The scholastic football season, retarded by the influenza epidemic and the war, will blossom out in full bloom this afternoon when academy and public school games are played on various grounds throughout the city and suburbs. Interest centers, of course, in the league games. Two will be played today and the contestants will give the followers of schoolboy sports a fair line on the respective abilities of the teams engaged.

The South Philadelphia and Central High elevens clash on Houston Field, Twenty-ninth and Somerset streets, and although the Crimson and Gold suffered defeat in the opening game against Radnor, the Southwark eleven has not been made the favorite. Coach Johnson's boys are somewhat unknown.

In the scrimmage to date Southern has shown fairly good form and the return of Captain Hamilton, the full-back, has done much to inject confidence into the team. Central High, on the other hand, is determined to regain lost prestige and is strengthened by the return of Captain Long and Betchol, the center.

West Philie and Germantown High battle at the Catholic High Field. Coach Phil Lewis, the Germantown tutor, was at a loss as to where he would be able to stage the game until the Catholic authorities offered the use of their field. The teams are on edge for the big contest.

The interacademy elevens also swing into action this afternoon. Penn Charter will clash with Chestnut Hill Academy at St. Martin's and Episcopal Academy will oppose St. Luke's, the conqueror of Penn Charter, at the Strawberry & Clothier Field. Sixty-second and Walnut streets.

Radnor High which handed a 3-0 defeat to Central High last Friday will match football strength against Bryn Athyn at Bryn Athyn.

Promoter Dougherty Says Levinsky Positively Will Box Dempsey at Big Show

Battling Levinsky positively will box Jack Dempsey in the feature bout at the Olympia on Wednesday night, says James F. Dougherty, of Leiper-ville, promoter of the big show. He wired from New York this morning to Leon Rains, business manager, that Battling Levinsky would be able to fulfill his contract with the promoter. Levinsky's home draft board in Bridgeport, Conn., had changed his classification from class 4 to class 1 A. This change virtually would have meant his absence from the Olympia next week had not an appeal been made on his behalf. The epidemic influenza and the recent arbitration against inter-school sport on the part of the supervisory committee on high school athletics succeeded in temporarily putting a halt to the local schoolboy soccer and cross-country season. However, these minor sports were given a new lease on life yesterday when Dr. James S. Gallagher, assistant physical director at Central High, called a meeting of the sports managers and coaches of the various high schools, which was held at Central High School, to act on the question of arranging a schedule for all schools so as to start the season properly. Southern and Northeast High Schools were the only institutions not represented at yesterday's meeting. However, Southern entered the league by telephone and Northeast stuck to its decision of not competing. The cross-country committee merely decided upon the dates on which to run the annual races in Fairmount Park. The following soccer schedule has been arranged: November 11, Germantown at Southern; November 14, Germantown at Frankford; Southern at West Philadelphia at Germantown; November 16, Frankford at West Philadelphia; Central at Germantown; November 23, Frankford at West Philadelphia; Central at Southern; November 27, Southern at Germantown; December 2, Frankford at Germantown; Central at West Philadelphia; December 9, Frankford at Central; West Philadelphia at Southern; December 9, Southern at Frankford; Germantown at West Philadelphia; December 12, West Philadelphia at Frankford; Germantown at Central; December 16, Southern at Central; December 19, League All-Stars vs. League Champions at Philadelphia Ball Park. The cross-country races to be held at Fairmount Park as follows: November 9, Philadelphia High School novice race; November 10, Junior championships; November 16, Freshman championships; November 18, Senior championships; November 23, American championships under University of Pennsylvania.

LEAGUE ISLAND SUBS FOR PITT AGAINST LEHIGH

Dickson's Reconstructed Eleven Will Play Keady's Team Tomorrow

The League Island football team composed of marines and sailors under the direction of By Dickson will substitute for Pittsburgh at Bethlehem against the Lehigh eleven tomorrow afternoon. This announcement was made this morning by Lieutenant Commander T. W. Smith. The team that will face the Keady eleven is the reconstructed Marine aggregation, and several of the members of the sea soldiers combination will be in action together with some of the players from the Naval Training School team which gave Pennsylvania such a hard battle on Franklin Field Wednesday. Among the men whom Coach Dickson will have under his command will be Carlou, Newcomb, Stinner and Budd of the old Marine team, and Haehl and Stone, of the Naval eleven.

GLOUCESTER TO PLAY

Opens League Basketball Season on November 15

Gloucester City, N. J., Nov. 1.—The Gloucester Basketball League at its meeting Wednesday decided to open its league season Friday evening November 15, which is a week later than first planned.

The Wednesday night games each week will be played at the P. R. R. Y. M. C. A. Hall, Camden, and the Friday night games in the City Hall, Gloucester. The franchise of the Gallagher Club, of Gloucester, was transferred to the Dover Club, of Camden, and it was announced that the Pusey and Jones Club is arranging to buy the franchise of another club. Charles J. Haas, Jr., resigned as treasurer of the league because he has been called into the Government service. A number of changes in managers and representatives were also announced. E. Day will be the manager of the Dover Club and A. Marvel, assistant. The Sylvan A. C. of Camden, will be represented by Frank Hamilton, Thomas Callahan and Franklin Brandt, the new manager and assistant of the Triangle A. C. will represent that club.

Save Gasoline Needed to Win the War

This truck and Troy Trailer of the Atlantic Refining Company makes an average of two and a half trips a day from Point Breeze to Marcus Hook, a distance of 37 miles, each trip. Before the company adopted the use of trailers only 3225 gallons of liquid cement was hauled daily. By using trailers the company now hauls 5225 gallons every day. The weight of material carried by truck and trailer is 10,600 pounds per trip.

TROY TRAILERS

Make One Gallon of Gasoline Do the Work of Two

The use of Troy Trailers is both a patriotic duty and a profitable investment, cutting your transportation costs nearly in half and saving a vast amount of gasoline urgently needed by the Government for war.

The Atlantic Refining Company makes extensive use of Troy Trailers and go on record as declaring that if the drivers of 30,000 motor trucks in Pennsylvania would stop their motors while their trucks are standing at the curb, for a period of 30 days, they would save 2,250,000 gallons of gas for Uncle Sam.

If one-half of these 30,000 trucks were equipped with Troy Trailers, 1,125,000 additional gallons of gasoline would be saved monthly, making a grand total of 3,375,000 gallons saved, which would build 30 miles of up-to-date concrete roads.

The largest fleet owners of motor trucks in the United States operate and enthusiastically endorse Troy Trailers. Write for list of their names.
