

DRY BREWERIES TO CLOSE HERE

Government Ban Finds Beer Makers Prepared to Shut Down

RELEASES 2000 MEN

Philadelphia Brewers' Association May Request Modification of Order

The Government order suspending all brewing operations December 1 means the closing of between thirty-five and forty breweries in Philadelphia and the release of approximately 2000 men for other work, as well as a considerable saving in barley, malt, sugar, coal and other materials used in brewing.

Philadelphia brewers would say little about the order today, although they admitted that it was not a great surprise to them. It was learned that within a few days the Philadelphia Lager Beer Brewers' Association will meet to consider the order and decide what will be done about it, although the prevalent opinion among those in the business is that there is nothing to do but submit.

Charles Barth, general manager of the Berghoff Brewing Company, said: "There is very little to be said. We were not much surprised. You can't be surprised at anything these days. I don't see now what can be done but close the brewery and let the men go. There will be a meeting of the association and, I suppose, the result will be some sort of request for a modification of the order. We employ about 150 men here."

G. W. Bergner, of the Bergner & Engel Brewing Company, is the president of the Philadelphia Beer Brewers' Association, and Charles F. Ettia, is secretary. At the office of the Bergner & Engel company, Mr. Bergner was reported out of the city and would not return for several days. At the association office it was said Mr. Ettia was out of the city and it was not known when he would be back.

The supply of beer is expected to be exhausted by February or March 1 unless the order closing the breweries is revoked. Since wartime prohibition is not far off, however, some brewers are said to be planning to convert their plants for other uses.

Of the thirty-five or forty breweries in Philadelphia, some are very small, two of them employing only one man each, the owners doing much of the work.

The larger breweries and the approximate number of men they employ are: Berghoff Brewing Company, 150; F. A. Bergner & Engel, 130; Bergner & Engel Brewing Company, 110; John P. Bots & Sons, Limited, 100; Baltz Brewing Company, 100; Arnholt & Schaefer, eighty-two; Prospect Brewing Company, eighty-two; Robert Smith & Sons Brewing Company, sixty-six; Weisbrod & Hess Brewing Company, 100.

BREWERIES ORDERED CLOSED DECEMBER 1

By the Associated Press Washington, Sept. 7. National-wide prohibition was a step nearer today as the result of the adoption by the Senate last night of the emergency agricultural appropriation bill, with its "dry" legislative rider and an announcement by the food administration that President Wilson would exercise his wartime authority to prohibit the manufacture of beer after next December 1.

Under the legislation enacted by the Senate, the manufacture of both beer and wine would be prohibited after next May 1 until the American troops are released from the war, and the sale of all intoxicants for beverage purposes would be prohibited after July 1. Under the President's order stopping the distillation of whisky, the production of wine will be the only intoxicating liquor which can be manufactured in the United States after that date, the distilling of whisky having been prohibited last year as a food conservation measure.

RABBI PLEADS FOR LOYALTY

Rev. Dr. Henry Berkowitz Tells of Jewish New Year's Spirit The necessity of loyalty was pointed out today by the Rev. Dr. Henry Berkowitz in the course of his sermon on the Jewish New Year, at the Rodef Shalom synagogue, Broad and Mount Vernon streets.

In addition to loyalty on the battle line he said it is highly essential behind the battle line in the shop, the factory, the office, the school, the church and the home.

The pilot was killed instantly. The passenger was killed by a fall from the plane.

WOUNDED MEN 'CARNIVAL STARS'

Crowds at Police Games Cheer as Veterans Limp Past

PARADE AROUND FIELD

Patrolman Haigh, of Tacony, Winner of Thrilling Mile Race

Ten thousand persons went to Franklin Field this afternoon for the fourth annual police athletic carnival and cheered over and over again the thirty-two wounded soldiers from the Lakewood, N. J., hospital, who were the honor guests.

The applause was deafening when the soldiers, led by Captain Jerome Shaffer and Lieutenant H. H. Hoy, limped around the field just before they departed to catch a train for the return to the hospital.

The soldiers sat in the press box, which was decorated with the Stars and Stripes, the Red Cross flag and bunting. Philadelphia girls sat among them entertaining them.

Limp Around Field At the end of the seventh event on the athletic program, the parade around the field was held. The police band, led by Joseph Keifer, headed the procession. Behind the band were several policemen with rifles, a special drill squad, commanded by Drillmaster Lieutenant Vincent.

Then came twenty-eight of the soldiers on foot, and those who were unable to walk rode in automobiles, accompanied by the young women who had entertained them in the press stand, and driven by members of the Red Cross motor messenger corps.

As they passed around the track, the crowd went wild all manner of noises uniting in one tremendous ovation for the parade.

The band, police drill squad, and the soldiers came to a front at the end of the field, where they stood while the "Star Spangled Banner" was played.

Return to Lakewood After the soldiers had been cheered again they left the field for the West Philadelphia station where the Pennsylvania Railroad, where they were en route to Lakewood.

The mile run was the most spectacular event of the athletic program, which is expected to result in a modification of the Police Pension Fund Association.

This race was won by Patrolman Lenny Haigh, of the Twenty-seventh District, in five minutes and six and four-fifths seconds. Haigh was the only man to start the race from scratch. The handicaps ranged up to ninety yards.

He won by a sprint in the last twenty-five yards that brought the crowd in both the north and south stands to its feet, cheering.

Judge Bregy is spending the day quietly at his Spring Lake, N. J., cottage, where he is summing in the hope of improving his health, which has been far from good for some time.

GERMAN HORDES SPREAD RUI Pillage, Dynamite and Burn Towns as They Flee By the United Press Paris, Sept. 7 (10:13 a. m.) With boundless rage the German hordes are systematically pillaging, then burning and dynamiting all cities and towns as they retreat. Allied troops have only two words—"vengeance" and "reprisals."

Military experts today are convinced the Germans will be forced to give up the St. Gobain highlands, the key to that region, as well as the Chemin-des-Dames. The concerted advance of the Franco-British forces toward Cambrai and St. Quentin is now distinctly menacing to St. Quentin.

SONS OF ST. GEORGE HOLD ANNUAL GAMES

Patriotism Big Feature of Outing by Britons at Maple Grove

Patriotism was a big feature of the thirty-sixth annual games held this afternoon at Maple Grove, Fox Chase, by the Order Sons of St. George, a fraternal society of Englishmen and Americans of English descent.

The games were the kind held in Great Britain, and in addition there were Scottish dance contests for girls. The proceeds will be given to dependents of British soldiers and sailors. The Calverton Club, a society of Scotchmen, participated in the games.

The address of the afternoon was made by J. Alfred Frost, president of the grand lodge of Pennsylvania, Order Sons of St. George, and his patriotic utterances were loudly cheered. All stood during the playing of "The Star Spangled Banner." There were races for men, women, boys and girls.

A military aspect was given the gathering by the presence of British soldiers from the recruiting missions. Among the contests was foot races for boys and girls, a 100-yard dash for men, a 200-yard dash for boys, and a 400-yard dash for boys.

Officials of the State Department declared today they had filed all nominations submitted by candidates under the Fair Play name if they were in proper form, and that it would be a matter for the nominees to launch proceedings to terminate who is entitled to use of the party name.

The time for filing the nominations expired last night, and several arriving after midnight were refused. One of them was from Ira T. Erdman, of Allentown, candidate for Senator.

"GAS" REPLACING HORSES IN WAR

Killing of Animals Makes Saving of Power-Fuel Urgent

2D SUNDAY REQUEST Ninety-five Per Cent Compliance Is Looked for Here Tomorrow

The deaths of thousands of horses and mules in the war and the need to replace them with motortrucks, supply one reason for the necessity of saving gasoline.

The second of the "gasless" Sundays will be tomorrow. National Fuel Administrator Garfield has requested that for the present pleasure riding in automobiles, motorboats, and on motorcycles be discontinued on Sundays.

"I look for at least a 95 per cent compliance this Sunday," said J. L. Cole, assistant State fuel administrator, "and hope the response will be unanimous."

"If the people only realized how badly gasoline was needed abroad they would not hesitate. They would just lock the garage Saturday night and forget all about their car until Monday morning."

"You see, motortrucks and even smaller cars are being used more and more in France. Thousands of horses and mules have been killed in the war, too. It has been found that the gasoline-driven vehicle does more work in much less time than does the horse or mule."

"Also, feed for the horses and mules is a big problem. Hay is so bulky that it takes up too much valuable space on ships, space that could better be used for munitions and food or supplies for the troops."

"Now gasoline can be sent over in tankships, vessels that cannot be used to carry anything else. Hundreds of thousands of barrels are needed monthly, not only by us, but by our allies. If we can save in the eastern States more than 150,000 barrels in one day we release just 7,500,000 gallons for shipment overseas."

"It may seem tough, and undoubtedly it is hard on the man who has only a few gallons of gasoline in his tank, but it is a necessary sacrifice. We must do our part to win the war."

Eighty-five per cent of the motorists of Philadelphia obeyed the request of the fuel administration last Sunday, while 81 per cent of those in the State at large did so.

This was a good showing and resulted in a net saving of more than 700,000 gallons of gasoline. The fuel administration is now satisfied. A number of cities and States had a better "patriotism" percentage than did Philadelphia and Pennsylvania. Illinois topped the list, with 93 per cent, and Wisconsin was third, with 91. New York was far down the list, with 74.

MUST REPAY SHARE OF LOOT Norristown Judge Imposes Unusual Punishment on Thieves Lower Merion township boys who stole $1000 worth of jewelry and other valuables from the home of L. W. Wilbur, at Camp Meade, yesterday, were punished in an unusual manner by Judge Swartz in Norristown today.

Each boy was required to earn, between now and November 9, a share of the amount of damage done by them. And they are not to stay away from school to do it. In earning the money they are to keep an account of every penny, jot it down and report in detail to the court. None of the boys may go to a "movie" unless accompanied by a parent.

The boys, and their parents, are required to earn: William Tisot, $30; Eric Tisot, $30; Harold Johnson, $25; Frank Doan, each $25; Frank Moore, $20; Douglas Trent, William Joseph Basil Walsh, Aloysius Maguire, Yearn Jorgensen, John Kleckner, each $10.

Drop Nonmilitary Courses Old Penn and Temple University Adopt War Curricula All courses not allied with military training at the University of Pennsylvania and Temple University have been dropped, and both institutions are now on a war basis.

Students will work fifty-eight hours a week and devote thirteen hours to military training. This course was adopted following instructions from the general staff of the army on the students' military training course.

Students will be fed, clothed and housed by the government, and will receive $30 a month. Plans are under way to make similar changes in several other colleges and smaller institutions in Philadelphia.

GERMAN PARISH GIVES 307 SONS

St. Peter's Church Will Honor Many Members in U. S. Service

RAISE FLAG TOMORROW Fifteen Wounded So Far, Grandparents Boast in Broken English

From one Philadelphia community, the Catholic parish of St. Peter's, where German has been the prevailing language for several generations because the forefathers came from Germany, more than 300 young men have enlisted with the Allies to fight for democracy.

White-haired women and stooped old men, who even now speak English with difficulty, smile proudly when you speak of their grandchildren in service and bring forth pictures of happy youths in khaki.

"It is our country now," explained a sweet-faced old woman in her broken English. "I must fight for what they believe in. I'm glad my little boys can help."

Raise Service Flag Tomorrow Because all the people of the community have the same spirit of patriotism, they have planned a celebration for tomorrow afternoon, when a service flag containing 307 blue stars will be unfurled. Fifteen of the boys have been wounded, but so far there has been no reason for substituting a gold star in the flag.

The St. Peter's Dramatic Association, St. Peter's Young Men's Society, St. Peter's Knights and the Good Shepherd Society will present the flag to the parish and it will be placed on the church.

The entire neighborhood will be gala with flags and bunting in honor of the occasion, and 5000 persons are expected to participate in the celebration, which will begin at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon with a parade.

Sixteen hundred school children will be in the procession, which will march east on Girard avenue from Fifth street to Second, countermarch to Broad street and then to St. Peter's Church, Fifth street and Girard avenue. A living service flag formed by 300 school girls will be one of the big features.

Exercises in Schoolyard Patriotic songs and band music will be included on the program, which will be given in the schoolyard. James R. Sheehan, Register of Wills, will deliver the address.
