

Washington, Sept. 25.—Generally cloudy tonight and Thursday; not much change in temperature.

TEMPERATURE AT EACH HOUR. Table with 24 columns and 2 rows of temperature data.

8 CITY SOLDIERS KILLED, 13 HURT AND 7 MISSING

Captain W. F. Guilfoyle Unofficially Reported Dead of Wounds

LIEUTENANT IS HIT

In All, Thirty-eight Men From This District Among War Casualties

Roll of Honor of City and Vicinity for Today

- KILLED IN ACTION: SERGEANT CHARLES H. KEELER, 247 North Fifth street, (officially reported); SERGEANT HARRY IRELAND, 108 North Woodcock street, (officially reported); CORPORAL NORMAN S. PHILLIPS, 324 North 25th street, (officially reported); CORPORAL WILLIAM D. SHERLOCK, 1807 South Locust street, (officially reported); PRIVATE JOSEPH WALTER HANSEN, 1044 North Fourth street, (officially reported); PRIVATE JOHN NAGLE, 2421 Naudain street, (officially reported); PRIVATE WILLIAM GANNON, 14 South Fifth street, (officially reported).

DIED OF WOUNDS

PREVIOUSLY REPORTED CASUALTY: CAPTAIN WILLIAM F. GILLESPIE, 408 Baltimore avenue, (officially reported); PRIVATE WILLIAM H. GANNON, 14 South Fifth street, (officially reported).

FIRST REPORTED KILLED

LIEUTENANT JOSEPH H. BOLLESTON, 1810 South 4th street.

WOUNDED

CORPORAL EDWARD REYNOLDS, 528 South Water street; WAGONER EARL S. RILEY, 6129 Madison avenue; PRIVATE JAMES ALEXANDER, 2841 North 1st street; PRIVATE HARRY DOYLE, American and South streets; PRIVATE WILLIAM FINCH, 2217 South Seventeenth street; PRIVATE WALTER FELTON, rear of 492 South 10th street; PRIVATE ANTHONY MURRAY, 1831 Biting street; PRIVATE DANIEL CELLAUCE, 208 North 33rd street; PRIVATE FRANCIS ANTONIANNI, 6114 South 8th street; PRIVATE PHILIP J. DI FABIO, 422 South 34th street; PRIVATE ARTHUR D. DOWLEY, 1318 South 33rd street; PRIVATE WALTER BAKER, 2919 Market street; PRIVATE PETER PASCHUKA, 3237 James street.

MISSING

SERGEANT JOSEPH W. GRIESSNER, 3911 Franklin street; CORPORAL ARTHUR GILLESPIE, 706 North 20th street; PRIVATE ROBERT L. ANDERSON, 826 North Ringwood street; PRIVATE DAVID J. GAIN, 5019 Sillas street; PRIVATE EDWARD D. DANIELS, 2933 1/2 North 25th street; PRIVATE LOUIS L. SASSO, 243 North 5th street; PRIVATE JAMES E. STURKER, 2155 North 15th street; PRIVATE EDWARD WOODBURY, of Philadelphia, Pa.; PRIVATE EDWARD L. WILLIAMS, of Norwood, Pa.; CORPORAL WILLIAM J. LUTZ, of Philadelphia, Pa.; CORPORAL JOSEPH A. LORHAM, of Philadelphia, Pa.; PRIVATE REUBEN CROTHAMER, of Norristown, Pa.; PRIVATE EDWARD GREEN, of Philadelphia, Pa.; PRIVATE RAYMOND GROSS, of Lancaster, Pa.

FROM NEARBY POINTS

LIEUTENANT ROBERT WOODBURY, of Philadelphia, Pa.; PRIVATE EDWARD L. WILLIAMS, of Norwood, Pa.; CORPORAL WILLIAM J. LUTZ, of Philadelphia, Pa.; CORPORAL JOSEPH A. LORHAM, of Philadelphia, Pa.; PRIVATE REUBEN CROTHAMER, of Norristown, Pa.; PRIVATE EDWARD GREEN, of Philadelphia, Pa.; PRIVATE RAYMOND GROSS, of Lancaster, Pa.

CANADIAN CASUALTY LIST

PRIVATE F. G. MAYOCK, Gloucester City, N. J. (No names are given as the Canadian authorities.)

THE COMPLETE LIST OF CASUALTIES ANNOUNCED TODAY BY THE WAR DEPARTMENT IS PRINTED ON PAGE 9.

Thirty more Philadelphia heroes are added today to the list of casualties in the American army overseas. In all, thirty-eight men from this district are included among those reported today to have fallen in battle or as missing after engagements with the enemy.

Eight soldiers from this city are reported among those killed, and two gassed.

One soldier from this city—Captain William F. Guilfoyle, 4108 Baltimore avenue—is unofficially reported to have died of wounds. The last report concerning his fate received from France told of his having been gassed. A lieutenant whose home is here is officially listed today as killed in action. He has written his wife, however, that he was wounded. It is considered probable that a mistake has been made by the War Department in reporting his death.

Another Darby boy has been killed in action. Thirteen Philadelphians have been wounded, according to the official casualty lists, and seven are missing in action.

Eight out-of-town men are also reported casualties, one has been killed, four are missing and two are wounded.

In all, 375 American soldiers are on the two casualty lists released for publication today by the War Department. The official list published in the morning newspapers is made up of 187 names.

Continued on Page Two, Column Four

MORE DOLLARS MELTED HERE Mint Ships $10,000,000 Worth of Bullion This Month

So far this month there have been shipped from this city $10,000,000 in silver bullion derived from the melting of silver dollars at the Philadelphia Mint. This compares with $3,000,000 shipped in the month of August, and in July and August total silver shipments from this city to $63,000,000.

ACCUSED EDITOR DEFIANT IN COURT

Werner Admits Writing Editorials Called Hostile by United States

INSISTS ON HIS VIEWS

The United States would not be at war with Germany today, despite the submarine outrages, if the question of war had been put to a vote of the people, declared Louis Werner, formerly a Philadelphia Telegraph editor, on the stand today, in his own defense in the United States District Court.

Werner admitted writing editorials complained of by the Government, one entitled "The Fourth of July," published on that national anniversary last year. The article, "Gloom Upon Gloom," was published August 2, 1917, in the Telegraph.

When J. Roberts, special government prosecutor in the case, treated his cross-examination questions on the Fourth of July editorial.

"How do you explain your phrase, 'The Fourth of July'?" asked Roberts.

"Well, before the war, most of their folks resided in England and they had to travel across England and they had to go through the completely and practically unbroken air."

Denial by Editor.

Asked if the editorial was written to aid the United States in the war, Werner replied it had nothing to do with the war.

"What do you mean by saying from that a call for peace will come from the 'bosses'?" was that designed to help the United States?

"Hereafter, if the Fourth of July is to be for the leaders to do what they liked," Werner replied.

"Why did you make your reference to England if you know she was our ally?"

"I didn't know it and I don't know it yet."

Denies People Wanted War.

Asked what he meant by letting the people vote upon the question of war with Germany, Werner answered, "I never had had a vote there would not have been any congress would not let the people vote upon it. I know Congress declared war, but it didn't express the opinion of the majority of the people."

Werner tried to minimize the German "loot campaign" which destroyed the Lusitania with the loss of many American lives. He said the editor "Alabama" was lifted up in England by the "loot" during the Civil War and "sent more than 100 American ships to the bottom" and that the United States didn't go to war with England.

Werner said he didn't know that President Lincoln wanted to go to war over the "Alabama" incident. He said that German submarines didn't sink more than four American ships.

"How many American ships would require to be sunk?" queried Roberts.

"I like it," he replied, "that Germany already had enough enemies without getting the United States as an enemy, and therefore it didn't deliberately attack American ships. All neutrals suffer during war."

The government prosecutor quoted to Werner an explanation for the assertions of the "loot" by the editorial "Gloom upon Gloom." In this editorial, whose authorship Werner admitted, it was stated:

"The looting of neutrals is a crime with never been swallowed it. There is no lack of slaves in the camp of the Allies. The German lion is able to hold his own in France and in Flanders and in the Aisne and administer blows with the other paw."

Refuses to Answer.

Under examination of William A. Gray, defense counsel, Werner denied all knowledge of all editorials and news items.

Continued on Page Six, Column Seven

LOAN MESSAGES TO KAISER

Shells to Carry Subscribers' Compliments to Bill

Every subscriber to the Fourth Liberty Loan will have the opportunity of sending a direct personal message to Kaiser Wilhelm at Berlin, according to Richard E. Norton director of publicity for the district.

When the subscriber signs for his amount at the Liberty Loan booth he will also fill out a slip bearing the following message:

"John Doe, who is subscribing to $100 worth of Liberty Loan bonds, sends the following message to the Kaiser: At his pen he subscribes can us his wn indignity. The message he writes is taken by the Philadelphia Post-Examiner and will be furnished on the surface of a shell.

Six thousand shells a day are sent to Europe with Berlin as their ultimate destination and every Liberty Loan subscriber has the chance of sending his own little personal note of regards to the "Totemid gang."

BUILDING CHIEF NAMED

John F. Huneker to Supervise Projects in This City

John F. Huneker, well known in art and building circles, was appointed Federal director of buildings for Philadelphia today by Judge J. Willis Martin, chairman of the Pennsylvania Branch Council of National Defense.

Mr. Huneker will have supervision of all building operations in this city. It will be necessary to receive his approval before any building ventures may be started. Any repairs work exceeding $2500 will also have to receive his endorsement before it can be started.

When you think of writing, think of WRITING—L.A.

GOMPERS SHOWS ALLIES FIRMNESS OF U.S. WORKERS

Resolutions Introduced at Allied Conferences Reveal President's Purpose

WAR TO THE BITTER END

Defeat of American's Motions Does Not Mean Failure of Mission

By CLINTON W. GILBERT Staff Correspondent Evening Public Ledger

Washington, Sept. 25.

Official information just reaching here throws a new light on Samuel Gompers' mission to England, and indirectly upon the war aims of the Administration and perhaps upon those of the Allied Governments. Mr. Gompers went away at the head of a delegation representing American organized labor to attend the International Socialist and labor conferences in England.

At the conference held at Derby, Mr. Gompers asked that a resolution be adopted declaring that the war should be carried on to a complete military defeat of Germany. His motion was seconded by Havelock Wilson, president of the Seaman's Union.

At the London meeting Mr. Gompers asked that a resolution be adopted which read: "We will meet in conference with those only of the Central Powers who are in open revolt against their autocratic governments."

How do you explain your phrase, 'The Fourth of July'?" asked Roberts.

"Well, before the war, most of their folks resided in England and they had to travel across England and they had to go through the completely and practically unbroken air."

Denial by Editor.

Asked if the editorial was written to aid the United States in the war, Werner replied it had nothing to do with the war.

"What do you mean by saying from that a call for peace will come from the 'bosses'?" was that designed to help the United States?

"Hereafter, if the Fourth of July is to be for the leaders to do what they liked," Werner replied.

"Why did you make your reference to England if you know she was our ally?"

"I didn't know it and I don't know it yet."

Denies People Wanted War.

Asked what he meant by letting the people vote upon the question of war with Germany, Werner answered, "I never had had a vote there would not have been any congress would not let the people vote upon it. I know Congress declared war, but it didn't express the opinion of the majority of the people."

Werner tried to minimize the German "loot campaign" which destroyed the Lusitania with the loss of many American lives. He said the editor "Alabama" was lifted up in England by the "loot" during the Civil War and "sent more than 100 American ships to the bottom" and that the United States didn't go to war with England.

Werner said he didn't know that President Lincoln wanted to go to war over the "Alabama" incident. He said that German submarines didn't sink more than four American ships.

"How many American ships would require to be sunk?" queried Roberts.

"I like it," he replied, "that Germany already had enough enemies without getting the United States as an enemy, and therefore it didn't deliberately attack American ships. All neutrals suffer during war."

The government prosecutor quoted to Werner an explanation for the assertions of the "loot" by the editorial "Gloom upon Gloom." In this editorial, whose authorship Werner admitted, it was stated:

"The looting of neutrals is a crime with never been swallowed it. There is no lack of slaves in the camp of the Allies. The German lion is able to hold his own in France and in Flanders and in the Aisne and administer blows with the other paw."

Refuses to Answer.

Under examination of William A. Gray, defense counsel, Werner denied all knowledge of all editorials and news items.

Continued on Page Six, Column Seven

VON HERTLING RAIVES OVER PEACE FAILURE

Chancellor Blames Wilson for Lack of Attention Given His "Acceptance" of the Famous Four Points—Bitterly Complains of War Fury Here

DEEP DISCONTENT SEIZES WIDE CIRCLES OF GERMAN POPULATION

By the Associated Press

Amsterdam, Sept. 25.

Count von Hertling, the German Imperial Chancellor, in addressing the Reichstag Main Committee, complained of the lack of attention his acceptance in the four points laid down by President Wilson for peace negotiations had met from the American executive.

The Chancellor asserted that on February 22 of this year he declared in the Reichstag his agreement in principle with the possibility of discussing a general peace on the basis of the four points of President Wilson's message of February 2, but that President Wilson, months ago, had time and time again taken notice of the Chancellor's declaration.

He said he had no intention of trying to diminish this process by word-of-mouth, but, nevertheless, if this declaration is influenced by the present military situation, by the events on the western front, I must, without attempting to anticipate a statement which will be made by the American representative of the War Ministry, be content with the fact that it has exceeded its limit.

He said he had no intention of trying to diminish this process by word-of-mouth, but, nevertheless, if this declaration is influenced by the present military situation, by the events on the western front, I must, without attempting to anticipate a statement which will be made by the American representative of the War Ministry, be content with the fact that it has exceeded its limit.

He said he had no intention of trying to diminish this process by word-of-mouth, but, nevertheless, if this declaration is influenced by the present military situation, by the events on the western front, I must, without attempting to anticipate a statement which will be made by the American representative of the War Ministry, be content with the fact that it has exceeded its limit.

He said he had no intention of trying to diminish this process by word-of-mouth, but, nevertheless, if this declaration is influenced by the present military situation, by the events on the western front, I must, without attempting to anticipate a statement which will be made by the American representative of the War Ministry, be content with the fact that it has exceeded its limit.

He said he had no intention of trying to diminish this process by word-of-mouth, but, nevertheless, if this declaration is influenced by the present military situation, by the events on the western front, I must, without attempting to anticipate a statement which will be made by the American representative of the War Ministry, be content with the fact that it has exceeded its limit.

He said he had no intention of trying to diminish this process by word-of-mouth, but, nevertheless, if this declaration is influenced by the present military situation, by the events on the western front, I must, without attempting to anticipate a statement which will be made by the American representative of the War Ministry, be content with the fact that it has exceeded its limit.

He said he had no intention of trying to diminish this process by word-of-mouth, but, nevertheless, if this declaration is influenced by the present military situation, by the events on the western front, I must, without attempting to anticipate a statement which will be made by the American representative of the War Ministry, be content with the fact that it has exceeded its limit.

He said he had no intention of trying to diminish this process by word-of-mouth, but, nevertheless, if this declaration is influenced by the present military situation, by the events on the western front, I must, without attempting to anticipate a statement which will be made by the American representative of the War Ministry, be content with the fact that it has exceeded its limit.

He said he had no intention of trying to diminish this process by word-of-mouth, but, nevertheless, if this declaration is influenced by the present military situation, by the events on the western front, I must, without attempting to anticipate a statement which will be made by the American representative of the War Ministry, be content with the fact that it has exceeded its limit.

He said he had no intention of trying to diminish this process by word-of-mouth, but, nevertheless, if this declaration is influenced by the present military situation, by the events on the western front, I must, without attempting to anticipate a statement which will be made by the American representative of the War Ministry, be content with the fact that it has exceeded its limit.

He said he had no intention of trying to diminish this process by word-of-mouth, but, nevertheless, if this declaration is influenced by the present military situation, by the events on the western front, I must, without attempting to anticipate a statement which will be made by the American representative of the War Ministry, be content with the fact that it has exceeded its limit.

He said he had no intention of trying to diminish this process by word-of-mouth, but, nevertheless, if this declaration is influenced by the present military situation, by the events on the western front, I must, without attempting to anticipate a statement which will be made by the American representative of the War Ministry, be content with the fact that it has exceeded its limit.

He said he had no intention of trying to diminish this process by word-of-mouth, but, nevertheless, if this declaration is influenced by the present military situation, by the events on the western front, I must, without attempting to anticipate a statement which will be made by the American representative of the War Ministry, be content with the fact that it has exceeded its limit.

He said he had no intention of trying to diminish this process by word-of-mouth, but, nevertheless, if this declaration is influenced by the present military situation, by the events on the western front, I must, without attempting to anticipate a statement which will be made by the American representative of the War Ministry, be content with the fact that it has exceeded its limit.

He said he had no intention of trying to diminish this process by word-of-mouth, but, nevertheless, if this declaration is influenced by the present military situation, by the events on the western front, I must, without attempting to anticipate a statement which will be made by the American representative of the War Ministry, be content with the fact that it has exceeded its limit.

He said he had no intention of trying to diminish this process by word-of-mouth, but, nevertheless, if this declaration is influenced by the present military situation, by the events on the western front, I must, without attempting to anticipate a statement which will be made by the American representative of the War Ministry, be content with the fact that it has exceeded its limit.

He said he had no intention of trying to diminish this process by word-of-mouth, but, nevertheless, if this declaration is influenced by the present military situation, by the events on the western front, I must, without attempting to anticipate a statement which will be made by the American representative of the War Ministry, be content with the fact that it has exceeded its limit.

He said he had no intention of trying to diminish this process by word-of-mouth, but, nevertheless, if this declaration is influenced by the present military situation, by the events on the western front, I must, without attempting to anticipate a statement which will be made by the American representative of the War Ministry, be content with the fact that it has exceeded its limit.

He said he had no intention of trying to diminish this process by word-of-mouth, but, nevertheless, if this declaration is influenced by the present military situation, by the events on the western front, I must, without attempting to anticipate a statement which will be made by the American representative of the War Ministry, be content with the fact that it has exceeded its limit.

He said he had no intention of trying to diminish this process by word-of-mouth, but, nevertheless, if this declaration is influenced by the present military situation, by the events on the western front, I must, without attempting to anticipate a statement which will be made by the American representative of the War Ministry, be content with the fact that it has exceeded its limit.

He said he had no intention of trying to diminish this process by word-of-mouth, but, nevertheless, if this declaration is influenced by the present military situation, by the events on the western front, I must, without attempting to anticipate a statement which will be made by the American representative of the War Ministry, be content with the fact that it has exceeded its limit.

He said he had no intention of trying to diminish this process by word-of-mouth, but, nevertheless, if this declaration is influenced by the present military situation, by the events on the western front, I must, without attempting to anticipate a statement which will be made by the American representative of the War Ministry, be content with the fact that it has exceeded its limit.

He said he had no intention of trying to diminish this process by word-of-mouth, but, nevertheless, if this declaration is influenced by the present military situation, by the events on the western front, I must, without attempting to anticipate a statement which will be made by the American representative of the War Ministry, be content with the fact that it has exceeded its limit.

He said he had no intention of trying to diminish this process by word-of-mouth, but, nevertheless, if this declaration is influenced by the present military situation, by the events on the western front, I must, without attempting to anticipate a statement which will be made by the American representative of the War Ministry, be content with the fact that it has exceeded its limit.

He said he had no intention of trying to diminish this process by word-of-mouth, but, nevertheless, if this declaration is influenced by the present military situation, by the events on the western front, I must, without attempting to anticipate a statement which will be made by the American representative of the War Ministry, be content with the fact that it has exceeded its limit.

He said he had no intention of trying to diminish this process by word-of-mouth, but, nevertheless, if this declaration is influenced by the present military situation, by the events on the western front, I must, without attempting to anticipate a statement which will be made by the American representative of the War Ministry, be content with the fact that it has exceeded its limit.

He said he had no intention of trying to diminish this process by word-of-mouth, but, nevertheless, if this declaration is influenced by the present military situation, by the events on the western front, I must, without attempting to anticipate a statement which will be made by the American representative of the War Ministry, be content with the fact that it has exceeded its limit.

He said he had no intention of trying to diminish this process by word-of-mouth, but, nevertheless, if this declaration is influenced by the present military situation, by the events on the western front, I must, without attempting to anticipate a statement which will be made by the American representative of the War Ministry, be content with the fact that it has exceeded its limit.

He said he had no intention of trying to diminish this process by word-of-mouth, but, nevertheless, if this declaration is influenced by the present military situation, by the events on the western front, I must, without attempting to anticipate a statement which will be made by the American representative of the War Ministry, be content with the fact that it has exceeded its limit.

He said he had no intention of trying to diminish this process by word-of-mouth, but, nevertheless, if this declaration is influenced by the present military situation, by the events on the western front, I must, without attempting to anticipate a statement which will be made by the American representative of the War Ministry, be content with the fact that it has exceeded its limit.

He said he had no intention of trying to diminish this process by word-of-mouth, but, nevertheless, if this declaration is influenced by the present military situation, by the events on the western front, I must, without attempting to anticipate a statement which will be made by the American representative of the War Ministry, be content with the fact that it has exceeded its limit.

He said he had no intention of trying to diminish this process by word-of-mouth, but, nevertheless, if this declaration is influenced by the present military situation, by the events on the western front, I must, without attempting to anticipate a statement which will be made by the American representative of the War Ministry, be content with the fact that it has exceeded its limit.

He said he had no intention of trying to diminish this process by word-of-mouth, but, nevertheless, if this declaration is influenced by the present military situation, by the events on the western front, I must, without attempting to anticipate a statement which will be made by the American representative of the War Ministry, be content with the fact that it has exceeded its limit.

He said he had no intention of trying to diminish this process by word-of-mouth, but, nevertheless, if this declaration is influenced by the present military situation, by the events on the western front, I must, without attempting to anticipate a statement which will be made by the American representative of the War Ministry, be content with the fact that it has exceeded its limit.

He said he had no intention of trying to diminish this process by word-of-mouth, but, nevertheless, if this declaration is influenced by the present military situation, by the events on the western front, I must, without attempting to anticipate a statement which will be made by the American representative of the War Ministry, be content with the fact that it has exceeded its limit.

He said he had no intention of trying to diminish this process by word-of-mouth, but, nevertheless, if this declaration is influenced by the present military situation, by the events on the western front, I must, without attempting to anticipate a statement which will be made by the American representative of the War Ministry, be content with the fact that it has exceeded its limit.

He said he had no intention of trying to diminish this process by word-of-mouth, but, nevertheless, if this declaration is influenced by the present military situation, by the events on the western front, I must, without attempting to anticipate a statement which will be made by the American representative of the War Ministry, be content with the fact that it has exceeded its limit.

He said he had no intention of trying to diminish this process by word-of-mouth, but, nevertheless, if this declaration is influenced by the present military situation, by the events on the western front, I must, without attempting to anticipate a statement which will be made by the American representative of the War Ministry, be content with the fact that it has exceeded its limit.

He said he had no intention of trying to diminish this process by word-of-mouth, but, nevertheless, if this declaration is influenced by the present military situation, by the events on the western front, I must, without attempting to anticipate a statement which will be made by the American representative of the War Ministry, be content with the fact that it has exceeded its limit.

He said he had no intention of trying to diminish this process by word-of-mouth, but, nevertheless, if this declaration is influenced by the present military situation, by the events on the western front, I must, without attempting to anticipate a statement which will be made by the American representative of the War Ministry, be content with the fact that it has exceeded its limit.

He said he had no intention of trying to diminish this process by word-of-mouth, but, nevertheless, if this declaration is influenced by the present military situation, by the events on the western front, I must, without attempting to anticipate a statement which will be made by the American representative of the War Ministry, be content with the fact that it has exceeded its limit.

He said he had no intention of trying to diminish this process by word-of-mouth, but, nevertheless, if this declaration is influenced by the present military situation, by the events on the western front, I must, without attempting to anticipate a statement which will be made by the American representative of the War Ministry, be content with the fact that it has exceeded its limit.

ALLIES PUSH BULGARS TO VELES BASE

Right Wing Drives Force North on Both Banks of Vardar

USKUB MENACED; PRILEP CAPTURED

Bulgar Defense Stiffens as Forces Fall Back to Own Frontier

SERBS SINKING WEDGE

Blow Cutting Enemy Armies in Twain Is Struck Successfully

By the Associated Press

London, Sept. 25.

Master strokes in the Allied forces in the Balkans are rolling back the enemy all along the Danube line except at the town of the six-week-old wedge where the Bulgars, pushed to their own imperious frontier, are making a determined stand.

Stiborov's force is being outflanked by the Allies under General Franchet d'Espèrey, beyond Dimitriev, where fighting is proceeding along the River Vardar, according to a Serbian official statement. The Bulgarians are holding strong positions on the heights.

Prilep Now Objective

Part of the Vardar River in Macedonia, the Germans and Bulgarians are falling back on Velestina, five miles southeast of Prilep.

Along the Balkan front the Serbians have continued their drive and a great number of ammunition dumps and other supplies have been captured.

The advance of the Serbian troops without any interruption on the left bank of the Vardar and south of the Prilep-Graçak road, French troops have captured Prilep.

The Serbian army is fighting toward Velestina and is fighting toward Velestina.

The Serbian army is fighting toward Velestina and is fighting toward Velestina.

The Serbian army is fighting