Philadelphia Men Predict "Booze" Will Never Be Re-

Nothing to do but get out of th

This was the view taken today by of the passage yesterday by the Sen-invested in the invested into its plants would be converted into its plants, cold storage warshouses and places for the manufacture of its cream and soft drinks, but the majority will only manufacturing. ut the majority will quit manufacturing but the majority will quit manufacturing beer "for good," according to Mr. Roehm.

Mr. Goddard indicated that banks would be hit hard by the measure, as they have loaned millions of dollars on United States warehouse certificates. These certificates are negotiable and lany liquor firms have borrowed money nothern, he declared, and he could not alleve that the Government would them, he declared, and he could not leve that the Government would udlate them, thus forcing bankers who held the securities to the wall.

"The time is too short for large wholemalers to get out without a loss," Mr.
Goddard gaid, "The new tax measure will probably put a tax of $8 a gallon on spirits. It is now $3.20. That would make a case of whisky that now sells for 15 cost about $44. People will not buy t at that price, so, you see, we are going be heavy losers."

"Congress has provided in the measure that liquor may be manufactured and sold after the United States forces are demoralized," he said, "but that is too uncertain a contingency. No brewer are demoralized," he said, "but that is too uncertain a contingency. No brewer will take that risk. We will all get out of the business on the date set. But the majority of the brewers will manufacture beer up until the last day because the demand for this beverage is reater than the supply."

Philadelphia's revenues will be hit hard blow by this bill. Last year the city's liquor interests turned $1,910,-834.83 into the City Treasurer's coffers.
