Provost Marshal General Crowder was ready to lay his recommendations before gecretary Baker after receiving a brief from the National Baseball Commision, but the Secretary was unable because of the press of more important business to take up the matter.

The War Secretary said he would consider the brief and General Crowder's recommendations and expected to announce his decision today.

National and American League officials and club owners who were here were hopeful that Mr. Baker would extend the time of putting the order into effect until the end of the season.

They based this hope upon the Secretary's previous statement that it was not certain that the baseball industry would be disrupted by operation of the order and their belief that they had presented facts that would convince him that professional leagues would have to suspend unless the order is modified.

There were no games played in the American League yesterday, but all were scheduled for today.

McGraw used Sallee, Schupp, Ogden and Hopt in a vain attempt to stem the hitting tide of the tail-end St. Louis club, Fisher, Paulette and Hornsby each had three hits.

There were twelve put-outs made by the St. Louis club in the Giants' game. But for some of these, several of which were hair-raisers, Packard would have fared very badly.

Shortstop Caton, of the Pittsburgh Pirates, placed a remarkable game, accepting cleven chances, all of which were difficult. The Pirates beat the Brooklyn Dodgers 3 to 1. Dick Rudolph held the Cincinnati Reda to four hits and the Braves won, 4 to 0, Red Smith kept up his hard hitting by cracking out a pair of singles in trips to the plate.

Walter Holke, Arst baseman of the Giants, has been ordered by his local draft board in St. Louis to take up some essential employment. Holke is married and was in a deferred closs.

MACKS MEET TIGERS

Clash at Detroit in Fourth Series of the 1918 Season

rived here this morning from Philadelphia, after a two-day rest, to engage the Tigers in the fourth series between those clubs this season.

When the Mackmen were here in June they split in a four-game series with Hughey's folks, but this time Mack is determined to get the better of the Detroiters in their mad fight for last place. This morning the Athletics were just a half-game ahead of the Tigers, so that a victory this afternoon meant getting well clear of the cellar for the Macks, and meant that the Tigers would get the honor of being lowest in the American League by the margin of a game and a half.

Vean Gregg was booked to do the hurling for the Mackmen this afternoon at Navin Field, against Dauss, for the home club. Gregg is in good shape, and Mack believed that he was the twirler who would be able to hold his club above water, at least for the time being.

"Triple-Heated" Gas a real step forward in Fuel Economy

Wherever FULTON Trucks have been operated they have demonstrated their power to get more miles from a gallon of gasoline. Right now in more than 300 different lines of business, FULTON one-and-a-half ton trucks are averaging from 12 to 14 miles per gallon.

It has been this unequaled gasoline economy, together with the perfect allaround dependability of the FULTON, that has led such firms as John Wanamaker, The Standard Oil Company, The Texas Oil Company and The Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company and other large fleet operators, to purchase one FULTON after another.

The FULTON is equipped with the internal gear drive axle, admitted to be the most efficient for trucks of the FULTON capacity. The dead weight of the load is carried on a solid axle, while the power is applied through an entirely separate member. The push is given to the wheels near the rim-not at the hub. The gain in power and decrease in driving stress is at once apparent.

The FULTON is sensationally sturdy throughout. Every part is built for rugged service-every day service-the kind of service that every buyer of a ton-anda-half truck has a right to expect.

The low FULTON price-$1620-is only possible through the economies of large scale production and the fact that our entire plant is devoted to the manufacture of just this one-and-a-half ton

Fulton springs are hung upon the drive and torque, relieving the driving shaft of every possible stress and adding life to the rear axle assembly. The forward suspension is Double Wrapped in such a manner that rebound, drive, torque and momentum are taken through the two "main" spring leaves. This practice has lately been adopted by the United States government.
