

MILK PRICE TO STAY AT 14 CENTS A QUART

Producers' Association Says Rate Will Remain Until End of Year

Milk prices will remain at fourteen cents a quart and nine cents a pint—at least until the end of this year.

This is the announcement of the Interstate Milk Producers' Association, made "in behalf of the retailers."

For the first fifteen days of October the dairymen's price to the dealers was nine cents. For the last fifteen days it was three-quarters of a cent more. During November it was ten cents and the December advance, it was said, might be boosted further, beginning January 1.

The following were elected for the ensuing year: President, F. P. Willis; vice president, H. D. Allebach; secretary, Robert W. Balderson; treasurer, Wilton Kirby. Executive committee—F. P. Willis, Delaware County, Pa.; H. D. Allebach, Montgomery County, Pa.; Frederick Shangle, Mercer County, N. J.; Frank G. Ware, Cumberland County, N. J.; John H. Bennett, Lebanon County, Pa.; A. B. Waddington, Salem County, N. J.; Harold D. Harker, Burlington County, N. J.; E. Nelson James, Cecil County, Md.; Henry I. Louver, Juniata County, Pa.; Granville F. Frey, Berks County, Pa.; E. H. Donovan, Kent County, Del.; Frank M. Twining, Bucks County, Pa.; E. A. Corey, Kent County, Md.; Eugene B. Bennett, Northampton County, Pa.; Tra J. Book, Lancaster County, Pa.; and W. M. Wallace, Blair County, Pa.

CHRISTMAS PARCELS BURNED Department Store Truck Fired by Cigarette and Gasoline

A number of Christmas packages were destroyed, and traffic was jammed at Eighth and Arch streets, at noon when a Lit Brother delivery truck caught fire after a cigarette had been dropped into a pool of gasoline.

The automobile became stalled on the track at this point a few minutes before the fire and was pushed to the curb by traffic policemen. While the driver tried to remedy his engine trouble, a thin trickle of gasoline escaped and fell on the street. It is said a boy threw a cigarette into this gasoline. A blaze shot up which fired the car and destroyed many of the packages inside. These were immediately emptied on the sidewalk and many of those that escaped the flames suffered from water. The loss has not been estimated. The body of the car itself was not seriously damaged.

DREAMLAND ADVENTURES

By DADDY

A complete new adventure each week, beginning Monday and ending Saturday

"THE SLEEPY GNOMES" (Peggy and Billy Belgium, coasting on Billy's new bobs, give a ride to a forlorn little raggedy chap. When they wish that they might coast down a mountain, he declares they shall have their wish and blows a whistle.)

CHAPTER II Prince Bonnie Blue Bell

A whistle—a shrill blast that stirred the echoes in the hills, that searched deep into the woods.

For a few moments there seemed to be no response; then Peggy's alert ears caught a soft, padding sound. The sound grew to a rustling, and then to a shuddering, as white shapes came bounding over the snow through the dusk of early evening.

"Rabbits! White Rabbits!" exclaimed Billy Belgium.

"We are here at your service, Prince Bonnie Blue Bell," he squeaked. Peggy and Billy Belgium gasped in surprise. They hadn't the slightest idea that the raggedy chap was anything else than what he appeared—a forlorn, lonesome little lad, who was shunned by other children because of his tattered clothes. They never thought that he might be a prince in disguise.

"Tis well, Silver Toes!" answered the raggedy chap. "We wish to travel swift as the wind to the mountains, and then on, on to the very top. Hitch your troop to our royal sleigh!"

"Your word is law, Prince Bonnie Blue Bell," replied Silver Toes in his queer squeak. Turning, he gave quick orders to the other rabbits. In a moment they had ranged themselves along the sled ropes and harnessed themselves to it with long cords.

"The royal sleigh awaits," said Prince Bonnie Blue Bell, waving Peggy and Billy Belgium toward the bobs.

"Are you really a prince?" stammered Peggy.

"Your name sounds like a flower," added Billy.

"I am a prince of the Wild Flower Elves," was the answer. "My home is in the Woodland Dells."

"But what are you doing here in disguise?" blurted Billy.

"Oh, it was dull in the hollow log where I was sleeping, so I thought I'd come out for a little fun. But the children were not a bit nice to me."

"They didn't know you were a prince," explained Peggy. "You were dressed like a poor little boy."

"How foolish!" exclaimed Prince Bonnie Blue Bell. "Why didn't they look at me instead of at my clothes. But you were nice to me, and now you'll have your wish. Hop on!"

Peggy and Billy obeyed instantly. Prince Bonnie Blue Bell took his place at the steering wheel.

"Away! Away!" he shouted. And away, away went the Rabbits, jerking the bobs behind them.

At the first jerk Peggy and Billy heard the chime of sleigh bells. Quickly the jangle of the bells mounted to a loud, musical chorus. The bells were on the Rabbits, and they were playing a jolly tune.

Soon the level ground was left behind and the Rabbits began to climb up, up, up. A brilliant winter moon rose over the horizon, and by its silvery light, they saw that they were ascending a steep mountain.

They mounted swiftly above the farm-lands, and then came to a heavy pine forest.

"Fast, fast!" warned Prince Bonnie Blue Bell, looking anxiously toward the forest. "We must not fall into the hands of the Sleepy Gnomes!"

Peggy thought she saw fantastic forms dodging about among the trees and pointing gleefully toward the flying bobs. Then the speeding Rabbits burst out of the forest and raced across the snowy wastes toward the mountain peak.

(In tomorrow's chapter, Peggy and Billy again are warned to beware of the Sleepy Gnomes.)

Music rolls and bags of black imitation leather are $1.50 to $5— with a good choice. Many "makers of music" would be glad to have such attractive traveling clothes for their music. (Central.)

Writing paper is always acceptable. Neat, plain boxes or cretonne-printed boxes hold white paper or colored paper—lavender, blue, pink, maize or pearl gray. Some boxes combine white and colors. 25c to $2.75 a box. (Central.)

Frames for photographs are made of durable metal with the brilliancy of silver. They stand alone and are attractively backed with velvet. 25c to $1.50. (Central.)

Wise mothers keep little hands busy so that no one may find mischief for the idle hands to do! Crayon outfits will keep the children busy and amused for hours. Large-sized crayons and splendid drawing books are 50c an outfit. (Central.)

Pink plaid voile is made into pretty blouses with elastic at the tops and at the knees—where there are ruffles. 85c. (Central.)

Miniature desks hold in their drawers a business-like collection of useful things—pens, pens, rubber bands, clips and crasers. On the flat top of each desk is a Japanese scene. 50c each. (Central.)

Satin and Georgette crepe show us how pretty they can be when combined to make camisoles. Two pretty styles at $2 are both in pink or white. Wee rosebuds and rows of lace help. (Central.)

Matting-covered shirt waist boxes are well wrought to encourage neatness. $3.75. (Central.)

For the small kiddies, picture paper and envelopes rest in attractive little boxes. 10c a box. (Central.)

It would be a wise move to slip a good box of paints into the stocking of a growing lad or lassie who is interested in painting. $1. (Central.)

What about giving the girls dress lengths of the new, fine plaid ginghams? They are 32 inches wide and 85c a yard. The weave is so fine and the colorings so pretty that the ginghams seem almost like heavy silks. You must see the unimaginable assortment of plaids to appreciate the variety. (Central.)

Cedar chests are scarce, but we have some. $17.50 to $35. (Central.)

Young women will like this coat of suede velour with its deep cape collar of skunk opossum. $37.50.

Silver-tone is one of the loveliest of coat materials and is used in a high-waisted coat with shawl collar and cuffs of racoon. $52.50.

Another model at this price has a cape collar, pockets and cuffs of nutria. $35.

Children's Sturdy Stockings Good black ribbed cotton stockings at 35c, three pair for $1. They are "seconds," but the imperfections are slight—not enough to hurt the wear at all. 6 to 10%.

Navy Blue Serge Means Service

In these frocks it means attractiveness as well as service. About a half dozen models show just how attractive and practical frocks can be.

At $13.50 there are three good looking models—two with collars of gleaming white satin have slightly draped skirts and bits of embroidery elaborating the bodices. Another, a collarless model, also has pretty embroidery and a box pleated skirt.

At $15, a collarless frock, the bodice and skirt showing the new panel effect, has trimmings of rows of bone buttons. Another, with a collar of white satin, has braiding to add to its attractiveness. The plain skirt has short panels.

A Group of Satins at $15

The sizes are much broken in these frocks, but there are quite a number of pretty models to choose from, mostly in navy and black. They have collars of the self-material or of white satin and broad girdles and plain skirts or overskirts.

House Frocks

Straight line frocks, made of good plaid or striped gingham trimmed with plain color, are attractively braided. $3.85.

Lovely Midwinter Hats of Fur or Beaver $6

A most unusual group of pretty things representing hats for all sorts of Midwinter occasions.

There are beaver-faced tricorns or round hats that are excellent for everyday street wear.

Soft, fuzzy beaver tams that are so becoming to young women and girls.

Little overseas caps of naseal. Smart toques and hats with queer ornaments or striking lines.

It is the best group of hats that we have had this season at $6.

White Gloves Are a Safe Gift

—and a welcome one to any woman. Plain white glace kid-skin gloves with embroidered backs and two clasps at the wrist are $1.85 a pair.

A contrast is introduced in white glace lambskin gloves by the use of black Paris point stitching on the backs and a black binding and clasp at the wrist. These are special at $1.85 a pair.

Veils!

Veils in black, brown or taupe in plain or fancy meshes are scrolled, dotted or figured in many ways. Many of the fashionable chiffon or ribbon borders among them. 55c to $1.50.

Wonderfully Fine Coats for Women in a $35 to $55 Group

Here are to be found the greatest variety of materials, of models and of colorings. Some are entirely without fur, some are heavily trimmed with racoon, nutria, sealene or skunk opossum.

The coat that is sketched is of velour, lined throughout, and cut very full below the waist. The cape collar, deep cuffs, buttons and wide band around the hem are all of kit coney fur. $35.

Another coat at this price—$30 a velour—has a deep cape collar of nutria. $35.

Young women will like this coat of suede velour with its deep cape collar of skunk opossum. $37.50.

Men Can Save Money by Noting That Tomorrow Winterweight Overcoats Will Be Marked Specially at $28.50

—one of those opportunities that come along now and then because of the magnitude of the business we do with manufacturers. These coats are not to be matched at anywhere near this price and, indeed, many would ordinarily cost you $5 to $9 more.

They are fine, heavyweight winter coats, some with the waistline, some belted. Ulsterettes, as well as the more conservative single-breasted box coats, are here. All are shoulder lined with satin and have taped seams.

Fittings in all regular sizes. (Gallery, Market)

Giftie Things for a Man
