

Evening Public Ledger

and
THE EVENING TELEGRAPH

Philadelphia, Thursday, July 25, 1918

RESUME OF THE DAY'S INTERESTING NEWS HAPPENINGS VIVIDLY PORTRAYED BY PHOTOGRAPHS

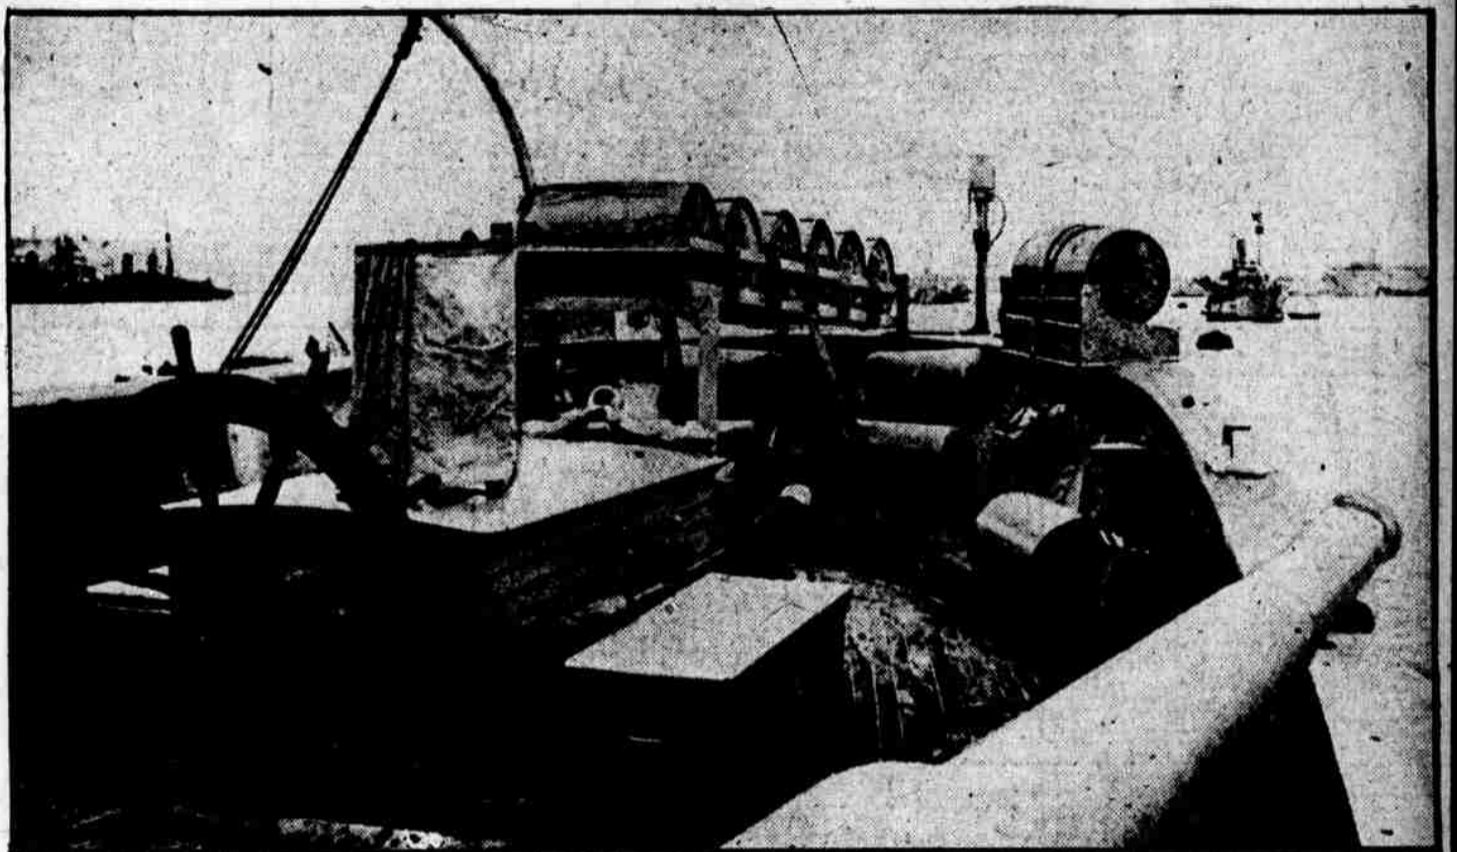

MUD HAS NO TERRORS for the great tractors which drag ponderous guns through every sort of quagmire as though they were the merest toys.
Western Newspaper Union

INDICATIVE OF THE SINCERITY of the new alliance between Great Britain and America was the observance of our Independence Day throughout the empire. Marching through streets of Bath, England, on July 4, those Americans in photograph to left were appreciative of honor paid them.
Western Newspaper Union

WOUNDS ARE SOON FORGOTTEN by the American officers so fortunate as to be sent to the beautiful English country estate of the Honorable Mrs. Spender Clay, shown above reading to her guests.
Western Newspaper Union

THE U-BOATS' NEMESIS is the depth bomb, with its deadly charge. The photograph above shows how the bombs are ready for release at a second's notice. A sharp incline sends them rolling into the sea.
Underwood & Underwood

IT HAS NOT BEEN EXPLAINED why King George failed to throw out the ball at the Fourth of July game between the American service teams at Chelsea. Previous reports had told of His Majesty's practicing for the big event.
International Film Service

OUT AT GIRARD COLLEGE Fete Day is spelled with capital letters by the boys in the institution. Yesterday was no exception, for the athletic events arranged for the lads were even better than in former years, and that is a considerable claim.

ROYALTY IS NOT EXCEPTED from the demands of war, and Her Royal Highness Princess Mary has assumed as a precaution in the...
London