WOUNDED AND GASED, HELPS TO BUILD SHIPS

Veteran Discharged as Unfit, but Still Aids in Struggle

In one of the warehouses at Hog Island works R. J. Smith, a former private of company E, 161st Infantry, who fought the Germans until with several wounds and a gassing besides, he was discharged from the army as unfit for further service.

Smith was a member of one of the first American regiments landed in France. He was put to camouflaging railroad tracks and heavy artillery in the Toul sector. While doing this his company was attacked by the Germans and he was shot in the leg. They sent him to a base hospital and after he recovered sent him back to his company. In another fight shortly afterwards he was shot in the foot, which resulted in another period in the hospital.

Back to the front he went again as soon as discharged from the hospital and before his gas mask took one from Kennel Hill by the Americans he was struck in the hip by a fragment of a high explosive shell. Then came the third experience in the hospital and before this was over he found himself minus about two inches of bone, which had to be removed by the surgeons. Then Smith was ordered sent back to the United States, but he convinced his superiors that he had only started to fight and they gave him another chance with his regiment, crippled though he was.

Only a few weeks later Smith got into another fight with the Germans and losing his gas mask took one from a dead German, but was unable to put the thing on quickly enough to escape the chlorine fumes from the enemy lines. He was overcome and after a long stay in a hospital was finally discharged from the army.

LAUNCH DESTROYER TODAY

Simple and Private Ceremony in New York Yard, Camden

The United States torpedoed destroyer Twiger will be launched at the New York Shipyard, Camden, this morning at 9.30. The launching will be private, and only the officials and employees of the shipyard and the launching party will be present.

The sponsor will be Miss Lillie S. Getchell, 1422 Spruce street, Philadelphia, a granddaughter of the late Major Levi Twiger, an officer in the marine corps, for whom the destroyer is named. The Twiger is the second of a series of a fleet launched at the New York yard. The other two were launched the early part of the month, and two more probably will be launched next week.

GLOUCESTER LOOP FINISHED

Trolley and Other Improvements Made for Men

The new car loop around the main office building of the Pusey & Jones Company at Gloucester, will be in operation Monday. The shipworkers there have been informed. It was put in by the public service department under the direction of the Emergency Fleet Corporation, and means a lot to the employees who have to trolley to and from the plant every day.

Another great convenience to many is a new building to be erected between the garage and farmhouse for the transportation and public service department. In this there will be lockers, etc., for the men. After the loop is put into operation, the men will leave the yard at the middle gate. Turnstiles will be located near the transportation building. The new trolley cars are expected soon.

EMPLOYEES of the Pusey & Jones Company who have used for coal the coming winter and have not yet laid it in will get some comfort from the fact that P. J. Tompkins, an officer in the marine corps, for whom the destroyer is named. The Twiger is the second of a series of a fleet launched at the New York yard. The other two were launched the early part of the month, and two more probably will be launched next week.

DAN PACKER, of the Pusey & Jones main office, Gloucester, has lost his checkbook, and although still holding on to his deposit book he would be pleased if anybody were to return the other.

BILL ATKINSON, of the Pusey & Jones Gloucester coat department, is hunting for an automobile tire that was stolen from his car, and until he finds them his car will take a vacation.

ARTHUR T. LISING, first editor of the Pusey & Jones Shipyarder, raised first in a class of seventy in the aviation school at Ithaca, N. Y. Lising was studying at Penn when the war broke and was editor of the university daily paper. He edited the Shipyarder only a few weeks before he returned to his country taking him away among the first.

FOREMEN in the Sun Ship Company's welding and boiler shop at Chester, Pa. already sold in their men more than $500 worth of Liberty Bonds, with the campaign not yet under way.

J. H. LOUGHRAN and others at the Chester shipyard are working on an attractive poster to be mailed to the boys at the front in the shipyard to remind them of their duty to buy Liberty Bonds. The poster has Uncle Sam expects of that one yard in the campaign.

JACK RIDGE, of the Pusey & Jones Gloucester machine shop at Chester, Pa. is celebrating for his wife and will soon be happy again.

C. JAGGERS, of the Sun Ship's mold loft, is burning a lot of midnight oil over plans for a new home at Westfield, N. J.

MAXWELL JAMES, of the Sun Ship Company, has joined the naval reserves.

DICK MERRIOT, of the Sun mold loft, has gone back to Penn Charter School to teach.

REDS HODD, of the Sun Cannery, is now after a motorboat for fall sport on the Delaware and is seriously thinking of buying his canoe at the bottom of the river for the winter to save trouble.

JOHN McFADDEEN, of the information department at Hog Island, buries home in the evening now to take a good night's sleep. He has been working on the information department and was wounded several times when the American forces took Vera Cruz.

EDWARD THARDON, of Hog Island information department, since the colors at Fort Slocum, N. Y. Joseph Verda, of the Hog Island watch, who has been working on the information department and was wounded several times when the American forces took Vera Cruz.

WILLIAM J. LOAN, star caller of the Hog Island ball team, is entering for the hull fabrication department and reported for duty with the United States naval reserves as a second-class hospital apprentice.

AN EMPLOYEE can check his grip or his wallet either at the 25th street gate at Hog Island now. They have just opened a booth there for that purpose and the employees are all invited to make the best use of it.

J. D. ANDERSON, superintendent of the electrical department at Hog Island, has been appointed manager, and will have in his charge all of shops except those in the air tool department.

THREE HUNDRED AND TWENTY-FOUR MEN have joined the night force for the shipyard organized about two weeks ago by Assistant General Manager J. J. Sullivan.

ONE HUNDRED AND SIXTY-FIVE GIRLS at Hog Island have entered for the relay race and 100 yard dash at Hog Island's track meet this afternoon. Big crowd expected.

MEMBERS IN A CHURCH at Hog Island now and groups will be out of date with the new calendar.

These Coats Are Ready to Offer A Stiff Counter-Offensive to Winter

They have the right stuff in them and aren't a bit afraid of winter's bluster. The materials are thick, the collars, whether of self-material, of plush or of fur, can be buttoned close under the chin and, in many instances, there is a warm interlining.

A Soldierly Top-Coat

It's of olive drab wool, much like the military, and is thick and weather-resisting. There is a deep inverted pleat in the back, a belt and four patch pockets on the front. (Sketched.) $18.75.

A Variety of Models at $25

One is of brown, taupe or Burgundy burella with inverted pleats in the back extending to the belt; the collar is of fur-fabric and the coat is half lined. Another coat, of velour in the same colorings, is box pleated, belted, half lined and is trimmed about the pockets and collar with fur-fabric. Kit coney collars are used on several models in velour and burella at this price. The coats are half or fully lined and generously pocketed.

Velour in Green, Brown and Navy is used for a coat with a broad collar of fur fabric and a half lining. The back is laid in small tucks and the front is gathered. $27.50.

Coats With Fur Collars, $29.75

Snug coats of wool velour in navy, Burgundy, brown and green, have collars of sealene, kit coney or nutria. They are made in a number of different ways and are lined with plain or figured silk and interlined.

A coat with both collar and pockets of fur is $33.75. (Market) of very soft velours, Bolivias, pompons, ivora and broadcloth are beautifully lined and, though surprisingly light in weight, they are as warm as can be. The collars are of either self-material or fur. $39.75 to $145.

Soft Striped Taffeta Waists at $3.75

Pretty and serviceable blouses of soft, lustrous taffeta in dark colorings—green, blue, brown and the like striped in gay colors. Just the blouses that women want for new suits.

Simply-Made Crepe de Chine Blouses at $4.50

A blouse of flesh color or white crepe de chine has a tucked collar with the new square effect in front. Tucking on the cuffs and hemstitching are the only other trimmings.

Navy Blue Georgette Crepe at $5.75

A simple blouse of navy Georgette crepe is new in the Salon. It has a collar that can be worn high or low, is hemstitched and fastens with ball buttons. (Market)

Corsets

Special at $1.50 Corsets for medium figures have medium-length bust lines that are quite full. The skirts are of good length, with four good hose supporters. The flexible willow bones are an advantage. Sizes 21 to 26 are in the group. (Central)

Winter Togs For Small Children

Warm little coats are lined and interlined, so that you can rely on them to do duty when the thermometer runs quite low, as well as new when the days are only tinged with sharpness.

In sizes to fit girls or boys of 2 years to 6 are: Corduroy coats in brown, Copenhagen blue, tan and dark blue at $7.50 to $13.50; Blue chevron coats at $10.50; Gray chinchilla coats with black velvet collars at $8; And some khaki-color wool coats for girls or boys at $10.75 and $12. Tams and hats start at $1.25 and go to $5.50. (Central) for women are $1.60 a pair. They are of unusually good quality silk, with little tops; the knees are double and the feet are re-enforced for good wear. (Central)

A Pretty Pink Envelope Chemise Special at 85c

It is of soft pink nainsook trimmed with lace around the top and bottom and, in the front, a spray of colored hand-embroidered flowers. (Central)

Neckwear News Told in Georgette Crepe, Satin and Lace

Many styles of new Georgette crepe collars, hemstitched, tucked, hand-embroidered or trimmed with fringe and lace, at $1 to $1.75. Sets at $1.75. Gray chinchilla coats with black velvet collars at $8; And some khaki-color wool coats for girls or boys at $10.75 and $12. Tams and hats start at $1.25 and go to $5.50. (Central)

Identification Card Holders, 25c

Every man must carry his registration card with him at all times, and a fat case like one of these will keep it from getting worn at the corners. The back is of smooth or plain leather and the front of transparent celluloid. (Central) is the service it gives. Men who have worn a Wanamaker suit always come back when they need another. Such service can come only from honesty of workmanship and excellence of material. Every Wanamaker suit is made after our own directions and every suit is pure wool.

If you are going to need a new suit in the near future, it is only fair to tell you that it is wholly unlikely that clothing will be any cheaper, and it may be more expensive. In fact, we have had to pay advances on this season's re-orders.

A suit bought now has a full season of wear and usefulness ahead of it. Prices start at $23.50 and go to $32.50. (Gallery, Market)

If You Can't Get Under a Helmet Get Under a New Hat

There are any number of styles of good soft hats at $3. They are in shapes for young men or for older men—all the season's best and newest shapes in brown and green and the other shades that men want.

Other soft hats in good shapes are $2.50. Derbies are $3.50. (Gallery, Market)

Men Are Drawing on Their Gloves

Tan washable capskin gloves, outseam sewn, with spearpoint or embroidered backs, are $2.25 a pair.

Gray buckskin gloves with plain backs are wonderfully serviceable. With plain backs they are $2.50; with spearpoint stitching, $3.50 a pair.

For army men, some new khaki-colored-washable capskin gloves are outseam sewn and have spearpoint stitched backs, at $2.50 a pair. (Central)

Good Madras Shirts That Are Special at $1.65

The madras is of a firmly woven and soft texture, with colored stripes or satin stripes. The cuffs are all soft. Some of these have been almost half again as much.

Announcing the Opening A Luggage Store Down Stairs

Near the elevators in the Market street section of the Down Stairs Store has been assembled a most interesting collection of hand luggage, and it is gratifying to see what good and serviceable things are to be had at moderate prices.

Handbags

of leather, plain or grained, in black or tan, are $10.50 to $23.50. Of fabric, $3 to $10.50.

Suitcases

of leather are $11.50 to $25.50; of fabric, $4.50 to $11.50. Matting Cases are $3 to $6.50.

Black Enamel Suitcases are remarkably good looking and will stand a lot of wear. A case of generous size with leather straps and corners, an inside tray and a pretty figured lining is $5.50 and $6—two sizes.

Extra large cases which many people use for automobile trunks have leather bindings and straps and an inside tray and are $9.50.

Special

Sole Leather Suitcases

A little lot of splendid cases of tan leather with canvas linings; these are called factory "seconds," but the cloudy places are no more than would get on a case during its first journey.

24-inch size, $12. 26-inch size, $13. (Market)

Washable Capeskin Gloves Are Best for Busy Women

Freshening them is only the work of a few moments, and you have, to all purposes, new gloves to carry on with. They are of sufficient weight also to be comfortable throughout the winter.

Gray or tan gloves with plain stitched backs are $1.75; with spearpoint stitching they are $2 a pair. The skins from which these gloves are made are of perfect quality, soft and pliable.

SPECIAL

Pearl White Washable Cape Gloves, $1.50 They are outseam sewn and have black embroidered backs. Usually a third more. (Central) means all-wool or not part cotton, or shoddy! When you buy a part-cotton suit for less money you are making a bad bargain, for you are sacrificing service.

Our boys' suits are made for healthy boys, who are naturally not very careful of their clothes.

$11.25, $12.50, $13.50 and $15 are the prices of good, sturdy, all-wool suits for boys of 7 years to 18. They are made of chevots and cassimeres in gray, brown or other dark mixtures. Several styles are made with military backs, while others have plain backs. The suits have loose belts and are in both single-breasted or double-breasted styles. (Gallery, Market)

you welcome the time of year when leaves turn color and the new suits pop out! Consider the suit of wool poplin that is sketched and picture it in navy blue, burgundy or taupe. It is pleated below the belt and the buttons and buckle with which it is trimmed are quite smart. $25.

Also at $25 are suits of burella cloth and wool poplin for young women. These are trimmed with braid, and some are belted.

Rather Dashing Military

is this new navy blue whipcord suit that is sketched on the left. The jacket is trimmed with braid in front and in the back as well, while loops and buttons also play their parts. It is handsomely lined with flowered silk and is special at $35.

Arrived in Time for Today

—is good news about two new suit models in silverstone and wool velour. The novelty pockets and the back of the jackets are trimmed with bone buttons. Both models are lined with lovely flowered silk. For colors, you can choose taupe, brown or burgundy. $39.75.

For the Brisk Walks of Autumn among the fallen leaves, you will want a sports suit. Such suits of tweed are in various models at $29.75 and $32.50.

Wool jersey sports suits in heather mixtures are also practical for the older school girls. $35. (Market)
