Have you seen those very unusual Madras Shirts that Reed's are selling at $1.50?
They are made of a "through and through" Madras (not a printed fabric) in a fine assortment of patterns and colorings. They would have been good pre-war value at $1.50—Judge what they're actually worth now.

Plenty on hand at present, but they're going rapidly.

For Young Men Youth will have its way—and the way of it is this—the Government wants cloth saved, therefore, no belts, no excess material anywhere.

We've put a classic simplicity into their lines—military in their trimness from top to toe. Coats are cut off at the waist-line, shoulders are concave—snug and closefitting, of course, where the belts might have been. Many are brilliant with iridescent silk linings and inside seam-edge pipings—$30, $35, $40.

Motorists, Aviators Outfits that protect against wind, rain and cold. From $30 to $85.
