Tea Room on Old York Road to Benefit Red Cross-Nancy Wynne Comments on Moffly-Kane Alliance. Other Subjects Talked Of

Allied Tea Room which has been started down at Cape May, did I not? Well, did you know that there's one out on the Old York road? Yes, my dears, gotten up by the Ogontz and Huntingdon Valley Branch of the Red Cross. It's on the Old York road itself, and it's open all day, and the different women who are running it act as waitresses. The proceeds are all to go to the Red Cross, and it's quite a delightful little place. And in, as one of the women interested in it told me, quite a strategic position, right on the turnpike or thoroughfare of that whole long stretch

It's most attractively gotten up, and has the dearest curtains at the windows and pretty painted furniture and odd things about the rooms. It's very much on the order of Penn Cottage, over on the Main Line, you know, and I understand is run the same way, only this one is distinctively for the Red Cross. But by that, understand me, I do not mean that the patrons must be Red Cross members On the contrary, it is open to every one who passes, and every one is to be encouraged to go in and lunch or tea or sup at any hour, but the proceeds are to go to the Red Cross entirely.

Mrs. Voorhees Drayton and Mrs. John Gilbert and all those who are great Red Cross workers out there are deeply interested in the undertaking, and it has been running now for some time and is doing beautifully.

WHAT did I tell you-you announce your engagement one day and you are married the next! And this is the truth, almost literally speaking, in regard to Audrey Kane and Jack Moffly, though I believe they did have two days between the engagement and wedding. The engagement was announced on Monday afternoon and the date of the wedding yesterday and the wedding took place today. I hear the nicest things about Audrey Kane on all sides. She's been down in Baltimore studying in Johns Hopkins Hospital for the last two years, you know, and she'll be awfully useful to her country now if she takes up nursing for the Red Cross, which I hear is her intention. She cannot go abroad as a nurse, now she has a husband who is going, but it's very well to have the training for any emergency.

Her sister Miriam has just come back, you know, from a year or two over there in Paris and Nevers. She was in an English hospital at Nevers and at the Lighthouse in Paris.

The Rev. Stewart Keeling performed the ceremony today at noon, and Miriam Kane and Lieutenant Karl Dodge were the attendants.

NEWPORT is beginning to get very gay, and all sorts of philanthropic entertainments are in the wind. On Saturday afternoon of this week society as repre sented there will turn out for a theatrical event, "Three Acts," which will be given by the Amateur Comedy Club, of New York, at the Casino.

The proceeds will be given for the benefit of the Freebody Park Athletic Field for the men in the service, and most of the women in Newport have given their names as patronesses of the affair, chief among them being Mrs. Henry Clews, Mrs. W. Storrs Wells and Mrs. Pembroke Jones.

event on Saturday will be the recital to be given at Harbourview, Mrs. French Vanderbilt's villa on the Cliffs, and this will be for the Red Cross. So you see no matter where you are this year you can get into Red Cross work either actively in the workrooms or contributively (don't you like that word?) in the ballroom. It all helps and it's all good.

Mrs. Alexander Hamilton Rice, formerly Mrs. George D. Widener, of Elkins Park, is among the women interested in the Red Cross benefit.

WITH all the manifold duties devolving upon mothers who are conserving labor at the present day and the real difficulty to get and keep maids, too, is it any wonder that occasionally they are overtaken by absent mindedness? A short time ago in a suburban church, where each member knows every other member and looks for the familiar faces in the family pews each week, Mrs. D---- sat with a serene and smiling countenance listening to the rector read the scriptural lesson for the service. Devotion was pictured on the face of each one. Suddenly Mrs. D.'s facial muscles contracted. she gasped and hurried from her front pew Her daughter, who was in the choir facing the congregation, seeing mother leave so hurriedly, did likewise. Then Mrs. D.'s sister, over in the middle of the right sisle, felt her heart sink with fear. Mrs. - must be sick, and very sick at that, and so up started sister in a hurry, and as she hastened to the door he daughter wondered what could be the matter, and she followed the others.

By this time an usher in the back pew, keeping a watchful eye on the congregation, thought he had better go, too, for fear Mrs. D- might need his services in securing a physician.

Now, Mrs. D- lived but a few blocks from the church in an apartment, and, as she was a very quick person, she raced along, never looking back, and so arrived a few minutes before her five followers. She rushed into the house as daughter stepped onto the porch calling, "What is the matter, mother?" Mother turned off the gas in the range, looked in the stewpot and shouted joyously, "Thank goodness I got here in time to save it!"

She had a stewing chicken that she had placed on the range to cook while she made the beds and dressed for church, and the cooking chicken passed out of her mind until the clergyman read, "How often would I have gathered thy children together, even as a hen gathereth her chickens under her wings!" That was enough for mother. With no thought of place, preacher nor of friends in the pews, she started at once ich her kitchen in a record-breaking Of course, the anxious church mem-

FOR THEIR AID IN WAR

Call for 25,000 Volunteers by No Means Too Large, Says Miss Delano

"Sixteen thousand nurses will be needed for every million soldiers sent abroad, General Pershing has informed the War Department. According to this percentage the Government should send more than the 25,000 sought from the present call."

This is the message Miss Jane Delano, director of the division of nurses for the United States Government, told 700 Philadelphia nurses yesterday afternoon in the ballroom of the Bellevue-Stratford

Miss Delano, Dr. Charles D. Hart, chairman of the nurses' campaign in the Philadelphia district, and George Wharton Pep-per, whose patriotic speeches have given inspiration to many persons during the present crisis, were the speakers who discussed the campaign plan. Mrs. John W. Geary, vice chairman of the campaign, presided. The marine band played national airs at intervals during the program, which opened with a presentation of the film, "Spirit of the Red Cross."

"We want to enlist as many nurses as possible," said Miss Delano, "not merely for foreign service, but to take places in hospitals in this country; to go out as nurses by the hour and into industrial institutions where a nurse is needed. Women who have married and are prevented by home ties from crossing the ocean can give such service as "It is optional with the nurse whether she go into the army or the navy; whether she shall go abroad or stay at home. But it is the duty of all nurses to place themselves in the hands of their Government to be assigned to duty in this crisis."

"Already the evil work of the German propagandist is showing itself in opposition to the campaign for nurses." Doctor Hart said in the course of his address, which ex-plained the rules of the army in reference to the Red Cross nurse.

The splendid mission of the Red Cross nurse was also eulogized by George Wharton Pepper at the close of his impassioned ad-dress calls for enrollment resulted in a number of inquiries and definite promises of enrollment from nurses present.

Her cablegram yesterday stated that the call is for wounded officers in the Hopital de Philadelphe. Any additional aid, she said,

Navy League Supplies Needs of British Mine Sweepers Five hundred British mine aweepers will soon have sweaters, wristlets and helmets from the Navy League of Philadelphia, the complete sets for that number of men having gone forth in response to a special order Thus promptly and capably do the women of patriotic organizations answer the call for aid. It was found that the Britons were in need of comforts, and the fastest needles and most willing hands set to work

Mrs. N. Myers Fitler, chairman of the shops committee of the Navy League, has presided over the installation of five branch shops to sell wool, needles and such other materials as are needed to provide clothes and comforts for soldiers of the sea. She is assisted by a strong committee of workers, who alternate in charge of the shops distributed in various parts of the city.
