Over-Sunday Hotels

The traveler who is in a Hotel Statler over Sunday finds that special thought has been taken for his comfort in many ways.

When he gets up he finds that a morning paper has been slipped noiselessly-under his door, just as on other days.

If he wants to stay in bathrobe and slippers, his breakfast is sent to his room-and there's no charge for the special service.

There's a desk, well supplied with stationery, right at hand; there's circulating ice-water; there's a clean and comfortable bathroom the other side of a long-mirrored door; there's a well selected library waiting his telephone call for a book to match

When he wants to be among people he goes downstairs to luxurious lounging rooms, provided with chairs built especially for lazy men's comfort. Excellent restaurants invite him; at certain hours an orchestra plays for

Rates are from $2 a day-and more than 60% of the Statler's 3,100 rooms (in four cities) are priced at

Sunday isn't dreaded by the traveler who knows that he will spend the day at a Hotel Statler.

Now Building in New York

Hotel Pennsylvania, New York (to be Statler operated), will have 2,200 rooms, 2,200 baths—making it larger than any hotel now in existence or under construction anywhere. It will likewise set new high standards of con-venience, service and distinction.

Opens about January 1st
