CONNIE MACK HAS BEST TEAM THAT EVER HELD EIGHTH PLACE IN RACE

Athletics Play Brilliant Ball Against World's Champions and With Good Pitching Look Like Pennant Contenders

By ROBERT W. MAXWELL
Sports Editor Evening Public Ledger

HAD a stranger strolled into Shibe Park yesterday by mistake and gazed upon our Athletics as they operated on the champion White Sox he would have remarked to the world at large that Connie Mack has "the best team that ever occupied eighth place in the American League." The home folks demonstrated their superiority over the gang from Chicago in a ball game which lasted one hour and twenty-three minutes by our clock, although Jim Wolf made it three minutes longer. Anyway, the A's, aided by Scott Perry's flinging, slipped over a 4-to-1 victory and did it in such a manner as to leave no doubt in the minds of the faithful fans who could be seen here and there in the spacious stands.

The Macks played swell baseball and had every appearance of league leaders instead of tail-enders. This has characterized the work of the locals all season. They hammered Eddie Cicotte's slants for a dozen safeties and played an errorless game in the field. You can't beat that for an afternoon's work. They also shoved over some runs when they were needed, thus proving they have the punch in a pinch. Too bad the home-town boys haven't played like that all season.

Ralph Perkins, who is called Cy because his name is Ralph, really is the hero of the conflict. Ralph, or Cy, tried hard to win the ball game on two different and distinct occasions, but something went wrong each time. In the third inning, with three men on base, he decided to send in a run and knocked a long sacrifice fly to Leibold. It would have been a swell swipe and the runner on third would have scored, only Ralph, or Cy, forgot there were two out, and the wallop was as valuable as the Kaiser's picture in Pershing's headquarters. In the fifth he tried again and whacked one to left field which would have sent Gardner home with the winning run, only the eagle eye of Dick Nallin saw it was foul by half an inch and called it spurious. Then Perk, who was very indignant, forced Larry at second and ended the inning.

Larry Gardner sent in the first counter in the fifth when he singled with Walker on second. The enemy tied the count in the seventh, but the A's, aided by singles by Jamieson and Walker and Burns's home run, put the game on ice in their half of the same frame.

World Series Likely to Be Played

NOW that the magnates have decided to hold a world series, which starts on September 4, the players on the Chicago and Boston clubs have petitioned their draft boards for permission to keep out of the shipyards until the championship has been decided. Secretary Baker also has been asked to be lenient, and it looks as if everything will be staged as per schedule. It is now up to the dear old public to make the affair a success.

For some reason or other the big series always has been followed by a jinx. There was trouble as far back as 1904, when McGraw refused to allow his championship club to meet Jimmy Collins's Boston team and New York lost by default. Since that time there have been ticket scandals, player-author fakes have been perpetrated on the public, pennants virtually have been purchased by wealthy clubs, prices have been boosted, the Federal League butted in and helped crab the act and many other things have interfered.

That Brooklyn-New York fiasco in 1916, when the Dodgers copped the flag from the Phils after a questionable series, was a sweet bunch of scandal, and the money madness of both the players and magnates made the fans wonder who was carrying the bag. Now we have the war, and that's enough to put anything on the blink. In fact, there never was a series which ran off smoothly, although they always have been popular.

Receipts in 1917 Mounted High

THE first world series was held in 1903 between Boston and Pittsburgh. Eight games attracted 100,429 fans, who paid more than $50,000. Last year six games between New York and the White Sox drew 186,654 cash customers and the receipts were $425,878. Each player on the White Sox club received $3528.13 and the Giant athletes drew down $2543.14. The National Commission, both leagues and the two clubs split the rest.

This year the receipts are not expected to be so large, but a big gate is predicted. Crowds will attend the struggles both in Chicago and Boston, where the games probably will be played.

Looking over the schedule, which ends abruptly a week from Monday, the Cubs look like a million to one shot in the National. They have a commanding lead of ten and one-half games and only a miracle will oust them from the lead.

Only twelve games remain to be played, ten of them on the home lot. Today and tomorrow the Giants will be entertained, and after that Brooklyn, Cincinnati and Pittsburgh will be met in order. On Labor Day the Windy City crowd will play a double-header in Pittsburgh. That list of games is not formidable and Chicago should breeze through. Five more victories will give them the pennant even if New York wins every game.

In the American League, however, the race is closer. Cleveland still is a contender, but Boston looks like the winner. Eleven games remain to be played and only two will be away from home. There are three with St. Louis, three with Detroit, three with the Athletics and a double-header on Labor Day with the Yankees in New York. Critics cannot see any one but the Red Sox, but Cleveland is likely to put on a spurt and spring a surprise. Baseball is too uncertain to make predictions in a close race. It will be safe to pick a winner on September 1.

Much Football This Fall, Gray Predicts

ACCORDING to Jake Gray, the local sports barometer, football will be played extensively this fall. Mr. Gray keeps in touch with the sporting world because it is his business, and therefore is well informed on local conditions. He furnishes the college and service teams with equipment.

"Football will go big this fall," he said yesterday. "I know this because I have received more orders this month for uniforms and other equipment than in years. The game will be played on a larger scale and will be more interesting because of the age of the players. Thousands of youngsters will be in the line-ups and veterans will be almost unheard of.

"The biggest order I have received thus far came from League Island. The marines and the recreation camps will take up the game this fall and hundreds will play. The shipyards also will have teams and the majority of industrial plants will be represented. The gridiron sport will be more popular than ever this year and you will see games being played on every vacant lot.

"The University of Pennsylvania is planning for a big season, for the authorities have ordered plenty of equipment. Other colleges in this section have fallen in line and are looking forward to a big year.

"The price of football paraphernalia will be greater this year than last. Everything has become more expensive and the prices have jumped at least one-third higher than in 1917. This is due to the scarcity of raw material and labor."

Tilden Has Good Chance to Win Title

IN DOPING out the probable winners of the national lawn tennis tournament, which begins next Monday on the turf courts at Forest Hills, Bill Tilden's name has been overlooked by the net experts. It seems to be the prevailing opinion, particularly in New York, that it is only a battle between Kumagae, the crack Jap player, and R. Lindley Murray.

Just why Tilden should not be considered seriously is not apparent. He has performed wonderfully well in all of the tournaments in which he has played this season. Not only that, but he has been improving steadily in every department of his game. He won the national clay court title in such a decisive manner that those who saw him play realize that the man who defeats him on the turf for the nationals next week must be a player that ranks with the men who were contenders before the war drained the country of its best lawn tennis material.

There are many fine performers entered in the tournament, but a glance at the list shows that Tilden, Kumagae and Murray stand out far above the rest. Such players as Alexander, the two Wrights and Hall are ranking players, but they are going, while the trio mentioned is coming.

It may be argued fairly, therefore, that only two men, the Jap and the former coast star, stand in Tilden's way for national honors. Tilden has not played so much since he entered the service as he formerly did, but he has been keeping in good condition and will be able to play his best game of the year when the time comes for him to get his first real chance to capture the tennis crown.

Tilden's service has improved remarkably in accuracy—it always was good—and he is stroking, volleying and covering his court in such excellent style that even Lieut. Murray may be surprised and played off secutive victory over the Chicago White Six when they turned a 3-to-2 win here this afternoon. Adams held the champions to six hits, while his teammates bunched enough hits off Benz to win.

Athletics Register Fifth Straight Win

Konp was the leading scorer, twice crossing the plate. Sacrifice flies by Walker and Burns brought him across. Then in the sixth the winning run was accounted for on singles by Gardner and McAvoy.

The Mackmen again played brilliant ball, and were only in danger once, that in the eighth. Then three singles and an error handed the visitors two runs.

The Mackmen lost no time in scoring. With Jamieson out of the way in the first inning Konp beat out a hit, Walker singled Konp to third, and when George Burns sent a long fly to Leibold, Konp counted.

Again in the third it was Konp who banked the run. Jamieson started the inning by grounding to Murphy. Konp then sent a line drive that bounded over Leibold's head for three bases. On Walker's long fly to Leibold, Konp sprinted across the rubber.

The sixth found the Athletics registering their third run. With Walker out, Burns doubled off the left-field wall. Gardner singled to left, but Leibold's perfect throw nailed Burns at the plate. Gardner went to second on the throw-in. McAvoy, however, came to the rescue with a clean hit to left, Gardner scoring.

With Schalk out in the eighth Benz and Good singled. Leibold fanned, but Dugan fumbled Murphy's grounder and the bases were loaded. Gandil then came through with a single, Benz and Good scoring. John Collins failed to Gardner for the third out.

Scraps About Scrappers

IRISH PATSY CLINE, the New York lightweight, and George Chaney, the Baltimore K. O. king, are getting in shape for their coming six-round battle, which is to take place in the final bout at the opening show of the new National A. A. on Saturday evening. Both men are confident of victory and each will try to defeat the other in order to be in line for a crack at the lightweight champion, Benny Leonard. Frank ("Pop") O'Brien, former referee of the Olympia A. A., will be the third man in the ring, besides being the new match-maker of the Eleventh street arena.

The semifinal will show the fast-rising Jimmy McCabe, the local welterweight, who has hopes of being matched for a championship battle with Ted (Kid) Lewis and Johnny Wolgast, of Lancaster. The other bouts will show Eddie Wagoner, the wild-swinging Italian, and Charlie (Kid) Thomas, of this city, in the main preliminary; Young Robideau and Whitey Fitzgerald, in the second set-to, while the opening tilt will present Max Williamson, of Hog Island, and Al Moore, of this city.

Harry Wills, the California heavyweight, who has the distinction of being the first man to knock out Sam Langford, the Boston Tar Baby, is willing to bet $1000 that he can defeat either Jack Dempsey, the coast sensation, or Kid Norfolk, the Panama negro.

Lew Tendler, who is the best lightweight now before the public except Champion Benny Leonard, will be seen in action in the opening show at the Olympia A. A. on Monday night, he being opposed by Harvey Thorpe, of Kansas City, who will make his first appearance in an eastern town. Thorpe comes here with a good record, having met most of the leading lightweights in the country, including an exciting twelve-round fight with Benny Leonard. Jack Russo, the former New Orleans lightweight, and Johnny Mealey, of the United States navy, will be the contestants in the semifinal. Eddie McAndrews and Frankie Williams, Harry (Kid) Brown and Johnny Maloney, the former world's amateur champion, and Pete Howell and Terry McHugh will raise up the rest of the card.

Pete Herman, the world's bantam champion, has received a two weeks' furlough and he expects to take part in at least two contests before his time is up. Herman already has been matched to box Dick Leadman ten rounds at Buffalo on Labor Day and it is expected that he will appear in this city against either Frankie Burns, of Jersey City, or Jack Sharkey, of New York.

Jack Weinstein, manager of Eddie O'Keefe, is anxious to have his protege matched to meet such foes as Benny Valgar, Gotha Townsend, Pete Herman, the bantam champion.

SHIPYARD LEAGUE BASEBALL A TIE

New York Ship and Harlan & Hollingsworth to Play for Title

The fight for the pennant in the Delaware River Shipyard Baseball League has ended in a tie between two clubs, Harlan & Hollingsworth and New York Ship. This is the decision reached by the eligibility committee headed by Secretary Edgar S. McKaig. There was originally a triple tie, Chester being the third club, but there were a number of protests lodged against that team and they evidently have gone against Frank Miller and his boys, as it is announced the teams finished: New York Ship and Harlan tie; Hog Island, third; Chester, fourth; Merchant, fifth; Sun, sixth; Traylor, seventh, and Pusey & Jones, eighth.

Frank Miller, of Chester, had little to say of the news except "that they got to show us, inasmuch as we have not been as yet given an opportunity to appeal the decision."

In all probability but a single game will determine the winner. It will be on neutral territory and the field most likely to be chosen will be that of Hog Island, at Ninety-fourth street and Tinicum avenue, and the date some night next week. It can hardly be on a Saturday, as Hog Island has games booked and on this Saturday New York Ship is down to play at Parkesburg and the following week Harlan tackles Chester, at Upland. The whole matter will probably be decided at a meeting likely to be held at the Ritz-Carlton tomorrow evening.

At that gathering further arrangements for the coming soccer season will be planned. A shipyard league has been formed, but it is not known how many will enter teams. Eight are sought, but it is uncertain whether this number can be secured. Several yards find it simply impossible to enter elevens worth while, among these being Traylor, of Cornwells, and Pusey & Jones, of Wilmington.

It is the idea of the promoters to get going not later than Saturday, October 5, and a schedule of home and away games will be drawn up. An initiation fee of $100 will be charged and each yard will be assessed $10 each month to cover the running expenses. To eliminate the practice of padding there has been adopted a two weeks' clause prior to the opening of the season and a thirty days' clause after the season has officially started.

HAWK AND ADAMS REACH FINALS

Defeat Hawes and Schaeffer in Doubles Match at Ocean City

WOMEN'S PLAY STARTS

By ROBERT T. PAUL

Ocean City, N. J., Aug. 22.—Forrest E. Adams, of Atlantic City, and Dr. Phillip B. Hawk, of the Cynwyd Club, advanced to the final round in the men's doubles of the South Jersey championship on the courts of the Ocean City Yacht Club today. Hawk and Adams took the measure of Arthur P. Hawes, Philadelphia Country Club, and Herman Schaeffer, of the Belfield Club, in a three-set match, 6-4, 4-6, 6-1.

The play was fairly even in the first two sets, but in the third the better team work of Hawk and Adams turned the tide in their favor, and they won with the loss of but one game. Hawk and Adams will meet the winner of the match between the Rev. E. T. Pancoast and A. J. Batty and Paul Gibbons and A. L. Reed. This match will be played tomorrow.

Paul Gibbons, of Cynwyd, and A. L. Reed were forced to play three sets before registering a victory over Mackay and Weinhenmayer, the West Philadelphia High School stars. The schoolboys outplayed the veterans in the first set and won 7-5. In the last two sets the steady playing of Gibbons and Reed had the schoolboys on the defensive all the time. The scores were 5-7, 6-1, 6-1.

Three interesting matches were played in the first round of the women's singles. Mrs. H. F. Weaver, of the Cape May Golf Club, defeated Mrs. Carey Potter, 6-3, 6-0. Mrs. Robert Herold, of Belfield, won from Mrs. David Stern, of the Logan Tennis Club, 6-0, 8-6, while Mrs. C. R. Wainwright downed Mrs. John F. Betz, 3d, 6-0, 7-5.

Willie Hoppe's Art Is Adjudged Nonessential

New York, Aug. 22.—Defending a billiard championship is not an essential occupation, according to the draft board in whose jurisdiction Willie Hoppe, the 18.2 balk-line titleholder, resides. Willie has been ordered to find a job, otherwise he will be enrolled in Class 1-A of the draft. He has appealed to the district board, on the ground that change of employment would be a hardship, as he is not fitted for labor, never having performed any.
