MISAPPREHENSIONS

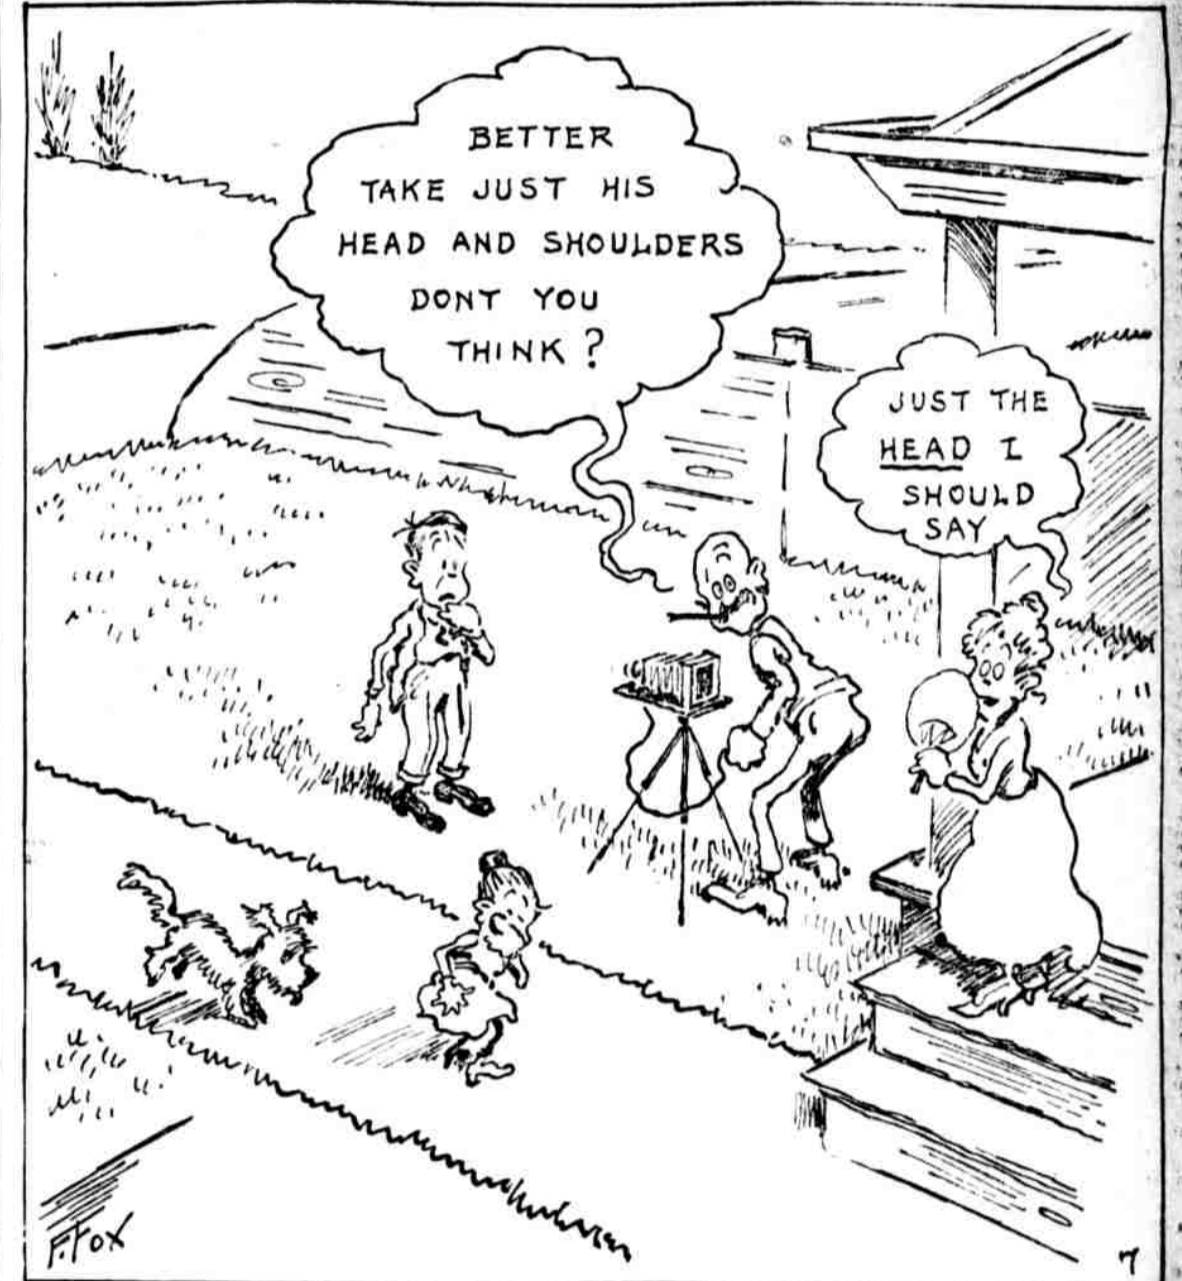

Jack—The stage is all right, anyway. Ma sister's in a rage, and gets a colonel's wife. Tommy—Well, I reckon the colonel's wife ought to be told about it.

"Struth, Jack, fancy 'avin' that for a pet!"

Sound-Proof "Bell," began Mrs. Newlywed timidly. "I don't suppose—er—that you would—er—object to my getting an alarm clock?" "Not at all, mem," replied the sleepy one. "they clocks never disturb me!"—Pearson's Weekly.

The Young Lady Across the Way

The young lady across the way says there are so many little things a soldier wants to buy, like cigarettes and chocolate, and his pay is so small at best, that she does hope our boys are cashiered regularly.

She—George, dear, is there any danger of being torpedooed? He—I'm afraid not.

Calling a Halt "Senator Fudge relates an amusing anecdote: "If it's new, all right. But I don't care to listen to a stale story just because it is tacked on to a United States Senator."—Kansas City Journal.

Going Up Editor—What do you mean by writing such a phrase as "The house burnt up"? We always say houses burn down. Reporter—Yes; but this one caught fire in the cellar.—Pearson's Weekly.

MOVING PICTURE FUNNIES

Cut out the picture on all four sides. Then carefully fold dotted line 1 into entire length. Then dotted line 2, and so on. Fold each section underneath, accurately. When completed turn over and you'll find a surprising result. Save the pictures.
