

ST-MINUTE HALLOWEEN STUNTS FOR YOUR PARTY

Decorations That Do Not Call for the Pumpkin Face, Which Is Taboo—A Witch's Cave Weird Enough to Make Every One Run

Most of us are not having many parties these days, but there is something about Halloween that preaches even against war. And there are. There will be Halloween parties when there aren't any other kind. And if we observe wartime by making sugaries and weird substitute stunts, why I'm sure Uncle Sam doesn't care how many of them there are. By this time every one who has planned a Halloween party has the main essence of the evening decided upon, but there are many interesting little finishing touches that put life into the evening, and so I am setting some of them down here.

In the first place, decorations are of supreme importance. If you feel yours are not going to be effective enough, go out in the country and bring in a "wonderful" corn stalk and autumn leaves. These can be festooned or bunched around the room. They have a natural, graceful nature herself in their decorating materials. The corn stalks are pretty, banded around with the wintertime, and then tied with bright yellow bows. The leaves are lovely anywhere.

A couple of rolls of plain or regular paper will do at the last minute in a long way. If the chandeliers are electric so that shades made of this paper cover them. Weird and subdued lighting is important at a Halloween party.

The pumpkin face is barred this Halloween by the food administration as all wasting of apples, corn, etc. this year, when every ounce of food stuff counts.

HERE is a stunt that fixes up one corner of the room beautifully and provides a lot of fun as well. It is called the Witch's Cave.

To make it cover a table with a cloth reaching down to the floor. Ropes of the table to make the place look mysterious. On the table is placed a grocery's box that has had the bottom knocked out of it to make the box look like a little cave. Cover the box with black or gray crepe paper. To make it look like a little cave. The back of the cave is left open and a person kneels behind the table and operates a little figure which is propped up on a stand. A little figure which is propped up on a stand. A little figure which is propped up on a stand.

Turn all the lights out, except a dim one. One by one the fortune seekers go into the dark room to have their fortunes told. As soon as a fortune seeker appears the little witch pops out, does a wild dance, and throws a fortune at the fortune seeker.

ALL the old-fashioned games played with nutsells and candle ends are lots of fun, and make good between stunts. Mount candle ends on old corks and let them sail about in a tub of water. Fortunes depend on how long the candles burn and just how often the little boats bump into each other. Sail nut shells in similar fashion.

Fill a box with sand and in this bury large cardboard letters. Let each couple equipped with little spades dig for the letters. The letters turned up reveal the initials of the mate of the one who digs.

APPLE MARMALADE IS GOOD FOR WINTER

Now Is the Time to Make It. Other Recipes for Tasty Relishes Given

Apple season is here. There are many things which should be made from those apples which would otherwise go to waste. Among these the United States Food Administration suggests apple sirup, apple butter, concentrated apple juice, elder vinegar. Concentrated apple juice is a very good sugar substitute.

Apple Marmalade
Cook the apples till tender, using very little water. In preparing the apples cut into small pieces of uniform size so as to expedite the cooking, and do not mix varieties till after they are cooked. By following this plan the fruit will cook in uniform time, with no danger of some burning before the other is cooked. Cinnamon is the best spice to use with apples. To each cup of cooked fruit use one-half cupful boiled sirup (sorghum or other sirup). Mix fruit and sirup well. Cook till clear, stirring constantly, as a mixture containing sirup burns more quickly than one containing sugar. As soon as the mixture is clear it may be put into hot sterilized jars and sealed, or it may be cooked till thick and jelly-like. In the latter case it may be kept in glasses just as jelly is kept. If the combination of fruit and sirup is highly flavored with a combination of spices, the mixture need not be cooked till as thick as for marmalade, and will make a fruit butter much better liked by some than the stiffer marmalade.

Apple Relish
One pint elder vinegar.
Two sweet dark sirup.
One teaspoonful cloves.
One-half teaspoonful ground cinnamon.
One and one-half quarts apples.
One-half pound seeded raisins.
Two tablespoonfuls chopped onion.
One cupful chopped pecans.
Four tablespoonfuls celery seed.
Two tablespoonfuls celery seed.
One-half teaspoonful salt.
Paprika to taste.

Boil together the vinegar, sirup and spices for five minutes. Add apples, raisins and chopped onion. Cook for one hour. Five minutes before removing from fire add one cupful of chopped pecans or walnuts. Pack into hot jars, partially seal, and sterilize ten minutes. Seal tightly. Let cool. Label and store.

Sweet Pickled Apples
One and one-half quarts vinegar.
One and one-half quarts water.
Two sweet dark sirup.
Four sticks cinnamon.
Four tablespoonfuls apples.
Three pounds sweet apples.
Four tablespoonfuls ground cloves.
One-half teaspoonful salt.
Cook the vinegar, water, sirup and spices for five minutes. Peel and quarter the apples. Stick two cloves into each apple. Drop the apples into the boiling sirup and simmer until tender. Pack in hot jars. Cover with boiling sirup. Seal tightly. Let cool. Label and store.

Apple Catsup
One quart unseasoned apple sauce.
One teaspoonful ginger.
One teaspoonful cinnamon.
One teaspoonful cloves.
One teaspoonful pepper.
One teaspoonful mustard.
One teaspoonful onion extract.
Two teaspoonful salt.
One pint vinegar.
Simmer slowly until thick, bottle and seal. A similar catsup can be made from mother, younger sister and brother came to this country five years ago and are living at 4435 Locust street.

Cider Vinegar
Apple juice may be made into elder vinegar by allowing two fermentations to take place. The first one changes the sugar of the apple juice into alcohol. Natural yeasts from the air do this, but the process may be hastened by adding yeast cake to each five gallons of juice. The yeast cake should be softened in lukewarm water before adding. When all the sugar is changed into alcohol the next fermentation will be aided by the addition of some good vinegar containing some "mother" of vinegar as a "starter." Allow plenty of room for air in the next fermentation. Keep the temperature at sixty to eighty degrees Fahrenheit.

MISS ZINSIVA RAINES DLUGATCH

A twenty-year-old Russian girl who has just arrived in the city from the troubled land of the Bolsheviki

SHOES $50 A PAIR, BREAD $1 A LOAF IN RUSSIA, GIRL SAYS

Miss Zinsiva Raines Dlugatch, 20-Year-Old Refugee, Declares Her Country Will Find Itself Only by Casting Off Ruinous Government of Lenine and Trotsky

PHILADELPHIA women ought to regard the city shopkeepers as philanthropists. "Think of Russia and its terrible prices!" is the advice of Miss Zinsiva Raines Dlugatch, a twenty-year-old Russian girl, who has just arrived in the city from the troubled land of the Bolsheviki.

She made her exit from Petrograd two months ago and paid $50 for a pair of shoes the day of her departure. Miss Dlugatch is pretty and what the artists would style an ideal type of Russian. She was graduated from a high school in Russia's capital nearly two years ago and during the riotous time in Russia she and her mother, younger sister and brother came to this country five years ago and are living at 4435 Locust street.

Objecting to the rule of Lenine and Trotsky, she applied to the American consul in Petrograd for a passport and obtained it. The Bolsheviki officials placed her on a K. O. K. and after making a trip to a Swedish port she boarded a steamer for New York.

"Unfortunate Russia," she says, "will find itself only by casting off the ruinous government of Lenine and Trotsky. The better classes are heart-sick of the turmoil and strife and long for the end. Better days will come when we can bring about some sort of union with the Allies, but that is difficult because the ignorant classes entertain the idea that England wants to

NUT SHELS WANTED
Seven Pounds Make Enough Carbon for a Gas Mask

In connection with the campaign for gathering nut shells for gas masks, it should be borne in mind that nuts are among the richest and most wholesome of our foods. Wherever possible the kernels of the native nuts should be added to the home supply of foods.

The hard shells, not the husks of black walnuts, butternuts, hickory nuts, Persian (English) walnuts, Japanese walnuts and the seeds of such fruits as peaches, plums, apricots and olives are exceedingly useful in the making of carbon for gas masks. The shells of pecans and almonds cannot be used.

Seven pounds of hard nut shells, or 200 peach pits, will make enough carbon for one gas mask. Thousands of tons of cocconut shells and shells of coconuts from tropical America and carloads of fruit pits from the Pacific coast are being used. Still the supply is not sufficient.

Nuts which cannot readily be cracked, those which have become stale with age or those which have failed to develop plump kernels should be turned over to the Red Cross. Black walnuts and butternuts which are not to be cracked may be sent in without removing the outer husk. Arrangements of gathering and shipping nuts, nut shells and fruit pits can be made through the local Red Cross.

BISQUE LADY BOUDOIR LAMP IS ON SALE

An Idea for a Christmas Gift. Tempting Fruit for "Flu" Convalescents

IT is said by those who have been victims of this most dreaded epidemic that it leaves them with an appetite that they just plain don't want to eat. And so we want to tempt them with all sorts of dainty things which might arouse a wee bit of interest in food. For most certainly nourishing food is part of the "cure," and I believe that one way to tempt that sleepy appetite is by the gift of a basket of fruit. One of the shops is making a specialty of these baskets of fruit for the convalescent, pricing them at $3. The baskets themselves are most attractive, and would make a nice addition to buffet or serving table, while the fruit is indeed tempting. Luscious grapes, juicy oranges, rosy-cheeked apples, a fat round tomato can be found. Here is a real gift for a sick friend.

Have you ever seen, in your wanderings around the shops, tall stately ladies with china or bisque heads, and with long very full skirts of silk? You touch a spring and the lady's skirt becomes a lamp shade, and you have a most uncommon boudoir lamp. Ordinarily, these unusual little lights are rather out of reach of the slender purse, but the girl disarmed on another. Just a trifle, however, would set it to rights. And you will have a $5 boudoir lamp for $2.95. And what a lovely Christmas gift, an electric lamp such as this would make!

Is your winter suit of gray? Then by all means, you will want to turn it into an afternoon costume by the addition of a blouse to match. There is something about a waist which matches one's suit in color that gives an "air of finality in attire," that can never be acquired by the finest blouse of white. The gray one which looks as if it were indeed made for your very own is of georgette crepe. Although having one of the new round necks, it has none of the plain severity which frequently makes this style difficult to wear. The round neck is formed by a hemstitched band of perhaps an inch, and a half in width, on which is embroidered a very effective design in gray silk. A little square collar goes around the back from each shoulder and fine little tucks soften the front of the waist. The price is only $4.75.

For the names of shops where articles mentioned in "Adventures With a Purse" can be purchased, address Editor of Woman's Page, Evening Public Ledger, or phone the Woman's Department, Walnut 3000.

Apple Sirup Instead of Sugar
Charity should begin at home, so consult the field and orchard. Are there windfall apples? Surely you know the value of apples. They are not only one of the most delicious of sugar substitutes and can easily be made from cider by boiling with powdered chemical carbonate—a harmless low-priced substance. This neutralizes the acid in the fruit juice, leaving only the sweetness. Full directions for this process may be obtained from the Bureau of Chemistry of the United States Department of Agriculture.

When We Come Back From the Theatre
Jim's job has not quite reached the point yet where he can afford after-theatre suppers, and the other night, when we struck our little house, I just gave him a surprise. Before we went out I had made some cheese sandwiches, with both the bread and the cheese cut thin. They would have been good, anyway, because I had flavored the cheese with a few drops of A1 Sauce, and you know what that means. It isn't a Worcestershire, you know—I call it my "miracle worker." But, instead of serving them cold, I toasted them under the hot flame, turning them often, so that the cheese melted and ran down into the bread. Jim had four, and he would have eaten mine, too, but he is still a polite husband. There is something about that A1 Sauce which makes a kitchen a place for high magic—or so Jim says—Adv.

A Maid and Two Men

The Story of the Girl Who Was Left Behind
By HAZEL DEYO BATCHELOR
Copyright, 1918, by Public Ledger Co.

AFTER Myra had left, Ruth sat for a long time thinking. Then she got up, went into her own room, and sat down before her dressing table. Little rose colored electric lights on each side threw a soft reflection over everything, and Ruth deliberately removed the little shades so that the hard yellow light shone on her face lighting up every defect. Myra's appearance had somehow brought radiant health into the house, and Ruth was almost afraid to look at herself with eyes that compared and contrasted, for she knew that sleepless nights had left her wan and pale.

The bright light showed a soft girl's face with eyes that were slightly hollow and with very white cheeks. As yet Ruth's looks had not been seriously impaired and she sighed with relief. "You've been slumping, my dear," she said, nodding at her face accusingly, "and I'm actually allowing yourself to drift into all kinds of dangerous imaginings. Do you think it is a worthy motive, this jealousy of Myra's good luck? Suppose you can't go to France, you don't have to become a chronic grower over it, do you?"

A slight tinge of red came in her cheeks, shame that she had for a moment allowed herself to become jealous of Myra.

"Just because Myra happened to look more attractive than I have ever seen her look, and because," she added softly to the face in the mirror, "because you think she might see Scott."

That night for the first time Ruth sat in the living room after dinner and played and sang; that is, for the first time since affairs between herself and Jack had been definitely settled. It wasn't easy, but she was determined, and when her mind would stray far away she would bang out a particularly strident piece of popular nonsense much to Bobbie's delight.

At 8 o'clock some of the old crowd happened in, Helen Strander advised in furs, a couple of other girls, two men in soldiers' uniform and a sailor.

"We've come to take you for a bus ride," Helen announced, "and then you're elected to make a rabbit afterward."

Ruth was about to refuse to go, and then abruptly changed her mind and when her mind would stray far away she would bang out a particularly strident piece of popular nonsense much to Bobbie's delight.

Better Babies

A constipated infant begins life heavily handicapped. Constipation means infinitely more than mere failure of the bowels to move regularly and thoroughly. It means stagnation of waste matter, production of irritant and poisonous substances, and their absorption into the blood by which they are carried all over the body.

Cells are poisoned, growth interfered with, and a soil prepared in which germs of disease easily take root and develop. Constipation in infancy is a bad habit, but giving an infant drugs to force the bowels to move is a crime. A baby is like a bud—both may easily be blasted.

The Nujol Treatment for Constipation is not only absolutely harmless, but is in the highest degree efficient.

Nujol is not a drug, does not act like any drug, Nujol helps Nature to overcome the bad habits by re-establishing natural, easy, thorough bowel evacuation, as regular as clockwork.

Every drop of Nujol taken into the body comes out of the body. But in its passage through the intestinal canal, it keeps the bowel contents soft and moist, makes it easier for the intestinal muscles to act, absorbs poisons and helps to discourage germ growth.
