700 BRISTOL WORKMEN QUIT

Shipmen Disgruntled Because of Order on Excessive Overtime. Bristol, Pa., Oct. 30.—More than 700 workmen have quit their jobs at the Merchant Shipyard since Monday morning because they refuse to accept the new working schedules laid out in the effort of the shipbuilding corporation to comply with the order of Admiral Bowles, to eliminate excessive hours of work.

objected to having their hours cut down. Representatives of the employment department circulated among the men and tried to show them how the new schedules would be so adjusted that, by receiving extra overtime pay for night work and work on Sundays, they would lose no money, but the disgruntled men left their jobs in large groups all day yesterday.

CIGARETTE STARTS FLURRY AT CRAMPS'

Girl's Name and Address Written on Wrapper Still Susceptible Quartermen

A cigarette has caused a commotion among the men at the Cramps shipyard. On the white paper wrapper of the cigarette was the name of a girl with her address. This girl is supposed to have rolled the "pill" and put her name on it for fun.

MISS GRACE V. HEALEY OF TREN-

TON, is another Merchant shipyard girl who gives up her lunch hour to patriotic work of various kinds. Like Miss Julia M. McDonnell of the same town, she stood in a booth in front of the commissary at the shipyard and sold Liberty Bonds throughout the recent drive. Now she is selling war-savings stamps.

No Mystery in Meat

Some things are so simple that they have to be explained again and again. When things are obvious, people keep looking for mysteries behind them. So it is with the packing business. The mere size of Swift & Company confuses many. Because their imaginations are not geared up to scale, they believe there must be magic in it somewhere—some weird power.

Swift & Company is just like any other manufacturing business, run by human beings like yourself; it takes in raw material on the one hand and turns out a finished product on the other. Swift & Company keeps down the "spread", or the expense absorbed between raw and finished material, to as low a figure as possible. (If it didn't it would be put out of business by others who do.)

How much Swift & Company pays for the raw material, and how much it gets for the finished product, depends upon conditions which Swift & Company does not control. It depends entirely upon how much people want the finished product, and how much raw material there is available to make it from. The profits of Swift & Company amount to less than one cent per pound on all meats and by-products, —less than one-fourth of a cent on beef.
