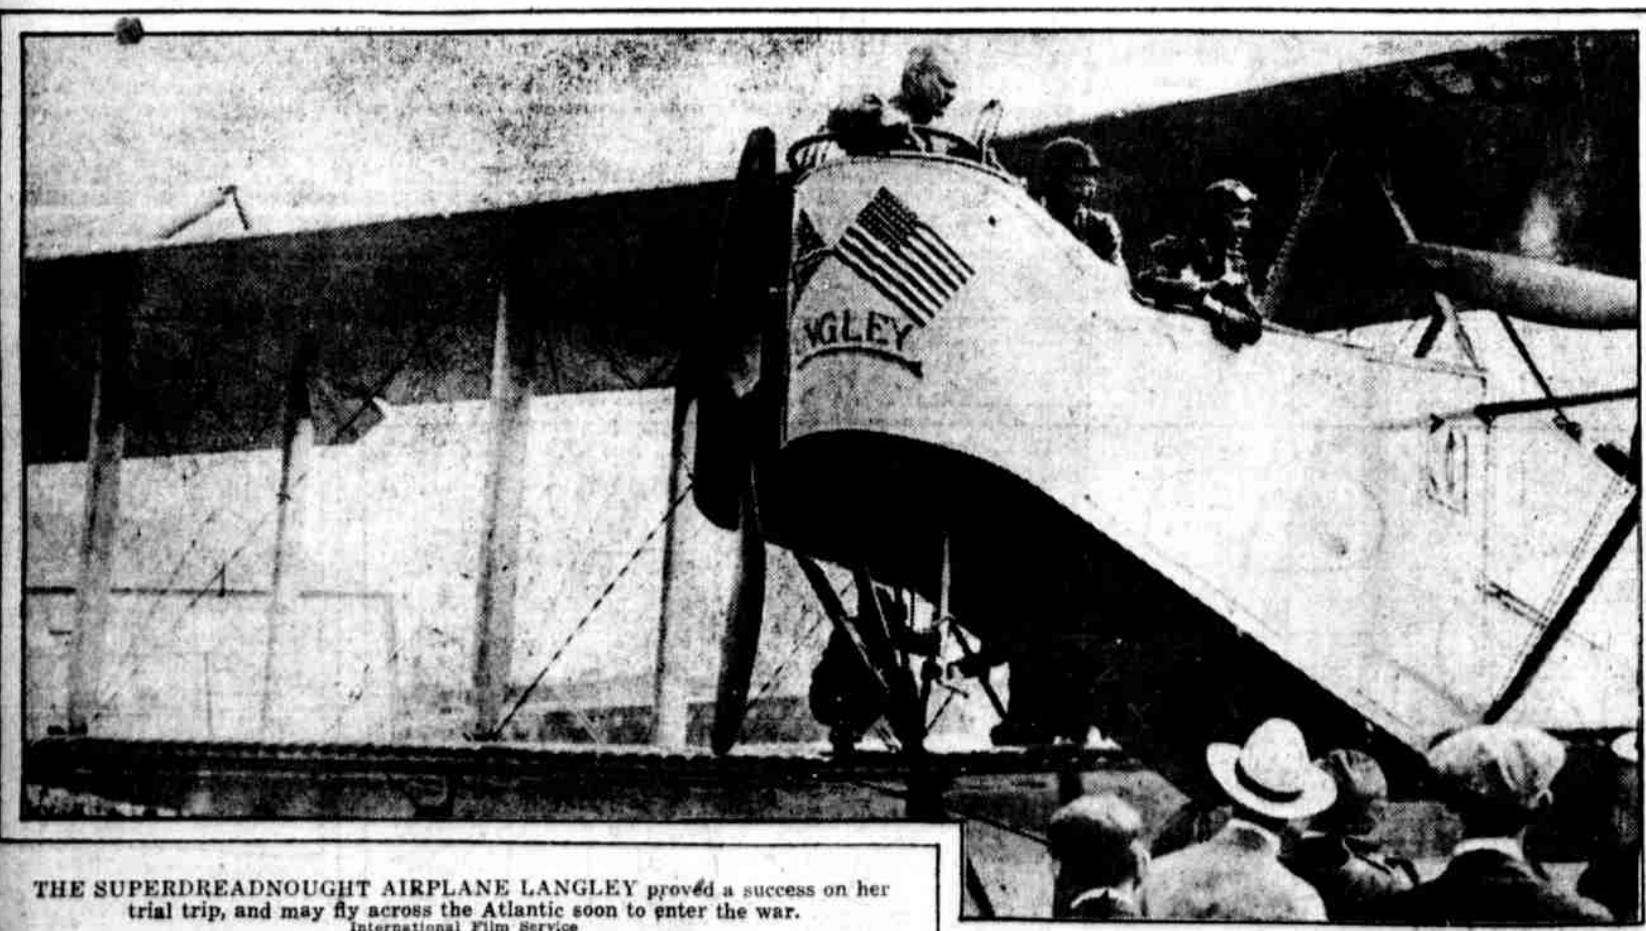

MRS. J. D. TRAVERS, wife of the golfer, is an enthusiastic Red Cross worker

AT THE UNIVERSITY OF PENNSYLVANIA nearly 300 sailors from many sections are attending the Officer Material Training School. They enjoy their daily "hike" very much.

BEFORE SAILING FOR FRANCE these Kentucky Red Cross nurses and clergy consecrated their flags at St. Paul's Church, in New York.

THE SUPERDREADNOUGHT AIRPLANE LANGLEY proved a success on her trial trip, and may fly across the Atlantic soon to enter the war.

SIGNALING MANY MILES by means of the sun's rays has been made possible for the British army by this ingenious mirror apparatus.

Kedel & Herbert