

TITLEHOLDERS IN AQUATIC CARNIVAL AT RIVERTON—GIANT U-BOAT PHOTOGRAPHED WHILE AT WORK

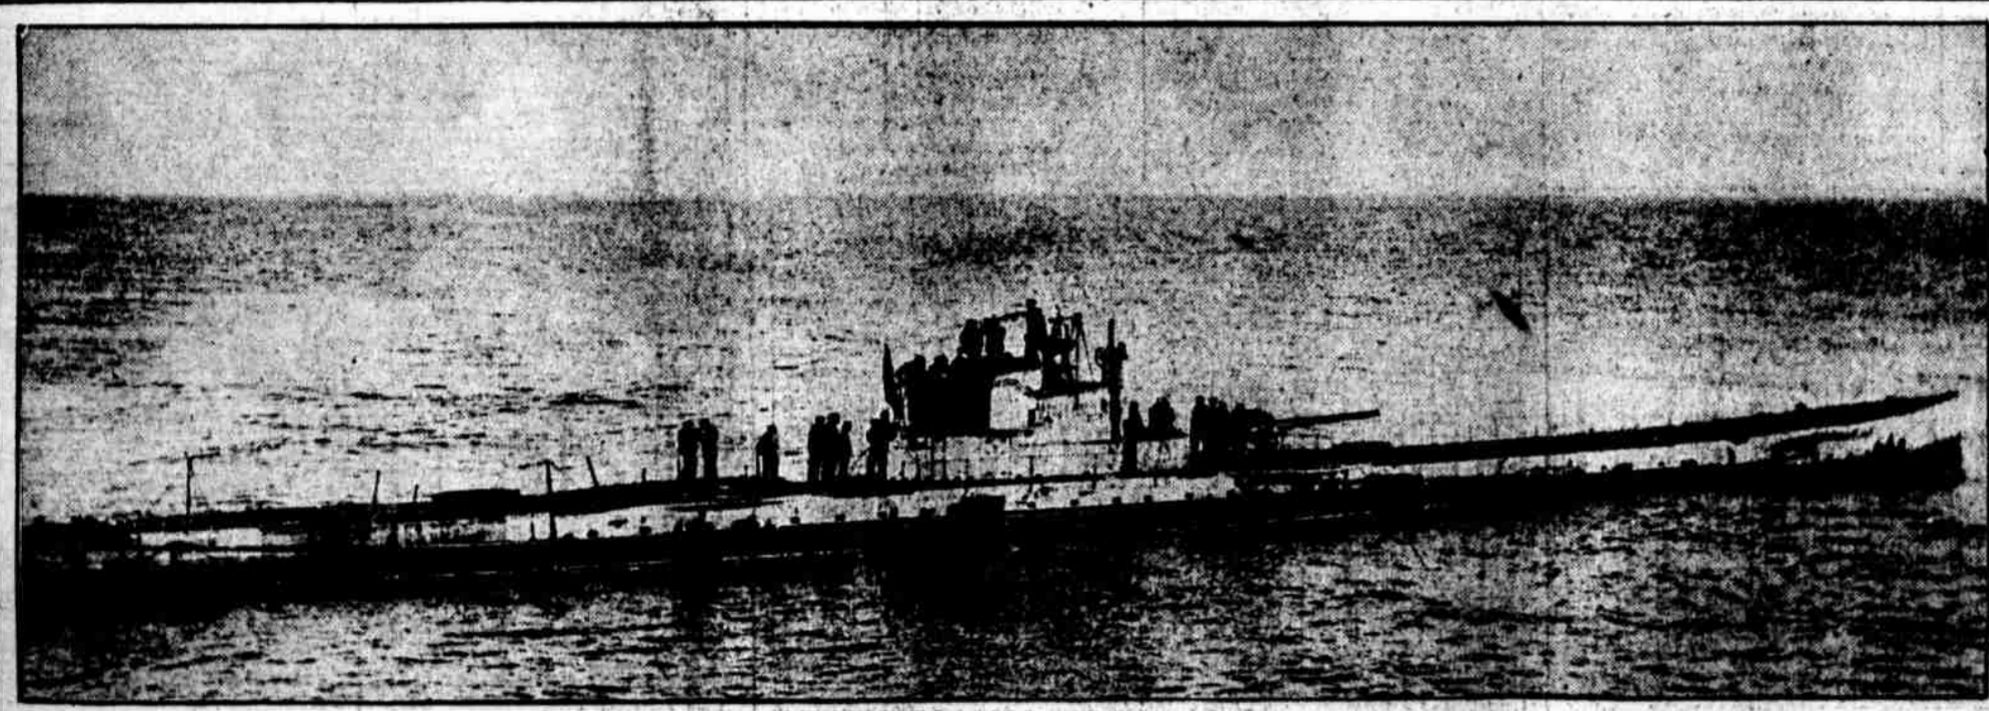

PHILADELPHIA SWIMMERS will recognize Eleanore Uhl, of the First Regiment Swimming Club, and Gertrude Artelt and Elizabeth Becker, of the Turngemeinde, who appear in the order named.

THE JACKKNIFE DIVE, as executed by Elizabeth Becker, is a feat of skill and daring beautiful to behold. And spectators at the Riverton carnival quite properly were liberal with their applause.

THE NATATORIAL ACCOMPLISHMENTS of Olga Dorfner, holder of many American and some world's records for women swimmers, captivated the gallery at the Riverton Yacht Club's carnival.

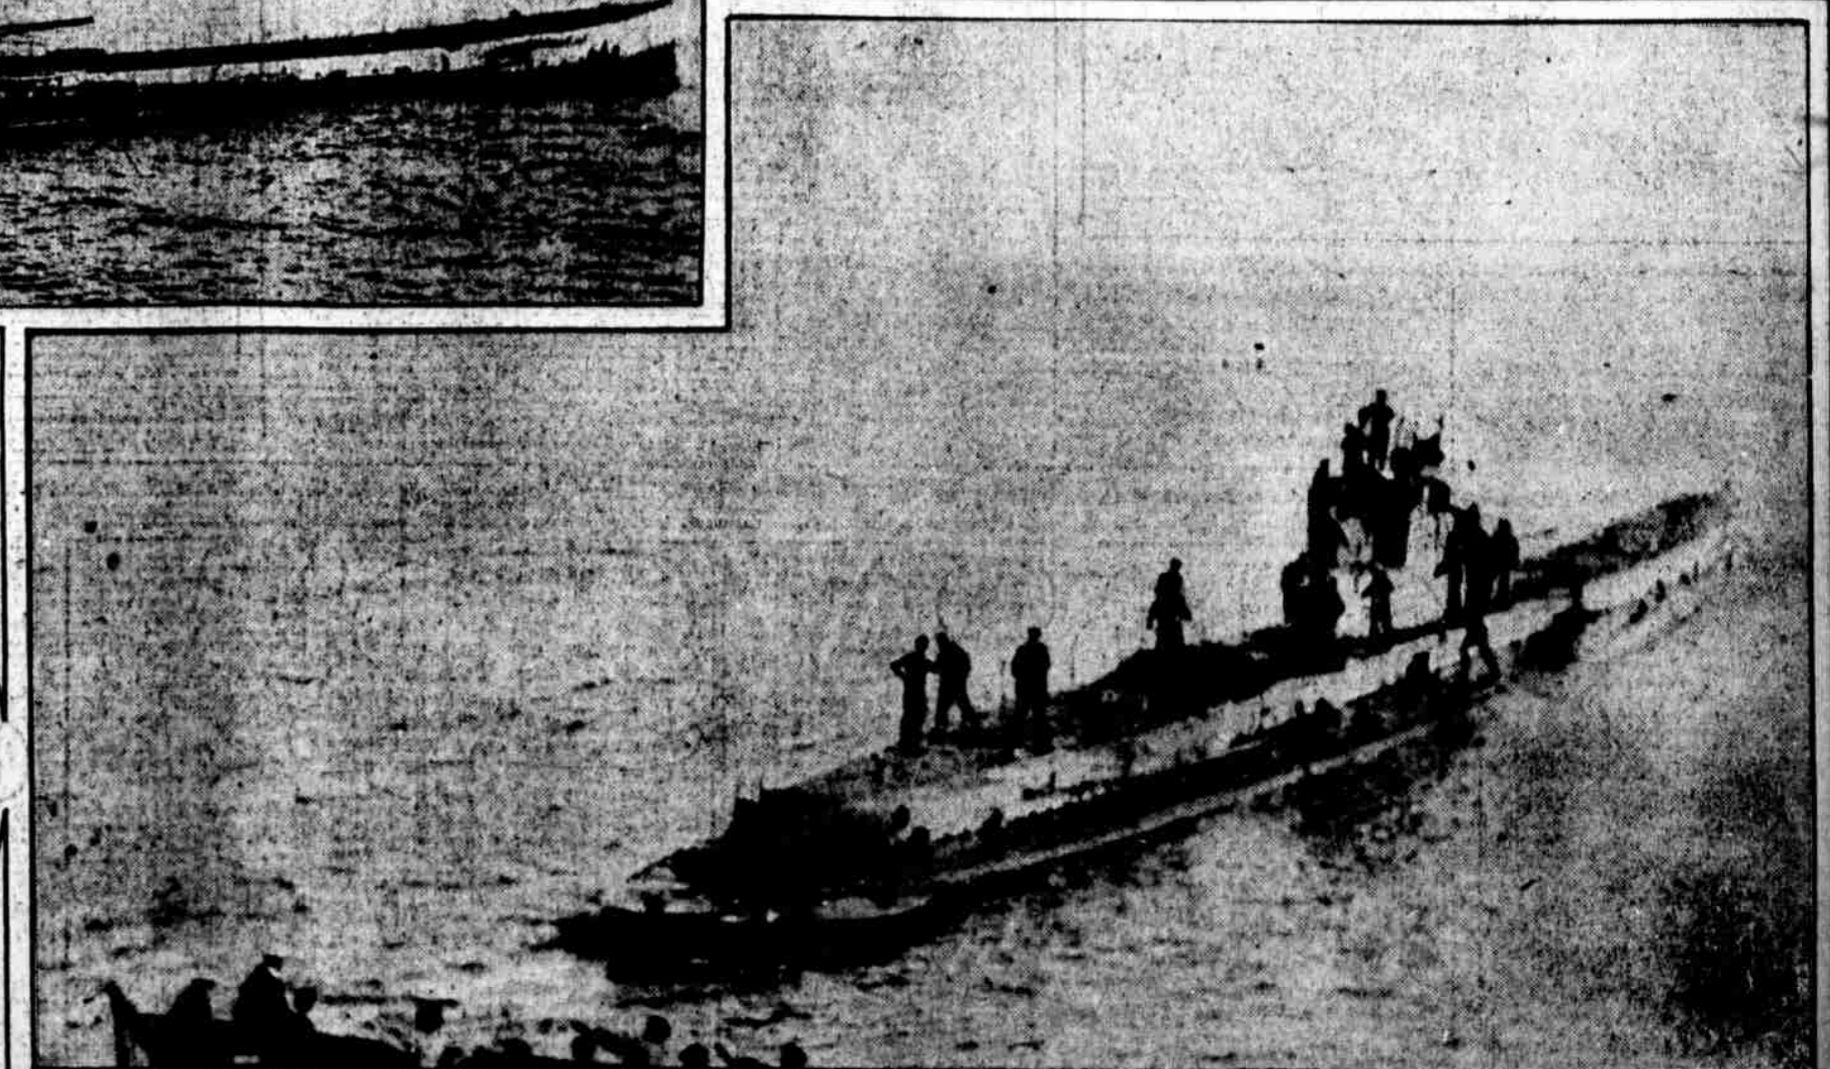

THE BIGGER THE U-BOATS the easier they are to hit, is the way the Allied naval gunners look at it. This close-up view of one of the Kaiser's so-called super-submarines was taken from the deck of a Dutch liner, whose papers the U-boat commander is in the act of examining.

A NAVAL OFFICER with vital duties is Captain F. W. Underwood, supervisor of overseas transport.

THE "BIG CHIEF" of the Fourth Naval District is Rear Admiral J. M. Helm, with headquarters in Philadelphia.

ANOTHER VIEW of the German submarine raider just as the officers of the halted Dutch liner were approaching with the ship's papers in obedience to the U-boat commander's order. A few minutes later a British patrol boat appeared on the horizon and the U-boat submerged, much to the joy of the Dutch seamen.
