The Portland Gold Mining Company has announced its intention to dismantle its Victor mill and use the machinery of that plant for enlarging the com-tons over the capacities of the separate mills. About eight years ago the Victor mill was erected on top of a hill—a poor site, but the only one available. It was built largely as an experimental mill to treat low-grade ores, and proved so successful that the company purchased the Independence property, in cluding the mill.

This mill is at the bottom of the hill on which the Portland property is situated and is more economical of operation, because ore is sent down to it from the Portland mine through a great tun-nel by gravity, the cost for delivery of the are to the Independence bins being less than nine cents a ton.

Rich ore on both the Portland and Cresson properties recently was encountered by the Roosevelt deep-drain-age tunnel. These two discoveries are age tunnel. These two discoveries are considered important by mining men, since they give additional proof that deep operations in the Cripple Creek dis-trict have many profitable years in pros-

Preliminary tests have encouraged the department to proceed further with its experiments, and for this purpose an order for $600 yards of the new material has been placed.

"At present millions of yards of silk are required in making the bags which below that of the slik fabric now used."

"Heretofore slik has been depended upon for these bags, for the reason that no other cloth material has been found that would meet the peculiar conditions required. It is essential that not a particle of the bag container shall remain after the gun is fired. Otherwise a smouldering piece of the fabric might cause a premature explosion when a new charge was inserted.

"Owing to the great scarcity of slik, however, the cost of this material has increased enormously. This shortage is felt by all the warring Powers, including Germany.

"Early in the war Germany is understood to have used a chemically treated cotton as a substitute for silk, but has since been compelled by the diminishing cotton supply to resort to other substitutes of the control of the war, the warfing the warfing the warfare could not break the marine warfare could not break the enemy's will to war nor prevent.
