Community Bodies to Handle State Problem. Trigg Announces

ORGANIZE HERE SOON

Plan Decided Upon at Conference Held With Densmore in Washington

Community labor boards in various parts of the State will be intrusted with the task of recruiting and placing skilled and unskilled labor in Pennsylvania.

This has been made public by Ernest T. Trigg, president of the Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce, who represented this city in the State's delegation at Washington yesterday, when J. B. Dens-more, director general of service, conferred with representatives of twenty-eight States east of the Mississippi.

The plan is destined to add stability to the labor supply and make the prob-lem of securing men for essential in-dustries much less troublesome than it is at the present time. In their work the various communities will be super-vised by a State board, subject to directions from the proper authorities at rector of the employment service, direc-tions to request Philadelphia and other newspapers to refuse to accept adver-tisements for workers for other States and other parts of the same Common wealth. Some local papers have already agreed to refuse such advertisements. Mr. Trigg announced. In speaking of

The new plan, he said: "The entire plan for labor recruiting has been left till the last in the general program of Government war control and it is the biggest and most import-That it should have been left so is only reasonable in view of the importance of the project and that it. more than anything else, touches the in dividual closely. It is a matter w took long and careful consideration."
