

PHILADELPHIA HONORS FRANCE IN SHADOW OF INDEPENDENCE HALL—THE DAY'S NEWS IN PICTURES

MARINES, SAILORS and civilians gathered in Independence Square for the dual purpose of honoring the birthday of Lafayette and the valor of the French at the battle of the Marne. Above, to the right, Miss Alice Mourier, a flag-bearer, and a French sailor, guest of the city.

ON THE HEELS of the advancing infantry, the British artillery dashes forward to new positions and proceeds again to rake the Germans. British Official Photograph.

AMID THE REJOICING of the population, the Allied expeditionary force arrived in Vladivostok. The above photograph shows the first contingent passing the Czecho-Slovak headquarters. International Film Service.

FIT AS A FIDDLE, the American soldiers to the right are swinging forward to their positions in the British front lines. Official British Photograph.

THE TERROR OF THE GERMANS are the tanks, which crash relentlessly through forests and other military obstacles as though they were so much cardboard. French Pictorial Service.
