

Be On Your Guard Against German Spies

The poison of German propaganda taints the air all around you, workmen of Philadelphia. The Kaiser's slimy agents are everywhere—in the workshop, the cars, on the street corner, wherever men congregate—striving to retard the work on which the success of the war depends. They whisper that higher wages and an easier job await you in another city. They stir up dissatisfaction and discontent. By lies and trumped-up grievances they foment strikes and disastrous labor troubles. Always are they seeking, by every despicable, underhanded means at their command, to induce you to stop work. For they know that every day an American workman is idle Germany's chances of winning the war are materially increased.

Workmen of Philadelphia Show the Kaiser You Are Loyal Americans

The Kaiser knows he can't lick the Americans and their allies on the battlefield. So he is trying to undermine our strength at home, seeking to weaken that vast industrial army which supplies the boys at the front with the ships, the rifles, the food, the ammunition and a thousand and one other things the soldiers need so sorely.

If you fall for the talk of these German spies and propagandists, you are playing right into the Kaiser's hands. He wants you to quit your job. He wants you to strike. Every time an American workman throws down his tools, the Kaiser laughs up his sleeve, calling you fools who are helping him instead of Uncle Sam.

Stick to your job, men. Loyalty to your employer now means loyalty to Uncle Sam—and both will reward your efforts right generously.

You are serving your own best interests when you give them the best there is in you.

Sticking to Your Job Sticks a Bayonet in the Kaiser
